BOLSHEVIKI TAKE ODESSA

WILSON PLANS NATION-WIDE BOOST TO TOIL

To Call Conference Immediately on His Return.

By ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.

Washington, D. C., April 8.—[Special.]—Official advices received by the department of labor today indicate that two important steps to alleviate industrial unrest will be taken by President Wilson immediately on his return to this country. These steps are:

Issuance of a call for an immediate industrial conference, or parliament, for the purpose of devising a constructive program which shall govern American industrial life.

Continuation of the war labor board, with full war authority, as a final court of industrial justice during the readjustment period, or until such time as the industrial conference reaches final conclusions and has them adopted by industry at large.

Advice from Many Sources.

Both these far reaching measures have been urged upon the president in Paris and it is understood that the program has the support of so many of his advisers, in and out of the cabinet, that executive action to make it a reality is expected immediately upon the president's return.

The plan of an industrial congress is similar to that now being tried by the Lloyd George government to ameliorate the industrial crisis in Great Britain. It calls for a joint conference of representatives of labor and capital to lay down regulations which would ultimately lead to a settlement of the great problems now agitating the workers.

For Joint Industrial Councils.

It calls further for the establishment of joint industrial councils, made up of representatives of employers and employes, to function in plants, industrial districts, and nationally, as a chain of industrial courts in which issues could be amicably settled around a council table by the representatives of those directly concerned.

The joint industrial council plan is modeled on the Whitley plan, now being tried out in England. An important difference, however, would be the part played by the war labor board in this program. It is likely that this would be maintained as a supreme court of industrial disputes.

Universal Eight Hour Day?

Among the problems with which the industrial conference would be called upon to deal are the need of closer cooperation between workers and employers in the government of industry; the permanent and universal application of such principles as the eight hour day, conceded by the war labor board during the war; the separation of constructive and destructive ideas of reform in industrial relations; the furtherance of educational and housing facilities for workers and their families; the elimination of practices and customs tending to restrict production.

The fact that the proposed scheme follows closely that being tried out in England is regarded as extremely significant by the department of labor, particularly in view of the report of the employers' industrial commission, just returned from England, that there are marked similarities in the general labor situation of the two countries. England, it is held, has been meeting her labor problems with more insight and foresight than this country.

Uncle Sam to Build.

Despite the failure of the last congress to pass important appropriation measures, the federal government is getting under way a vast amount of building and construction work. The department of labor calls attention to the fact that by the end of the fiscal year 1921 there will be available for federal aid for state road building more than $266,000,000.

Congress passed the appropriation for $9,050,000 for new hospitals and improvements to old ones needed by the public health service and this building activity is being rushed and will be under way by the end of the year. Some of these projects will be under construction by midsummer.

More than $30,000,000 is involved in the maintenance and construction work set out in the rivers and harbors appropriation bill passed by the last congress.

The harbors and rivers improvement work takes in almost every section of the country, much of it being planned for the southeast, the Atlantic coast, and the Pacific states.

DECIDE FATE OF FOE RAILROADS, RIVERS, PORTS

Little Nations Gain Outlets to Sea by Proposals.

PARIS, April 8.—[By the Associated Press.]—A report on regulations and restrictions to be imposed upon communications in enemy states in order that newly created nations in central Europe may have access to the sea has been completed for the peace conference by the commission on the regulation of ports, waterways, and railroads.

Freedom of transportation through Germany and Austria and equality of treatment in ports and harbors has been provided for, as has been the international regulation of traffic over the Rhine and Danube rivers.

The report does not approach the problem of international regulation of great waterways outside the domains of present enemy states, nor does it deal with the Vistula.

Regulation of Rhine.

The regulation of transportation over the Rhine and Danube forms probably the most important part of the report, which provides for the entrance of France, Switzerland, and some nonpartisan states to the present Mannheim convention between Germany and Holland covering the navigation of the Rhine.

The European commission controlling the mouths of the Danube will be continued, representatives of present enemy states being excluded from it, and a similar international commission will be established provisionally for the upper Danube. This will last until a new general Danube convention is established.

Elbe and Oder Control.

A new international convention covering the navigation of the Elbe and Oder rivers is recommended to protect the interests of Poland and Czecho-Slovakia and give them freedom of navigation without discriminating duties, down through German territory to the North and Baltic seas.

These states would be further given free port privileges at certain north German harbors in order that they may be enabled to develop their export and import commerce, a regulation applying to Saloniki after the Balkan war, by which Serbia benefited, being taken as the model for the plan.

The report recommends that a pledge be exacted of Germany in the peace treaty to maintain unimpaired the free zones at Hamburg and other ports under conditions as they existed before the war.

South Outlet to Czechs.

To provide a southern outlet for the trade of Czecho-Slovakia the report recommends that the new state be given the right to run its own trains, with their own crews, over certain designated railways in Austria-Hungary, without, however, making any provision to insure further transit through Jugo-Slavia or Italian territory lying between what is left of Austria-Hungary and the Adriatic.

An attempt to introduce some general regulation of this problem broke down against opposition within the commission recommendation is made in the report, however, for an extension of the present Berne railway convention, providing for the interchange of traffic on continental railways, which expires Jan. 1, next, until a new convention can be negotiated.

ACCOUNTANT MISSING FOR TWO MONTHS

Philip B. Tyng, an accountant employed by the American Car and Foundry company at its Paulina and Twenty-fourth streets office, disappeared on Feb. 10. His friends and relatives and the police have failed to get any trace of him. He left the office on the day he disappeared at 10 o'clock in the morning to come downtown. He did not return to the office, but spent an hour at his boarding house, 27 West Ohio street. He left there at 4 o'clock.

Mr. Tyng was unmarried and had lived in Chicago twenty years. He was about 50 years old, medium height, smooth full face, black hair and eyes. George S. McReynolds, a relative, says there is no criticism of his affairs at his office, that his financial matters are in excellent shape, and that he did not have a large sum of money with him when he disappeared.

Harry R. Gibbons Out of Danger, Doctor Says

County Treasurer Harry R. Gibbons, who was taken to St. Luke's hospital seriously ill Saturday night, is now past the crisis, Dr. A. E. Halstead, 30 North Michigan boulevard, said last night. An operation may be performed in a week.

REPORT WILSON MAKES FINAL PEACE STAND

Gives Premiers His Last Basis for Fixing Treaty.

New York, April 8.—[Special.]—The New York Times in the morning will print a message from Charles H. Grasty, one of its peace conference correspondents at Paris, saying:

"I am informed that the president this afternoon (Tuesday) is stating the American finalities to the council of four."

WILSON MEETS PREMIERS.

PARIS, April 8.—[By the Associated Press.]—President Wilson met with the premiers of Great Britain, France, and Italy today for the first time since he became ill.

The discussion of responsibility for the war and the Saar valley, which was unfinished today, will be continued tomorrow.

It was not indicated whether the president made any reference to the summoning of the George Washington.

On account of the president's weakened condition the afternoon session was comparatively short. Mr. Wilson lying down immediately after its adjournment, although it was state at the "White House" that he was gradually improving and expected to attend all the meetings of the council hereafter.

Outlook Is Brighter.

The return of President Wilson to the council of four and the progress made on various questions has removed much of the tension which existed in conference circles and has led to renewed confidence in an early and satisfactory conclusion.

The reparation problem now is considered definitely settled and only minor details concerning the functions of the commission to allot the annual installments from Germany remain to be arranged. The Polish question, including the status of Danzig, is also nearing settlement on the basis of internationalization of the city. Danzig as a free port avoids the necessity of recognizing the claims of either Poland or Germany, while the former will have a corridor to the Baltic to the limits of the internationalized town.

Delay League Meeting.

The meeting of the peace conference commission on the league of nations for consideration of the completed draft of the covenant which had been planned for tonight has been postponed until Thursday. It is understood the postponement was necessitated by the inability of President Wilson to attend a meeting earlier than on Thursday.

The drafting committee of the league of nations has now completed its work. The covenant as revised contains twenty-seven articles.

STANDS ON HIS POINTS.

[SPECIAL CABLE TO CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]

PARIS, April 8.—A group of American newspaper correspondents spoke to Ray Stannard Baker on his return from his evening visit to President Wilson last night. Baker said the president told him he intended to stand upon his principles, which the allies accepted in the armistice terms and other documents, and does not mind if this fact is publicly known.

Baker also said that the report was untrue that Mr. Wilson had set any time limit for the allies to form a peace that conforms to his principles. He says that Mr. Wilson remarked to him:

"What is the use of a league of nations if an unjust peace is made."

Baker was not authorized to state the significance of the recall by the president of the liner George Washington. The president said that Premier Clemenceau has within the last week been arguing for the annexation of German territory.

CONFLICT IN REPORTS.

PARIS, April 8.—[By Wireless.]—In today's remarkable twists and contradictions of the official peace conference news, there seems to be a good reason for the rule that the official sources of such news must never be quoted or named. It might make them inconsistent.

Early this morning we were told officially that the case is apparently hopeless, with nothing agreed upon

NAVY OFFICER 'LOST' IN LOOP

Atkinson Found After Two Weeks' Sojourn in Chicago.

The retentive eye of Frank Mann, day clerk at the Fort Dearborn hotel, strayed over yesterday's issue of THE TRIBUNE until he read:

"Lieut. Commander Frank H. Atkinson, head of the commissary department at the Great Lakes Naval Training station, walked out of his residence in Waukegan two weeks ago last Saturday night and vanished."

"Atkinson——" Mr. Mann repeated; "it seems to me——"

Whereupon he turned to the index of guests. A short scrutiny sufficed, and he summoned E. W. Denahy, the manager. Mr. Denahy talked by telephone with the naval station, and the station authorities soon were in earnest conversation with their intelligence department.

Results Are Prompt.

Thus it happened that the lieutenant commander returned to the naval reservation late last night in a large automobile escorted by four of the secret service men. This morning he will be asked to explain to Capt. Frederick Bassett, commandant, the reason for his protracted sojourn in Chicago, and also why he laid aside his uniform in favor of civilian clothes. For Mr. Mann was not assisted in his identification of the guest in room 1514 by a glimpse of the regulation attire.

The mystery which surrounded the officer's disappearance, moreover, was not dispelled. Some attachés of the hotel insisted he appeared dazed, but Mr. Denahy was certain he presented a normal appearance.

Lengthy Conference Held.

The intelligence officers appeared at the hotel and were closeted with Mr. Atkinson until well after 9 o'clock last night, when the trip to the Great Lakes was begun. In the interim, the officer is said to have detailed trips to a number of cabarets and musical reviews, and to have exhibited a check book reduced to its stubs. He said he had been in the loop ever since his disappearance.

Charles T. Atkinson, the officer's brother, who is secretary of the Chicago Stock Exchange, expressed relief to learn the officer had been found. Earlier in the day he had expressed the belief that the lieutenant commander was suffering from amnesia.

33 BOLSHEVISTS SHOT AT PINSK ON PLOT CHARGE

WARSAW, Monday, April 7.—[By the Associated Press.]—Thirty-three bolshevists were executed at Pinsk on the eastern frontier of Poland on Saturday. They were charged with plotting an uprising for the purpose of overpowering the garrison and seizing the city. An allied commission, composed of Americans, British, and French, is conducting the fullest inquiry and may send a special mission to Pinsk from Warsaw for that purpose. Some reports which have reached Warsaw place the number of executions as high as 250, but Col. Francis E. Fronczak, health commissioner of Buffalo, who was in Pinsk at the time for the American Red Cross, fixes the number at thirty-three.

COTTIN IS GIVEN MERCY ON PLEA OF CLEMENCEAU

PARIS, April 8.—[By the Associated Press.]—President Poincare has commuted to ten years' imprisonment the death sentence imposed upon Emile Cottin, who in an attempt to assassinate Premier Clemenceau on Feb. 19 last shot and severely wounded him.

The commutation of sentence was on the recommendation of M. Clemenceau himself.

TRAGEDY ECHOES SHUTOFF OF GAS

About three months ago Henry Kartz, 1430 West Chicago avenue, got a gas bill for $6. He couldn't understand it. The usual bill was for $1. Like thousands of others he refused to pay it. The gas company threatened to shut off his gas.

"But they won't," he told his wife, "they've been ordered to shut off no gas while they're investigating these overcharges."

Nevertheless the gas was shut off, and since then the house has been lighted with oil lamps. Dr. S. D. Rosenthal of 635 North Ashland avenue is authority for these statements. His connection with the story becomes plain as we progress.

The Oil Spills Over.

Last night Mrs. Kartz placed the lamp on the kitchen stove and began filling it with kerosene. The table was set. The twins, Anna and Wanda, 2 years old, were sitting in their high chairs at the table, banging their spoons against the board, impatient for food. Kartz was standing with his back to the stove.

The oil spilled over. The fire in the stove ignited it and caused an explosion. The mother and father were severely burned.

In his excitement Kartz picked up a can of kerosene under the impression it was water, and dashed it on the flames.

Then, with their clothes afire, the mother and father carried the twins to safety.

Parents May Die.

The twins safe, their parents began beating out the flames with their hands. Both were burned so severely that they may die. The police and firemen got to the place at the same time. Mr. and Mrs. Kartz were taken to the county hospital after Dr. Rosenthal had administered first aid. The inhalation of flame and smoke contributed to their injuries.

Anna and Wanda were taken to St. Vincent's Infant asylum. They were unharmed, except that Anna's hair was singed.

South Russia Port Lost to Allies, Report

PARIS, April 8.—[By the Associated Press.]—The Ukrainian soviet troops have captured Odessa, according to advices from Kiev, transmitted by wireless from Moscow under date of April 7. The news has not been officially confirmed.

ADMIT PERIL EXISTED.

BY FLOYD P. GIBBONS.

[Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.]

[By Special Cable.]

PARIS, April 8.—Private advices in Paris have indicated the early abandonment of Odessa by the allied forces despite the recent declaration that the city would be held. The expected explanation will be the lack of supplies and the difficulties of provisioning the troops. The real reason given in the private communications is the growing menace of the bolshevik troops.

Ukrainians Menace Kiev.

BUDAPEST, April 6.—[By the Associated Press.] — [Delayed.] — Forces commanded by Simon Petlura, the peasant leader of Ukraine, are said to be menacing Kiev. Reports received here indicate that they are within a few miles of the city.

All Allies Responsible.

LONDON, via Montreal, April 8.—In connection with the situation of the allied forces in northern Russia, it is pointed out in authoritative circles that responsibility for the north Russia expedition is an allied one, undertaken with all due deliberation by the supreme war council.

Great Britain, it is added, was intrusted with the coördination of allied measures and the supreme command chiefly because the operation was largely a naval one.

Ukraine Asks Wilson Aid.

COPENHAGEN, April 8.—[By the Associated Press.]—The West Ukrainian government, according to the Ukrainian mission here, has sent a telegraphic message to President Wilson asking for help in fighting the bolsheviki. The message complains that "the Polish army is employed in seizing Ukrainian territory, instead of fighting the bolsheviki."

FRENCH FLYER RENEWS START TO CROSS OCEAN

VERSAILLES, April 8.—[By the Associated Press.]—Lieut. Jean Pierre Fontan started on a flight today to Casablanca, Morocco, from which town he will proceed to Dakar, in the French colony of Senegal, and thence to the Cape Verde islands with the intention of attempting a flight across the Atlantic to Pernambuco, Brazil, from the islands. He is accompanied by Mechanician Phillbert Cahouet. The distance from Cape Verde islands to Pernambuco is 1,616 miles.

Seven French Air Mail Routes.

PARIS, April 8.—[French Wireless Service.]—Seven aerial mail services are in operation in France at the present time.

Makes 684 Mile Nonstop Trip.

ROME, Monday, April 7.—[French Wireless Service.]—Lieut. Roget, a French aviator, arrived here at 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon after a nonstop flight of 1,100 kilometers (684 miles) from Lyons, France.

Handley-Page Enters Flight.

LONDON, April 8.—The Handley-Page company today entered one of its airplanes, which had been built for a bombing expedition to Berlin, in the trans-Atlantic flight. The machine will be taken to Newfoundland and will attempt to fly from there to the British Isles.

JOKERS BORROW STREET CAR FOR A MERRY JAUNT

Two merry young men had a lot of fun for a little while this morning. They were walking by the car barns at Kedzie avenue and Van Buren street and noticed a street car that had not yet been put to bed standing outside.

They hopped it, turned its nose eastward and started at a bouncing clip toward the loop. At Van Buren and Robey Officer James O'Neill of the warren avenue station was waiting for a car and signaled. But signals, in this case, didn't go. O'Neill shook his fist and talked profanely, as many of us have done when a street car passes us like a pay car passes a tramp, and started in pursuit.

The jesters, thinking, perhaps, that the edge of the joke had worn off, put on the brakes a couple of blocks east of Robey and disappeared, leaving the car standing in the middle of a block.

FOOD RIOTERS FIGHT TROOPS IN GERMANY

Mobs Loot Stores in Magdeburg and Many Fall.

COPENHAGEN, April 8.—[By the Associated Press.] — Plundering and shooting attendant upon the general strike proclaimed by the Independent and Majority Socialists among the workmen at Magdeburg, capital of Prussian Saxony, are reported in dispatches from that city.

The warehouses containing the food reserves for the coming week were stormed and partly destroyed and the reserves looted, the damage exceeding 400,000 marks.

The police station also was stormed with the intention of releasing the prisoners, but the rioters were repulsed after the building had been considerably damaged. Grenades and rifles were employed in the attack on the station and many persons were wounded.

Rush Troops to City.

Government troops are advancing on the town and conflicts are anticipated. Large portions of the garrison have joined the insurgents and it is reported that a quantity of arms from the citadel has been distributed to the workmen and former soldiers.

The general strike was declared over the heads of the men's leaders. Eight thousand workmen attended a meeting this morning in the Domplatz and resolved that the strike should continue until the release of former Deputy Brandes, who was arrested yesterday. The train service has ceased.

Free German Minister.

The motor car in which Herr Landsberg, minister of justice in the national German government, was being taken to Brunswick after his arrest yesterday at Madgeburg by revolting soldiers was stopped at Helmstad and the minister liberated, a Berlin dispatch says.

The machine was accompanied by a strong escort of the insurgents, but the police at Helmstad disarmed them. As a result of Herr Landsberg's arrest a state of siege was declared at Madgeburg.

Feared a New Attack.

LONDON, April 8.—Herr Landsburg, minister of justice in the national German government, who was rescued at Helmstad from a party of revolting Madgeburg soldiers conveying him to Brunswick, has been sent to Hanover, according to a Berlin dispatch to the Daily Mail.

The police commissary of Helmstad, with whom Herr Landsburg had taken refuge, learned that another party of insurgents was approaching. He put the minister in an automobile and ordered it to proceed to Hanover.

MOVE IS WIDESPREAD

BERLIN, April 8.—[By the Associated Press.]—The Zeitung am Mittag and the Vossische Zeitung make the point that the Munich coup vitally affects all the empire.

By refusing to coöperate with the national government and by seeking an individual alliance with Russia and Hungary, the newspapers say, the new Munich government jeopardizes national unity and threatens the progress of peace negotiations, which may consequently be interrupted for months, involving grave suffering and the physical and industrial ruin of the whole nation.

The Vossische Zeitung says that the happenings at Munich were obviously only part of a general program planned for the empire, "otherwise the small clique at Munich would have acted more cautiously."

Causes Fear in Paris.

PARIS, April 8.—[By the Associated Press.]—There is much apprehension in peace conference circles as to the effect the establishment of a soviet government at Munich may have on the conclusion of peace.

As the Munich government appears from press dispatches to be well established, the peace delegates are considering the eventual necessity of negotiating two peace treaties with Germany, one with Berlin and the other with Munich.

Soviet May Seize Fortunes.

MUNICH, April 7.—[By the Associated Press.] — [Delayed.] — Some of the soviet plans were announced today. The socialization of the theater is one of them. Another is that all stores, should they attempt to close, will be opened forcibly and socialized.

The soviet leaders have drawn up a bill for the confiscation of property. Under the bill all fortunes more than 10,000 marks ($2,000) shall be seized, a part confiscated and the balance retained by the state, which will pay the legitimate owner from 3 to 4 percentum interest. It is planned to reduce rent and food prices forcibly.

The First infantry regiment of Munich troops, it is announced, will serve as the basis of the Red guard to be created. Many prominent persons are reported to have been arrested, to be held as hostages.

Show Opposition to Reds.

Advices from various parts of Bavaria show varying receptions of the soviet proclamation. At Nuremburg, after several hours of debate, the soldiers and workmen's council rejected the soviet republic idea by a vote of 138 to 70.

At Passau, close to the Austrian frontier, a meeting called by the soldiers and workmen's council declared for the introduction of the soviet republic and for an alliance between Hungary and Russia.

"The whole population of northern Bavaria," reads the protest, "is warned against allowing itself to be intimidated through fear of a vanishing minority, mainly consisting of persons predominantly of a foreign race.

"Bavaria is on the edge of a precipice, and if it is not preserved from a downfall everything is lost. Bavaria will then become the prey of fratricides, plunderers, and famine."

Congress Meets in Berlin.

BERLIN, April 8.—[By the Associated Press.]—The soldiers' and workmen's and peasants' congress assembled today in a tense and irritable atmosphere of uncertainty. Strong military measures were taken, and all spectators attending the congress were searched for arms.

Two hundred and eighty-eight delegates had been expected, representing 260 workers' and peasants' councils, and twenty-eight soldiers' councils. Many of the delegates, however, were prevented from attending. There was one woman delegate, who sat at the Central council's table, and nine delegates from German Austria.

The congress unanimously adopted the motion of the Independent Socialists, demanding the same immunity for its members as is enjoyed by the members of the national assembly. A motion by the same party demanding the release of George Ledebour was adopted, although the Right Socialists voted against it.

WILSON SENDS SPEED ORDER FOR TRANSPORT

Washington, D. C., April 8.—[Special.]—Events at the Paris peace conference causing President Wilson to call for his transport, the George Washington, and causing the inspired report that America would withdraw from the conclave unless adequate concessions to the president's views are speedily made, aroused a deal of speculation among public men here today.

This was intensified late this afternoon when the navy department made this announcement:

"Acting Secretary of the Navy Roosevelt late today received a cablegram from Admiral Benson, chief of naval operations, at Paris, requesting that the sailing of the U. S. S. George Washington be expedited at once by direction of the president. The U. S. S. George Washington will, therefore, leave New York at the earliest opportunity, probably Friday afternoon, April 11."

As Admiral Benson had sent a cablegram yesterday inquiring as to when the George Washington could sail, officials regarded the messasge today as significant.

By fast steaming the George Washington should reach Brest by April 17.

Shortage of Coal Halts Pay for German Food

BERLIN, April 7.—[By the Associated Press.]—The shortage of coal, owing to strikes, is given officially as the reason for Germany's inability to continue payments for entente food supplies now arriving, since coal was chiefly relied upon as a means to settle this indebtedness. The announcement adds that if coal production continues to falter, preventing the manufacture of articles wanted abroad "German economic life must collapse before autumn and the food situation will be worse than ever."

BY ARTHUR E. MANN.
[Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.]
[Copyright: 1919.]
[Copyright: 1919: By the Tribune Company.]

LONDON, April 8.—Practically the entire European strength of the American Red Cross is being mobilized for a campaign against bolshevism in the Balkans and outlying nonbolshevik portions of Russia. This action has been ordered by the Red Cross headquarters at Washington, following a direct request from the American government.

It had been previously planned to withdraw the Red Cross from Europe entirely after the armistice, with the exception of a small force to look after the needs of the American army in France and Germany. But the alarming tendency of bolshevism to spread to southwestern Europe and to those parts of Russia hitherto not infected caused authorities at Washington to seek the aid of the Red Cross in combating this evil.

Want to Go to Odessa.

American Red Cross commissions for civilian relief have already been sent into Albania, Serbia, Roumania, and Bulgaria, and an effort is being made to get one into Odessa, from which point it will operate in southern Russia. All this work is being directed by Lieut. Col. Henry W. Anderson of Richmond, Va. He has been in charge of Red Cross work in Italy, but is now establishing his headquarters at Constantinople, on which port Balkan and Russian commissions will be based.

In fact, it was the success of the Red Cross in Italy which was chiefly instrumental in deciding the American government to ask that organization to undertake its new mission. There the Red Cross was the first and greatest instrument in making the Italian people feel that America was in the war and was Italy's friend and in seeing that America's protestations of friendship took material form. There is no doubt that the work of the Red Cross in Italy by money grants to local charities and by medical and other forms of civilian relief was of priceless aid in improving the morale of the people.

Doctors in Balkans.

Red Cross commissions already in the Balkans are being largely supplied with medical stores and equipment and are composed principally of medical personnel. Their plan of operation is first to make a survey of the territories in which they have to operate to determine where and to what extent the first and greatest relief is needed. For instance, the commission in Poland has made an eight day tour of inspection in the eastern and southeastern part of that country, a journey of 1,500 miles, during which it distributed food, clothing, and medicines to twenty cities and numerous towns and villages.

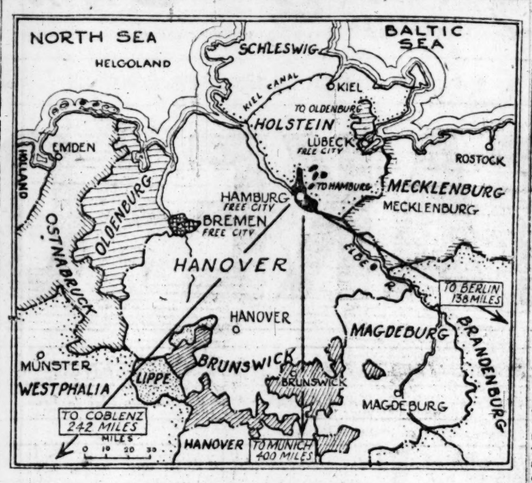

Primarily, the latter is the chief work of the commissions. They are fighting bolshevism by fighting hunger, disease, and dirt. In some cases they are actively cooperating with the United States food commissions in the actual work of distributing supplies and by informing the latter organizations where food is most badly needed and how it can best be gotten to the starving populations. Indirectly, the Red Cross commissions are doing and can do a lot of sound educational work.

Not Hampered by Diplomacy.

There are several reasons why the American Red Cross is the only organization which can successfully and without complications carry on this work. In the first place it is not hampered by the many diplomatic restrictions under which government commissions have to labor. Secondly, the Red Cross is not answerable to congress for either its policies or its detailed operations. The result, at least insofar as past experience is concerned, has shown that it is the most useful agency existing today for dealing with the difficult and delicate question of civilian morale.

In addition the Red Cross has discovered that it can go into countries and take up its work with a knowledge that the people there fully appreciate the disinterested character of its endeavors, whereas any European organization, official or semi-official, would probably at once become an object of suspicion to the people among whom it was laboring.

BREMEN AND HAMBURG NEAR REVOLT

The northern section of Hanover, between the Weser and Elbe rivers, is reported on the verge of breaking away and following the lead of Bavaria by setting up a soviet republic.

The two free cities of Bremen and Hamburg are the center of this Spartacan movement, which, if successful, will probably take in all of northwestern Germany between the Elbe river and the Dutch frontier, embracing Osnabruck, Oldenburg, and Hanover.

Serious food riots have taken place at Magdeburg in connection with the general strike declared by the Socialists.

REPORT WILSON MAKES FINAL PEACE STAND

Gives Premiers His Last Basis for Fixing Treaty.

Later, from the same source, came the report that the "big four" were getting closer together and making progress, but that it would not be surprising if the American delegation withdrew from the conference and went home if things don't radically change by the end of this week.

Stands on His Principles.

President Wilson is determined to stand by his own principles, to which all the other nations pay at least lip service, and to stand by the terms of the armistice by which the allies agreed with Germany to do certain things. He resents the tendency of some of his European associates to disregard the armistice obligations and to twist the fourteen points into unintended applications to meet special ends.

But the real feeling in Paris is that the American delegation will prevail and not withdraw.

The president was much better today and will probably meet the others of the "big four" tomorrow. Lloyd George was absent this morning also because of a slight cold. So the "four" did not do any business.

IS WILSON BLUFFING?
BY RICHARD V. OULAHAN.
Chicago Tribune-New York Times Cable.
[Copyright: 1919.]

PARIS, April 8.—Formal announcement that the U. S. S. George Washington has been ordered by President Wilson to return to Europe without delay has given rise to much excited comment, in which the word "bluff" was used cautiously by some of those who contend that the president would not dare withdraw from the peace conference.

But all information indicates that the president is not bluffing. With thorough knowledge of how the recall of the George Washington will be construed, he has placed himself in a position where, as a matter of pride, he will be obliged to leave France if a settlement is not assured within the brief period the vessel will take to make the voyage.

Conflict in Reports.

The situation is entirely too serious to permit the president to adopt bluffing. His orders for the George Washington obtain deeper significance in the face of the optimistic public statements of Premier Lloyd George and Foreign Minister Pichon that an understanding has been reached on all points in dispute. Apparently the president—out of his experience in the last four months, when he saw agreements reached one day and upset on the next—has not supreme faith that these understandings will stick.

The action of the so-called "big four" in taking upon themselves the settlement of great problems of peace has caused much dissatisfaction among the smaller nations. Their representatives look upon the "big four's" session in camera as the secret diplomacy which has been condemned by allied statesmen ever since the outbreak of the war in Europe in August, 1914.

The probability is that upon his return to Washington, or even before leaving France, Mr. Wilson will issue a proclamation calling congress in extraordinary session. With congress reassembled, the president could appear at a joint session of the senate and house and explain the reasons for his withdrawal from the peace conference.

WEARY IS THE HEAD THAT ONCE WORE BAVARIA CROWN

BERNE, Switzerland, April 8.—The circumstances under which former King Ludwig of Bavaria came to take up his residence with the Prince of Liechtenstein, in the little principality of that name on the Swiss-Tyrolean border, have recently come to light.

It appears that after the second Bavarian revolution at the end of February the aged ex-king, with only two attendants, went to a health resort at Kufstein in the Austrian Tyrol, but that he was recognized there and became the object of Spartacan demonstrations, so that he retired to the remote Oetz valley in the Alps, where he lived in a simple village inn, taking the same meals as the peasants, with no luxuries whatever.

The Prince of Liechtenstein later invited the former Bavarian ruler to come to live in Vaduz castle, in the principality, and the invitation was accepted.

Those who have seen the ex-king in recent months say that he has often remarked: "In my old age I have no place to lay my head."

DOG IT 'SICKED' ON THE ALLIES BITES HUNGARY

BUDAPEST, April 7.—[By the Associated Press.]—Delayed—It is considered certain here that the communist movement was engineered by Count Michael Karolyi, the former president, to scare the allies by the specter of bolshevism and thereby draw attention to the situation in Hungary.

It was a measure of despair, the results of which have scared out those who planned the move, as it has given an opportunity for Bela Kun, the foreign minister, to attempt to become a dictator of the Trotzky type. The communists are opposed by the Socialists, who are attempting to form a modepate Socialist government.

All who dare, from waiters to manufacturers, inform the correspondent that none but a few madmen in Budapest want nationalization of property and other similar communist schemes.

Play Up Smuts' Visit.

Bela Kun, in speeches yesterday and today, attempted to make the people believe that the visit here of Gen. Smuts, the special allied commissioner to Hungary, was a recognition of the aims of the communist government.

It is reported in some quarters that Gen. Smuts came here with authority to adjust new boundary lines for Hungary under the armistice, but that he left here for Paris by way of Prague without doing so.

Great earnestness is displayed by the members of the new government in carrying out the work assigned to them. They are ready to discuss their plans and to solve problems and they refrain from abusing capitalism. The maintenance of strict discipline to protect the bourgeoisie and to prevent Red Guard outbreaks has been decided upon by the government.

Foreigners Are Unmolested.

British residents of the city will leave for Paris by way of Vienna on Saturday. With them will go the American wives of Hungarians, who will be permitted to take with them their money and effects. The government seems to be doing everything possible in favor of Americans and other foreigners.

Count Albert Apponyi, the last Hungarian premier under the old régime and a member of one of the oldest and wealthiest families, is living, since the communists gained control of the government, in a modest two story house with his wife, two daughters, and a governess, and also with two families which the government has billeted with them. It is said the government intends to place other families in the house, reducing the Apponyi family to the use of two rooms.

Apponyi Blames Allies.

The count, who is 72 years old, said: "I am an old man and I am looking at this new movement from a philosophic point of view, wondering if it will succeed. Certainly it is a most interesting experiment.

"You may say I think the allies are responsible for such situations in Hungary. They are brought on by dallying and not making peace and leaving boundaries undefined. Also the so-called league of nations is merely a trust organized by the victors without asking the consent of the others."

May and June, the wild flower months, best time to take the "Cure." Through sleepers both directions via Big Four and C. & O. R. Make reservations now, either to Greenbrier or Plaza Hotel, New York.—Advertisement.

WASHINGTON NEWS
—IN BRIEF—

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.
[Washington Bureau of The Tribune.]

WASHINGTON, D. C., April 8.

THE action of President Wilson in expediting the departure of his ship and the inspired report that the American delegation would withdraw from the peace conference unless the president's demands speedily are complied with aroused much speculation among public men upon the real events taking place behind the veil of secrecy in Paris.

Supporters of the president believe he has served an ultimatum upon France to abandon her territorial and financial demands and upon Italy to waive her claim to Fiume and adjacent territory. They are confident the president, with the aid of England, will triumph, having achieved permanent world peace.

Opponents of the president theorized in diverse veins. Senator Johnson of California, Republican, thinks the president still has the whip hand because he holds the strings of the purse from which the allies have been liberally helped. Others think the power of the president in Paris is waning and that the allies are beginning to heed the opposition to Mr. Wilson in the senate and the fact that a Republican congress will control the American purse henceforth.

FAILURE to make any reduction in prices of sand, gravel, and crushed stone was acknowledged by the industrial board of the department of commerce today in a statement explaining that all it could do was to recommend a continuation of the practice of competitive bidding in governmental purchases. The deadlock between the industrial board and the railroad administration over prices of steel rails continues.

WASHINGTON officials have renewed their diligence in watching the movements of the Mexican government with relation to the oil interests there, having confirmed recent reports that the British government has purchased the Cowdray and Dutch oil interests. Britain's action, it is said, clearly indicates that she does not propose that oil lands of her subjects shall be confiscated by the Mexican government, and this, it is declared, is threatened for American oil interests in Mexico.

THE dispatch by the Paris peace conference of Gen. Smuts to confer with the new soviet government in Hungary is not looked upon with favor by the Czecho-Slovaks here, who issued a statement stating that this move gives "color to the complaints that threats alone have any effect upon the councils of the allied and associated statesmen in Paris."

Chicagoan Slain, Robbed, on Lonely Kentucky Road

Middlesboro, Ky., April 8.—[Special.] A. M. Croxman, 60 years old, whose home is in Chicago, was found dead this morning on the road between Pruden, Tenn., and Chenoa, Ky. He had been murdered and robbed.

Croxman, an organizer for the Woodmen of the World, had been at work in this vicinity for about two weeks, establishing lodges. When he left Pruden for Chenoa Monday night he had more than $100. His money is missing. Croxman had been beaten.

His son, James Croxman of Chicago, came here tonight and tomorrow will go to Chenoa to take charge of the body.

California Senate Acts to Uphold Racial Bar

Sacramento, Cal., April 7.—The senate adopted today, 35 to 1, a resolution by Senator Inman, urging American delegates at the peace conference to oppose a request of "certain representatives at the peace conference" for free immigration.

The resolution was adopted without debate after references to the Japanese had been eliminated.

New York, April 8.—A committee the officers of which said it represented every state in the union, every rank in the army and navy, and every shade of political belief issued here tonight a call for a caucus in St. Louis next month to perfect preliminary organization of the American Legion, to be composed of American veterans of the world war.

The caucus, to be held May 8, 9, and 10, will pave the way for a national convention, set tentatively for Nov. 11, when the organization, intended to offer membership to all officers and enlisted men in the United States military and naval service between the date of America's declaration of war and the cessation of hostilities, will be made permanent.

Roosevelt Signs Call.

The caucus call was signed by Lieut. Col. Theodore Roosevelt Jr. of New York, chairman; Lieut. Col. Bennett Clark of Missouri, vice chairman, and Lieut. Col. Eric Fisher Wood of Pennsylvania, secretary, together with upward of 200 committeemen drawn from the commissioned and enlisted personnel of the army, navy, and marine corps and representing the forty-eight states and the District of Columbia.

"The legion will not interest itself in politics, but will make its influence felt in regard to policies," Lieut. Col. Roosevelt declared, in discussing the embryo organization. It will be strictly nonpartisan, he added, its objects being to perpetuate comradeships formed during the war, to preserve the history of the conflict, and to maintain the principles for which American soldiers and sailors trained, fought, and died.

Members of Committee.

ILLINOIS—Maj. Gen. Leonard E. Wood, Chicago; Rear Admiral Frederick Brewster Bassett, Great Lakes; Maj. Thomas Gowenlock, Chicago; Maj. Owsley Brown, Springfield; Maj. John Callan O'Laughlin, Chicago; Capt. Joseph Medill Patterson, Chicago; Capt. Clark Nixon, East St. Louis.

INDIANA—Col. Solon J. Carter, Indianapolis.

IOWA—Maj. H. H. Polk, Des Moines.

MICHIGAN—Lieut. Col. Frederick M. Alger, Lieut. Commander Truman H. Newberry, Detroit.

The St. Louis caucus will be the third formal meeting of the legion organization, the first two, following a conference in February of a group of officers in France, having been attended last month by nearly 1,000 officers and men of all branches of the American expeditionary forces. Before calling the assembly in this country it was decided to make the preliminary committee representative by including enlisted men and by apportioning the membership among the states.

WARNING TO POLITICIANS

BY PAUL WILLIAMS.

[Copyright: 1919: By the Tribune Company.]

PARIS, April 7.—[Delayed.]—A solemn warning to erring political parties was sounded today at a special meeting of the executive committee of the American Legion—the new born organization which is to be the G. A. R. of this war. Four millions strong they expect to number, and leaders of this economic army have pledged its might for the right.

The ideals and purposes of the American Legion are expressed in the frankest terms by Brig. Gen. William G. Price of the Keystone division, and his assertions are warmly applauded by privates, noncommissioned officers, and colonels who sat side by side in the conference.

"It is unfortunate to put the American Legion in comparison with political parties," the general said, "but it will uphold what is right so firmly and forcefully that whatever party is wrong will learn to fear it.

Rainbow Men Busy.

Members of the Rainbow division en route to Brest are perfecting a divisional organization of the legion. A constitution and by-laws drafted by a commission of lawyers was rejected. The enlisted men then got together and prepared a constitution which was accepted. A copy of this will be studied by the executive committee for the legion as a whole.

Today's meeting was presided over by Col. Milton J. Foreman of Chicago, who was made permanent chairman. As members of the committee of the A. E. F. go home they will merge with the committee in the United States. The consolidated committee will meet in June for a permanent organization for the first convention of American veterans of the world war on Nov. 11. Chicago will be the first city to have the legion for this probably momentous meeting.

Lundeen Soldiers' Counsel.

Washington, D. C., April 8.—[Special.]—"The bolshevism of justice and equality secured at the ballot box as a substitute for the bolshevism of force," was enunciated here today by former Congressman Ernest Lundeen of Minnesota, as the keynote in the platform of the private soldiers and sailors' legion of the United States of America, an organization just incorporated for the purpose of prevailing upon congress to enact legislation beneficial to the men who fought for America in the great war.

Mr. Lundeen, who was defeated for reelection to congress, has been chosen as counsel for the new soldiers and sailors' legion, and he discussed the plans of the legion for publication today, together with Marvin G. Sperry, president of the legion, and formerly of Company F, Twelfth Railway engineers, A. E. F.

NEW MENACE TO U. S. OIL SUPPLY FROM MEXICO

England Increasing Its Supply for Merchant Marine.

Washington, D. C., April 8.—[Special.]—Reports of the purchase by the British government of the Cowdray and Dutch oil interests in Mexico have led to renewed activity on the part of state department officials in watching the movements by the Mexican government in the oil questions.

Great Britain is taking steps to get as much oil producing lands as she can throughout the world, not only in order to insure an adequate supply of cheap fuel for her warships and commercial vessels, but also to give employment to her merchant marine, whose supremacy is already menaced by the new merchant marine of the United States.

The British holdings in Mexico are only about 20 per cent of the producing property of the country. The remaining 80 per cent is almost exclusively American.

The United States needs all the oil it can get for the same reason Great Britain wants it—to keep the merchant marine going.

U. S. Foe Named by Carranza.

Mexico City, April 7.—Delayed.—The resignation of Rafael Nieto, for four years acting secretary of the treasury, was accepted today by President Carranza. Luis Cabrera, former secretary, has been named to fill the vacancy.

Cabrera is regarded in Washington as one of the bitterest enemies of the United States in Mexico.

SHOWS U. S. AS COMPETITOR IN SHIP BUILDING

Washington, D. C., April 8.—Construction of the latest type oil burning cargo steamers at a price which will enable American ship yards to compete with the foreign nations was declared to be "highly probable" by Chairman Hurley of the shipping board tonight in a statement announcing that the Submarine Boat corporation of Newark, N. J., had made an offer to build eight 12,000 ton freighters at $149 a deadweight ton without any guarantee from the government on either labor or material.

In making the offer to the shipping board Henry N. Carse, president of the corporation, wrote it was "the lowest price quoted today in the world."

Replying to Mr. Carse, Mr. Hurley said that the proposal of the corporation was "most interesting at this particular time, when war costs have reached a figure that are out of all proportion with 1916 American prices of $64 to $68 per deadweight ton on oil tankers."

"Most prices mentioned and talked about for 1919 have been from $185 to $225 a ton," he added. "Your proposal most effectively answers the questions as to whether our shipbuilders can compete in prices with foreign yards."

Austria Sends Archdukes and Kin to Switzerland

GENEVA, April 8.—[By the Associated Press.]—All the Austrian archdukes with their families, including Archduke Friedrich, a former marshal, have been officially expelled from Austrian territory, according to information from reliable sources.

A special train, escorted by republican guards, will leave Vienna tomorrow, conveying the archducal party to Switzerland.

The Swiss, it is declared, are not particularly gratified at this, for they continue to be severely rationed.

MICHIGAN ROUTS BEER; CHOOSES G. O. P. BY 2 TO 1

Detroit, Mich., April 8.—[Special.]—Overwhelming defeat of the beer and wine amendment, which has been beaten in most counties by a larger vote than that which carried the prohibition amendment in 1916, is assured by returns from all parts of Michigan.

People of Detroit showed they wanted a "kick" in their liquid refreshment by a majority of some 35,000, but the upstate folks' taste ran otherwise. With returns in from 1,382 precincts out of approximately 2,339, including 329 of the 364 precincts in Wayne county, the vote gave a dry majority of 94,654.

The wets found small comfort in the cities outside of Detroit, all the former wet strongholds rolling up heavy dry majorities.

The returns continued the story of the sweeping victory of the good roads bonding amendment. Almost every section of the state, cities and country alike, went strongly for it.

The Republican state ticket was overwhelmingly elected, more so than two to one. John E. Bird and Russell C. Ostrander were reelected to the Supreme court. B. S. Hanchett and L. L. Hubbard, regents of the University of Michigan. Frank Cody, Detroit, acting superintendent of the city's schools, was elected to the board of education.

American Army Strength 2,055,718 Men on April 1

Washington, D. C., April 8.—On April 1, the war department announced today, the aggregate strength of the American army was 2,055,718, excluding the 17,738 marines with the expeditionary forces. This total shows a net decrease of 44 per cent from Nov. 11 last. The army is now divided as follows: In Europe, 1,366,610; in Siberia, 8,893; in the United States, 562,064; insular possessions, 35,412; at sea (April 1), 82,739.

CHURCHES TO BUY SALOONS IN EAST FOR "COFFEE BARS"

BOSTON, Mass., April 8.—Temperance barrooms furnishing all the good elements of the saloon minus intoxicating liquor are planned for this city by the Methodist centenary, according to the Rev. Dr. J. I. Bartholomew, executive secretary for the Boston area. In some cases liquor saloons would be purchased, he said today. He believed that the original bars might even be retained, but only soft drinks and coffee would be handled. Community houses and "poor men's clubs" also are to be established in connection with Methodist churches in the principal New England cities.

The Spaniards suffered heavily and were forced to retreat precipitately, but were able to regain their camp.

U. S. CHIEFS ASK FOR DISMISSAL OF BEER SUIT

New York, April 8.—Dismissal of the suit brought by the Jacob Hoffmann Brewing company against government authorities to enjoin them from enforcing the provisions of the wartime prohibition act was asked today in papers filed in the federal District court by Earl B. Barnes, assistant United States district attorney. The suit was directed against Marg Elsner, as collector of internal revenue for the Third New York district, and United States District Attorney Francis G. Caffey.

An answer to the suit filed in Elsner's behalf, states that his resignation as collector was accepted by President Wilson, March 10, and that the action cannot, therefore, be maintained against him.

A motion to dismiss the complaint was filed on behalf of District Attorney Caffey.

To the complainant's allegations that the war was virtually ended with the signing of the armistice and its introduction of copies of the armistice, President Wilson's address to congress announcing the fact, and Secretary Baker's proclamation suspending intensive military operations, as exhibits in support of that claim, the government asks the court to take judicial notice of the fact that the peace treaty has not yet been ratified and a state of war still exists between the United States and Germany. The exhibits are classed as "insufficient and irrelevant," by the government, which asks that they be stricken from the complaint.

BOARD OF TRADE MAN DECORATED FOR WAR VALOR

The following citation for "extraordinary heroism in action," announcing the award of the distinguished service cross to Lieut. Charles Kickham Templeton, One Hundred and Twenty-second field artillery, has been received by his uncle, William Templeton of Oak Park:

LIEUT. CHARLES KICKHAM TEMPLETON

"After a telephone communication had been destroyed and his runners scattered on other missions, Lieut. Templeton started on a mission of extreme importance from the infantry to the artillery. His path lay through a heavy machine gun and shell fire, and before he reached his destination he was seriously wounded. He succeeded, however, in relaying his message to its destination."

Lieut. Templeton had been for about ten years a member of the Chicago Board of Trade when war began. He at once disposed of his business and attempted to enlist. His age and weight barred him from the officers' training camp and only after being rejected by several organizations was he accepted as a private in the supply train of what was then the First cavalry, Illinois national guard. By the time the regiment reached Europe as the One Hundred and Twenty-second field artillery, he had been made an officer. In the Argonne, near Nouart, he was so badly wounded that his right leg was amputated and he lay at the point of death for a long period in a hospital in France, completely cut off from communication with relatives.

British Holding Up Mails Irks Norway's Merchants

Direct steamers leaving here several times weekly could carry the mail to the United States in twelve days.

U. S. CHURCHMEN IN COREA REFUSE TO AID JAPANESE

Natives Expect Wilson to Come Via Air to Help Freedom Fight.

SEOUL, April 8.—[By the Associated Press.]—[Delayed.]—A representative of the Japanese authorities has requested the missionaries to use their influence with the Coreans to discontinue their independence movement.

Through Bishop Welch, the American Methodist missionaries have replied that they are unable to interfere, first, because it would be ineffective; second, it would impair the success of their own work among the Coreans, and, third, it would constitute interference with internal politics, which is expressly forbidden by the American government.

Slumbering for years, the insurrection has come to a head in the period of the peace conference at Paris, from which apparently the Coreans expect much. Faith permeates the Coreans that the world sympathizes with them and will help them finally to acquire the right of self-determination.

Expect Wilson in Airplane.

Independence news is being secretly printed and distributed almost daily, despite repeated seizures of printing presses, and it is declared that the Coreans are confident President Wilson will come to Corea in an airplane and listen to their views. A white flag set up on Seoul Hill is presumed to indicate the landing place.

Foreigners as well as Coreans allege serious maltreatment of those who have taken part in demonstrations. The Union Severance hospital, founded by L. H. Severance of Cleveland, has as patients from this cause twenty-four Coreans, including a boy of 15.

154 Coreans Killed.

Gen. Kojima, director of gendarmerie, in a statement to the Associated Press, place the casualties to the police, gendarmes, soldiers, and Japanese at 56, of whom 7 were killed, and to the Coreans at 453, of whom 154 were killed.

He estimated that 20,000 took part in the demonstrations, armed with axes, knives, and clubs, and the gendarmes were forced to employ severe measures.

The mobs, according to the general, had destroyed thirty-eight public offices in Corea and fifty tramways. Eight hundred arrests had been made in Seoul, 269 persons being held for trial. In the provinces 4,153 arrests had been made up to March 15.

Fire on Manchurians.

TOKYO, April 6.—Japanese troops fired upon three thousand rioters at Teishu, Manchuria, killing and injuring over thirty, according to dispatches received here today.

Sinn Feiners Welcome De Valera in Dublin

DUBLIN, April 8.—Delegates representing Sinn Fein clubs of Ireland assembled at the Mansion house today and enthusiastically welcomed Edward De Valera, the Sinn Fein leader. CHICAGO TROOPS ARE LANDED AT NEWPORT NEWS

Newport News, Va., April 8.—[Special.]—Chicago members of the Three Hundred and Twenty-ninth and Three Hundred and Thirtieth machine gun battalions, returning today on the battle ships Virginia and Rhode Island, tell of anxiously awaiting orders to go into the front lines for weeks and then missing the big show by three days.

Maj. Frank D. Becker of Appleton, Wis., commanded the troops on the two ships. He spoke highly of the Illinois men and praised the work of the Thirty-third division.

Lyal M. Park, 741 East Forty-fourth street, Chicago, was taken ill on the voyage and removed to a hospital here on his arrival. The Chicagoans will not leave here before next week, according to troop movement officials.

Chicago men who arrived here today are:

ARREST DOCTORS AND DRUGGISTS IN "DOPE" RAID

New York, April 8.—Six physicians and four druggists were arrested by internal revenue officers here tonight charged with violation of the Harrison anti-drug act. Fifty drug addicts were taken in the raid and habit forming drugs valued at $25,000 were seized.

The ten revenue officers who conducted the raid were under the personal command of Maj. Daniel L. Porter, supervisor of the New York district. They were assisted by fifteen detectives attached to the narcotic squad.

All but one of the physicians taken into custody have been practicing on the east side. The sixth lived in the Bronx. All the druggists were in business on the lower east side.

The addicts were released after they had been questioned.

BIG SHIPMENT OF EGGS MAY FORCE 'EM DOWN

Cheer up! Eggs may go down.

A record shipment reached the Chicago market yesterday—72,000 cases of eggs—nothing like that ever happened before in the history of the butter and egg board.

Officials of Sol Westerfeld, one of the largest of the city's dealers in food, said that, if thrown upon the market today, the record egg shipment should cut the price 5 cents a dozen. Since no dealer is carrying a large stock, due to the prevailing high prices, the effect should be felt by the consumers' pocketbooks.

Eggs sold yesterday at 49 cents a dozen, substantially what they cost at retail for a week. Butter sold last week for 65 cents to 67 cents a pound retail; yesterday it cost the consumer 69 cents.

A drop of 4 to 8 cents in standard brands of canned fruits and vegetables, however, was expected soon with the arrival of fresh shipments.

The Illinois Farmers' association yesterday announced that representatives of producers, commission merchants, retailers, and consumers would meet today in an effort to prevent wastage, facilitate the handling of food, and establish staple and equitable prices.

8 DEAD, 12 HURT, IN RIOTING AT DELHI, INDIA

LONDON, April 8, via Montreal.—In disturbances in Delhi in the last few days eight persons were killed and twelve injured, a dispatch from Reuter's correspondent at the Indian capital says. The city now is quiet.

An official communication says that on April 3 disorderly mobs gathered in the neighborhood of Abdin square and Mohamed Ali street. A state railway official named Dykes was killed by a rifle shot, and the mob killed a Greek resident. Shots were fired in the afternoon from a house, which led to further disorders.

Order was restored at 6 o'clock, when it was reported that three persons had been killed and a number wounded.

The postal employés went on strike on that day.

Highland Park Coal and Ice Drivers Strike for Raise

Highland Park's coal and ice wagon drivers went on strike yesterday morning because employers refused to grant their demands for an increase in wages from $25 to $27 a week. Frank Siljestrom was the only ice and coal dealer to accede. His wagon, driven by Frank Howe, did a thriving business yesterday.

2,700 AMERICANS HELD AS ALIENS ON MAURETANIA

Finally Sent to Camp to Await End of Immigration Dispute.

BY C. V. JULIAN.

New York, April 8.—[Special.]—The 2,700 Americans who have been fighting under the British flag and who arrived here last night on the Mauretania were allowed to leave the ship late today, after being held virtual prisoners while a dispute raged between American immigration officials and British military authorities.

Instead of being released, 700 men whose homes are in this city were sent to Camp Mills, N. Y., to await a settlement of the controversy.

The men were sent to America as repatriated troops, the British authorities understanding that no manifest list was necessary under the circumstances, but when the Mauretania docked the federal officials demanded such a list before the troops would be allowed to land.

Classed as Aliens.

Without this list, the immigration officials claimed, the men must be classified as aliens until their citizenship was proven. They will be mustered out at Camp Mills after the Cunard line officials have prepared a manifest list.

The Mauretania's purser said that before the troops went aboard he was informed that the British authorities had received a cable message from the United States saying no manifest list was necessary. Lieut. H. L. Whitelaw of the Edgewater Beach hotel, Chicago and Capt. R. W. Meiklejohn of Kissimmee, Fla., said they, too, read this message.

The Chicago men of Base 12—the Northwestern university hospital unit—are still in camp and no orders have been issued for their return home.

Few Chicagoans on Ship.

There were comparatively few Chicago troops among the doughboys who arrived last night on the Mauretania and who were landed today.

Among the casual officers was Capt. Frank Buckwalter, 360 East Garfield avenue, while among the troop officers were Lieuts. Newton Farr, 4737 Woodlawn avenue, and John Tilton of Le Grange. Lieut. H. Leigh Whitelaw of the Edgewater Beach hotel was one of the Americans who has been serving in the British army who returned on the Mauretania.

COL. WIGMORE'S LETTER AIM OF CHAMBERLAIN IRE

Washington, D. C., April 8.—Investigation by the attorney general's office of the alleged distribution in official franked envelopes of 70,000 copies of a letter written by Col. John H. Wigmore, formerly of the provost marshal general's office, in support of the existing courts martial system, was urged today by Senator Chamberlain, former chairman of the senate military affairs committee, in a letter to Attorney General Palmer. Col. Wigmore formerly was dean of the Northwestern university law school.

Senator Chamberlain charged that "the Wigmore letter was in form and substance a purely private communication upon a purely professional subject," and that it was designed in part as personal reply to Senator Chamberlain's speech on military justice in the senate Jan. 3.

"These communications, consisting of some seventy pages, all appear to have been printed at the government printing office and presumably at government expense," Senator Chamberlain wrote. "They are being given enormous public distribution in official penalty envelopes bearing the official business frank of the war industries board."

BOY STARTS TO 'SAIL AROUND WORLD'; DROWNED

Ten year old Carl Mattul of 10525 Avenue A was drowned yesterday and his playmate of the same age, Raymond Bailer, was rescued barely in time to save his life.

The children had taken an old boat moored at One Hundred and Third street and started to "sail around the world." When they were some distance from the shore they became frightened and jumped overboard.

Julius Knudsen of One Hundred and Second street and the lake saw them. He swam out and rescued Raymond. Carl had already gone down. Knudsen later recovered his body.

LOVE AND 'THREAT TO SLAY' ENTER CONSUMERS CASE

Menacing Witness to Aid Fiance on Trial Is Charged to Girl.

The engagement of Edward H. Troost, 811 Cornelia street, to Ella Mae Perry, 811 Cornelia street, was announced by Miss Perry yesterday afternoon on the witness stand and involved in the evidence of the delve for asset of the Consumers' Packing company.

Miss Perry, a cabaret singer, whose relations with Troost, president of the Consumers' Packing company, provoked Mrs. Troost into obtaining a divorce last week, volunteered the information to explain to Judge Landis her motive in visiting the home of Miss Marion Lewis, 468 Deming place, last Wednesday night, and talking with her regarding evidence Miss Lewis was to give in the Consumers' case.

Would "Refresh Memory."

As the result of her trip to court Miss Perry and her fiancé spent the evening in the United States marshal's office using the telephone in search of bail. Judge Landis had ordered Miss Perry held under $10,000 bonds as a witness and to "refresh her memory," while Troost's bonds were fived at $30,000 on the court's order that he be held to the federal grand jury on charges of conspiracy to use the mails to defraud in connection with the promotion of the company.

It was ladies' day in the hearing, with Miss Lewis, Miss Perry, and Miss Goldie Skolnik.

Miss Lewis gave her testimony first, with the announcement by Attorney Joseph Weissenbach, counsel for the receiver, that "threats have been made against the life of a witness for turning over evidence to the government in this trial."

Letter Concerning Company.

The evidence referred to was a letter written to Frank Terry, a former employé, in which Troost described the Consumers' Packing company as a flourishing enterprise doing a large business in the buying, slaughtering, and selling of cattle and meats. The letter came into the possession of Miss Lewis through her father, William H. Lewis.

Miss Lewis testified that Miss Perry introduced herself at the Lewis abode Wednesday night as "a very dear friend of Troost" and demanded the return of the letter. In the event that it was not returned, but used against Troost in the current investigation of the company, Miss Perry said, "the troubles of the Lewises will only begin," according to Miss Lewis.

The letter was turned over to Attorney Weissenbach, who introduced it in evidence.

A Professional Singer.

Judge Landis sent for Miss Perry. She came to court dressed in a suit, hat and veil of blue, with brown oxfords. Troost had admitted to the court previous to her arrival that he had spoken to Miss Perry regarding the letter and the fact that it might be used against him.

Miss Perry took the stand. She said Troost is living with her brother at 811 Cornelia street, where she also maintains her residence.

The singer denied to the court that she had threatened Miss Lewis. While admitting the visit, she had difficulty in recalling details. She denied she sought to prevent any evidence from being introduced.

"Then what did you go down there to get this lady to do?" asked Judge Landis.

Denies Conversation.

Miss Perry became agitated.

"I went to see why she was trying to get this man in the penitentiary," she declared.

"What business was it of yours?" the court demanded.

"I'm engaged to marry Mr. Troost," said Miss Perry, "but he didn't tell me about the letter."

Judge Landis shortly afterward turned to District Attorney Charles F. Clyne.

"I am holding Miss Perry as a witness," he said. "It is quite possible that in your examination of the evidence you may find cause for a serious charge against her; perhaps that of tampering with a witness."

Miss Goldie Skolnik, cashier of the company, was examined by attorneys for the receiver in the search for assets. Miss Skolnik said that she had saved from her wages, which aggregated $80 a week, the sum of $1,500.

"What became of this money I am trying to find?" asked Judge Landis.

Miss Skolnik didn't know.

"I desire that the receiver spend money in getting money from this witness," said the judge in dismissing Miss Skolnik, who is under bonds.

Seek to Enjoin Hearing.

A suit to enjoin the proceedings in the court of Judge Landis in connection with the Consumers' Packing company was filed in the United States District court late yesterday afternoon. Karol D. Stahulak, one of the stockholders, is the plaintiff and the Consumers' Packing company, the Central Trust company, as receiver; Secretary of State Lewis L. Emmerson, Attorney General Brundage, Judge K. M. Landis, and the petitioners in bankruptcy are the defendants. Hearing was set for today before Judge George A. Carpenter.

The involuntary petition in bankruptcy is declared in the suit part of a conspiracy "on the part of unknown conspirators" to harass the corporation and prevent it from entering the packing business at the Union stockyards.

AD MEN PLAN TO GET BUSINESS OF FOREIGN FIRMS

Campaign for Victory Loan Outlined at Meeting Here.

Advertisers all over the country have found the daily newspapers a profitable field, and it is predicted that the year 1919 will show a 50 per cent increase in newspaper advertising over last year.

The prediction was made last night by William H. Rankin of the American Association of Advertising Agencies, which opened the quarterly convention of its executive committee yesterday in the Blackstone hotel.

"Never have the newspapers stood so high with advertisers," said Mr. Rankin. "Much credit for the success of the Liberty loans, the war savings and thrift stamp campaigns, the Red Cross and Y. M. C. A., and Knights of Columbus drives, and for recruiting men for the army and navy must be given the daily papers for their coöperation with the government."

Clear Decks for Loan.

The convention, which will close tomorrow evening, was called to perfect the organization to back the Victory Liberty loan.

After the war problems to be solved by advertising men, and the establishment of high standards of training and organization in advertising, were discussed.

"The purpose of the association," as outlined by the committee, "is to make it easier for those who have the proper qualifications to secure the necessary training in advertising, and to make it increasingly difficult for those who lack these qualifications to masquerade under the name of advertising agents.

Will Eliminate "Unfit."

"The more clearly the nature of the work is defined, and the more generally it is understood, the more quickly will those who are not disposed to live up to their obligations be forced out of business; the more, also, will we support, encourage, and develop those who are disposed to live up to their obligations, and the more we can help them to do so."

William H. Johnson, president of the George Batten company, presided at the sessions. The western council of the association gave a dinner to the visiting members last night at the Blackstone.

James O'Shaughnessy, executive secretary, announced the national foreign trade convention will be held in Chicago for three days, beginning April 24. More than 1,000 manufacturers will be delegates to this convention.

$200,000 SUIT JURY DISAGREES.

A jury in the Superior court disagreed yesterday in the damage suit for $200,000 brought by the Illinois Life Insurance company against Joseph Byfield for failure to keep his contract to erect a $2,000,000 hotel on property owned by the insurance company at West Madison and La Salle streets.

$1,500,000 FOR HARBOR AT GREAT LAKES FAVORED

Congressmen Give Pledge to Urge Appropriation.

A pledge they would do all in their power to secure an appropriation of $1,500,000 for a harbor at Great Lakes Naval Training station was given by four members of the naval affairs committee at a banquet tendered Rear Admiral Frederic Brewster Bassett, commander of the station, by the Association of Commerce at the Congress hotel last night.

Congressmen William J. Browning of New Jersey, Fred C. Hicks and Daniel J. Riordan of New York, William Oliver of Alabama, and Fred A. Britten of Illinois arrived in Chicago yesterday on their way back to Washington after eight weeks on the Pacific coast in an examination of its naval needs. The date of the banquet had been set to coincide with their probable arrival and yesterday they first were taken on a tour of the training station and then to the hotel. All proclaimed themselves advocates of the harbor project. Men in training at the station now have to go to Waukegan in motor trucks to embark on Lake Michigan.

Navy Yard on West Coast.

Construction of a navy yard on the Pacific coast and strengthening of its defenses also was pledged by the committeemen.

Admiral Bassett, commandant at the station since February, was in command of the U. S. S. Utah as captain during the war on transport escort duty. He is, at 50, the youngest man holding the rank of rear admiral in the U. S. navy.

He spoke at the banquet of the association of the British and American navies and of the "heroic response of the middle west" to the call of the navy for men.

Speaking of the ties that bind the United States and Britain, he told the audience many of the traditions of the American navy are derived from those of the British.

Marine Ruling Explained.

"The custom which allows a marine to keep his hat on when entering the cabin comes, they say, from an old order in the British navy which was issued after an orderly rushed in to report a fire aboard ship and in his haste neglected to uncover," he said.

The three white stripes on the edge of the gob's blouse collar he traced to a desire of the British navy to commemorate the three victories of Nelson—Trafalgar, Copenhagen, and the Nile. The black tie worn with the blouse originally was worn as mourning for Nelson, he said.

Speakers at the dinner sat on a platform designed to represent the Utah, Admiral Bassett's last ship. Behind them were painted replicas of the turrets of the blue-gray battleship. H. H. Merrick, president of the association, acted as toastmaster.

Congressman Riordan made the trip to the training station with other members of the committee, but was unable to attend the banquet because of injuries suffered in an automobile accident in California.

CHICAGO MARINE SURVIVED EVERY BATTLE BUT ONE

SGT. FRANK J. MONROE

After dodging bullets in numerous battles in the Philippines and in Mexico Gunnery Sergt. Frank J. Monroe, who had served nineteen years with the United States marines, finally "went west" on a battlefield of France. Word that he had been killed was received from the war department by his niece, Mrs. Frank Schmidke, 3559 Medill avenue, and his name appeared in a belated casualty list sent out Sunday.

Sergt. Monroe was well known around Chicago, as he was attached to the marine recruiting office here for two years. He was 36 years old. He enlisted in the "Devil Dogs" in 1900 during the Philippine war and saw two years' service in the Philippine war.

He sailed for France in January, 1918, and at the time of his death was with the One Hundred and Forty-fourth company, Third replacement battalion of the marines.

$15,000 Is Pledged for 5th Loan in 15 Minutes

Fifteen thousand dollars for the Victory loan was pledged in fifteen minutes at a meeting of the Oak Park Sorosis club, addressed by Madeline Jassray, a returned Red Cross nurse. Miss Jassray wears the croix de guerre and has two citations for bravery. She was wounded severely. Her home is at 951 Lake street, Oak Park.

The Kiss Tempting Mouth

Must have pearly white teeth, firm healthy gums, full luscious lips and a sweet, clean breath. A pyorrhetic mouth is embarrassing to both observer and possessor. Keep your mouth sweet and irresistible by using—

PYROS
FOR PYORRHEA

(The Million Dollar Secret Formula)

It is estimated that 75 per cent of all people over 30 have pyorrhea. The disease is not only one of constant misery, annoyance and pain, but it is a menace to general health in addition to being unsightly—even repulsive in its advanced stages.

PYROS is a remedial agent that will allay and remove these unpleasant and baneful conditions. It is a powerful antiseptic and penetrant that will work its way deep into the seat of the trouble where its germicidal effects positively destroy the pyorrhea bacteria that have invaded the tissues of the teeth and gums. And yet it absolutely cannot harm the enamel of the teeth.

PYROS is a perfect mouth cleanser. Used as a dentifrice it prevents pyorrhea and gives one a mouth freshness and sweetness and tooth whiteness never experienced before. Its astringent taste (slightly unpleasant at first) grows on one—like olives. But once accustomed to its use, one will never be without PYROS in the medicine cabinet.

Pyros is positive mouth-health insurance

COMMITTEE ON EFFICIENCY FOR CHICAGO URGED

Ald. Lyle Asks Council to Pattern After the State System.

BY OSCAR E. HEWITT.

The committee on committees has been asked by Ald. Lyle to create a new committee patterned after the state committee on efficiency and economy. His suggestion and argument cover five typewritten pages.

He says: "As a member of the (state) committee I came to believe intensely in its efficacy." He continues:

"In fact, I do not see how the city can longer retain the confidence of the taxpayers unless the council does create within its own official body such a committee."

He asserts that the state committee was the means of "saving millions of dollars to the taxpayers of the state of Illinois, including Cook county." The alderman reasons that if the state committee could consolidate 125 boards and commissions into nine departments, "there is no reason why the city council cannot create a permanent efficiency and economy committee and achieve similar results for Chicago."

Quotes Former Mayor.

"Unless we do," said Mr. Lyle, "we deserve and invite attacks to which we cannot reply," and he asserts 90 per cent of the members of the state house and senate feel that the city of Chicago is not as efficiently and economically administered as it might be."

Lyle quotes former Mayor Harrison as advocating the plan and President Wilson with favoring the general principle.

Another part of the appeal says: "Chicago's present financial condition is undoubtedly responsible for House bill 273. It provides for a state commission on municipal and county expenditures. Why should Chicago fail to take this step herself and thereby make it unnecessary for the legislature to appoint a commission. To permit this is to confess our own apathy and indifference."

The councilman says the council "is not in a position to ask the legislature to repose further confidence in us by granting additional taxing powers," unless the city takes immediate action to reorganize its municipal government. He further argues that such an inquiry is necessary as a preliminary to the constitutional convention.

Appears in Opposition

Ald. Lyle recently had a run-in with Chairman Richert of the finance committee, who also heads the committee on committees, and with Ald. A. A. McCormick.

Lyle's attitude is apparently in opposition to the council's request for financial relief from the legislature. It also probably will not help other legislation desired by the city.

It is admitted the city needs more money for current expenses.

The council Feb. 26 and again on March 13 made an appeal for a city tax rate of $2.36. Certain civic organizations have stood for $2.

On March 28 the council adopted a resolution asking the privilege of greatly increasing the city's bonding power. Money is needed as badly for permanent improvements as for current expenses. At the same meeting the council attempted to throw a wet blanket over the state housing bill. On Jan. 27 the council protested against a bill to change the state plumbing code. On Dec. 23 and again on March 15 the council passed a resolution for home rule of public utilities. These are all in the nature of resolutions.

Approves Charter Change.

In addition, the council approved of a bill on Feb. 18 to amend the city charter by which the city would gain the power to license various occupations. On Jan. 13 a bill giving soldiers and sailors the preference in civil service appointments was approved. On Feb. 10 the city zoning bill received the council's indorsement and on March 13 the council approved of three bills. One provides four year terms for alderman with recall and one alderman for each of fifty wards, another provides for the recall of the mayor, and a third for nonpartisan election of municipal officials. In addition, on the same day the city manager plan was beaten, although advocated in Springfield by civic organizations.

The care of the legislation seems to have been left to Corporation Counsel Ettelson and his assistant, Leon Hornstein. No one else has indicated concern in the matter. Ald. Kostner said yesterday he was selected chairman of a special committee to urge home rule and that alone. Ald. Mulcahy said that he could not stay in Springfield, although he had been asked to do so.

An estate valued at $36,000 was left by Howard H. Spaulding, who died on April 1 without leaving a will, according to papers filed yesterday in the Probate court. The estate, consisting of $35,000 in real estate and $1,000 in personal property, will be shared by Mr. Spaulding's widow, Mrs. Florence B. Spaulding, and their two sons, Leicester C. Spaulding and Howard H. Spaulding Jr.

NEW BASIC LAW UP TO ILLINOIS SENATE TODAY

Opponents of Curtis Bill Will Make Last Stand.

BY E. O. PHILLIPS.

Springfield, Ill., April 8.—(Special.)—A showdown in the senate tomorrow will be had on the constitutional convention bill. The Curtis bill, providing for the election of delegates next September and for the opening of the convention next January in Springfield will be called on its second reading.

The last effort of some of those who are opposed to a constitutional convention of whatever form or organization is to be developed through an effort to postpone the election of delegates until one of the regular elections in 1920 and the consequent postponement of the convention as a substantial and going concern until after the legislative session of 1921.

Labor Men Active.

The big splurge that was to have been made in behalf of the anti-injunction bill, also is likely to be postponed until next week, despite the activity of a formidable labor lobby and the further fact that the state labor party convention is to meet at the state arsenal Thursday. Some of the Chicago Democrats have become aroused, it is reported, to the belief that the candidacy of John Fitzpatrick for mayor, as a labor party nominee, was the inside reason why Sweitzer couldn't get the normal Democratic vote in the usually Democratic labor wards. For such reason there is much talk of "getting even."

There was a slight flurry in the house this morning over the bill that grants soldiers of the late war the same civil service privileges that are given to civilar war veterans. When the affair was ended the soldiers had won overwhelmingly.

Vote on League.

House Democrats caucused tonight and determined to go through with a fight for adoption of the Weismshenker resolution that approves without reserve President Wilson's league of nations.

Representative Tice had passed a resolution backed by the agricultural interests of the state demanding the immediate discharge from the army of all men who came from the farms and who want to get back to the soil for the approaching harvests. Another resolution from the farmers, introduced by Representative Tice, demands the immediate repeal of the daylight saving law, and it went to the agricultural committee, where it is likely to rest.

The senate passed the house bill making the emergency appropriation of $1,600,000 to the state charitable institutions.

The two state teachers' pension bills already through the house were passed by the senate and now go to Gov. Lowden for his approval.

New Jersey Assembly for Eugenic Marriages

No Medicine-Chest Without Its Family Laxative

From the baby to the grandparents a good laxative is the necessary medicine in the little ills. It wards off serious sickness and saves doctor's bills. Many a cold has been prevented from running into grippe and pneumonia by its timely use.

Many a racking headache has been quickly dispelled by it. And it is a laxative rather than a drastic cathartic or purgative that should be in every family medicine-chest, for a laxative can be used at all ages.

Thousands of good American families have for more than a quarter century used a combination of simple laxative herbs with pepsin known to druggists as Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. It is a laxative-tonic that acts on the bowels and stomach. Infants take it with perfect safety, and it is equally effective for grownups.

Grandparents are now seeing their children give it to their babies. It is excellent for all the family in constipation no matter how chronic, indigestion, wind colic, biliousness, headaches, dyspepsia and similar ills.

The druggist will refund your money if it fails to do as promised.

PRICE AS ALWAYS
In spite of greatly increased laboratory costs due to the War, by sacrificing profits and absorbing war taxes we have maintained the price at which this family laxative has been sold by druggists for the past 35 years. Two sizes—50c and $1.00.

Rug section, fifth floor

Oriental rugs, held for years in foreign ports, arrive at last-- the more valuable for the delay

These rugs were in Persia, ready to ship, when war broke out in 1914. The exporter made a strenuous effort to get the rugs out thru other ports—but embargos were being proclaimed every day, and every effort proved unsuccessful until recently, when navigation was resumed.

Now that the rugs have reached us, via Seattle, their value is enhanced by the fact that hereafter oriental rugs will be scarce—for ordinary labor in the orient now is paid twelve times as much as rug weavers were paid before the war—and the rug weaving industry has been drained of its skilled workers thru these new economic conditions. Few rugs are now being woven—and what few we shall be able to get must be much higher priced, owing to the difficulties in the way of securing them. But all these orientals are offered at pre-war prices:

SMALLEST SALES BUILD TALLEST SPIRE IN GOTHAM

Woolworth, 5 and 10 Cent Store Wizard, Leaves Monument.

New York, April 8.—[Special.]—Frank W. Woolworth, merchant and dreamer, who died at his home in Glen Cove, L. I., left as a monument the tallest building in the world, the most beautiful of the turrets in the New York skyline, a fortune of tens of millions of dollars, and the everlasting lesson that even though dreams vanish on wakening they can be made to come true.

The 5 and 10 cent merchandising idea began in Watertown, N. Y. Woolworth believed the same instinct that brings people out of their homes when the peddler's wagon tinkles down the street would bring them to a store showing the same sort of imagination exciting articles for sale.

Value of Fixed Price.

He believed the advertising value of the fixed price of 5 cents for every article when some of the articles were obviously worth 6 cents would sell the whole line.

He had saved $50 when he was 21 years old. He had paid it as an apprentice fee to a Watertown storekeeper, who kept him carpentering packing cases. He went to work for $3.50 a week in another store and finally got a job at $10 a week and began to dream of being a merchant. His salary was cut to $8 because he dreamed too much and sold too little. Nevertheless he married and in spite of that had saved $50 by the time he was 23.

His Start in Utica.

Woolworth with his second $50 persuaded his farmer father to indorse his note for $300 and started a store in Utica. He had paid cash for his stock and had $5 in his pockets when he opened the doors. He had made $1,500 when he found business slackening.

"I always knew when to run," he told his friends since. "I knew when things began to fall off that it meant the idea was all right, but that I was not making the right use of it."

The young man started store after store in various towns of New York and Pennsylvania. He tried the experiment of taking a partner in each city as local manager, looking out for the buying of stocks himself. Some stores did not make money. He closed them and dropped from his methods the details in which the stores differed from those which succeeded.

Patrons His Teachers.

"No man is wiser than his customers," he said. "No matter how wonderful one of my ideas may look to me, it is wrong if the people who pay me to run a store for them do not like it."

By 1886 Woolworth had learned enough about the application of his dream so all the Woolworth stores made money.

Twenty years ago the esthetics were lamenting the horrors of the future of New York's sky line. It started Frank Woolworth to dreaming again. He was laughed at. Cheap candy and tin jewelry did not build "sound realty projects," they said of him in the offices where big buildings are planned. The slender spire which takes the tints of the sky from dawn to dark for the world to look on and marvel is his answer.

A BUSY DAY ON NORTH SHORE

Ye Correspondent Says So, and Submits the Proof Herewith

A MAN dashed into Highland Park yesterday, dashed out, and sped south, for Evanston. He disappeared through the portals of Northwestern university, emerged, and dashed over to the police station. Then he closeted himself in a telephone booth and whispered:

"Central 100. Hello, Tribune? This is your north shore correspondent. Just been rounding up the day's news. Some hot stuff. Ready? All right:

"A strenuous mayoralty campaign is under way at Highland Park. Remember a few days ago the People's Progressive party candidates announced if elected they would serve the city without pay? Well, the present incumbent, John Meyers, who is also city marshal, superintendent of water works, and street commissioner, has his hat in the ring.

"He has the figures to show he will save the city money if reelected—$210 a year more than his rivals. The mayor's job pays $8 a month, which he doesn't collect. That's a saving of $96 a year. The job of city marshal used to pay $90 a month. He collects only $60, thereby saving $30 more a month, or $360 a year. Total, $456.

"Now for the People's Progressive candidates. The mayor would draw down that $96 a year salary and the three aldermen $50 a year, making a total of $246 they would cost the city. Now deduct $246 from $456 and you get $210. That ought to make a good story.

"Here's some from Evanston:

"Thirteen kids raided an ice cream social and dinner at the Second Presbyterian church and carried off two crystal candlesticks. There was great excitement.

"Freshies at Northwestern have been ordered by the upper classmen to wear the little green caps or accept condign punishment. They say there'll be punishment but they won't be among those punished.

"John Chocoloski, who runs a blind pig, tried to lick Chief of Police Leggett and is now convalescing from a broken nose and a couple of missing teeth. His wife said he tried to bite her left ear. She says customers are not allowed to enter his place any more unless vouched for by the Rev. F. Feldheim, pastor of the Church of the Ascension of Our Lord.

"The co-eds won't wear flowers at the junior prom. The committee announces that 'the bouquet worn on the bosom is now as out of place as the tail of a dress coat worn in the hip pocket.'

"Joseph McGrath fired a couple of shots at two men who tried to steal his automobile from in front of his home at 1711 Boomer place. They didn't linger."

The mortality record among Evanston dogs was increased by five yesterday. Detective Sergeant Charles Paasche shot one that snapped at him. A collie belonging to Peter Lark of 1140 Noyes street was shot because it bit two persons. Three dogs died in the Evanston pet store, 1023 Davis street.

Arrest Wrongly Credited, Sergt. Mangan Complains

Detective Sergeant Thomas Mangan, detailed at the Yellow Cab company's garage, 27 East Twenty-first street, because of labor trouble, stated last night that he would complain to Chief of Police John J. Garrity in regard to an arrest he made early yesterday morning, which he found credited to two other policemen.

"After a running revolver battle and a hand to hand fight I arrested Edward Balla, 1504 South Harding avenue, when he attempted to hold up the garage," he said last night. "I turned the prisoner over to Detective Sergeants Wettenhoffer and Berg, and asked them to take him to the detective bureau. Instead they took him to South Clark street, where he was booked as being arrested by them.

"When I wanted to take him to the detective bureau to be questioned by Lieut. John Loftus, I experienced some trouble."

Dollar Bill Saves $35 and Causes One Arrest

Emil Kassow, 1510 Mohawk street, laid $1 on the dining room table yesterday to take to work with him to buy lunch. About half way to his place of employment he remembered the money and started back. As he entered his home two men left by the rear door. He gave chase and with the aid of an iceman captured one. The captive at the police station said he is Phillip Atoreo, 720 Vedder street. He was booked on a charge of burglary. The intruders overlooked $35 in the house.

EAST TO OPPOSE MAKING CHICAGO CONVENTION CITY

Eastern members of the Republican national committee are talking of organizing a fight to take the national convention next year to some city other than Chicago because of Mayor Thompson's re-election.

But they won't succeed, according to Fred W Upham, treasurer of the national committee.

Mr. Upham admitted yesterday that certain members of the committee had written him suggesting that he should not oppose the selection of some other city for the convention. Some of the communications are reported to contain bitter comments on Chicago for what it did on All Fool's day.

Here are well-chosen assortments, whose variety affords modes for morning wear at home, for porch wear, for the many simple occasions that come with summer. And in this same variety are introduced many new details of style and interesting color effects.

Color Effects, New and Novel—

There are plaids of dull rose or canary tone on a gray ground. Lavender printings on rose voiles. Organdies in peach color, with more organdie in Nile green. Designs one has come to know in calico in those clear-cut colorings on fine percales.

Then, of course, there are exquisite shades of blue, rose, green, all white, if one prefers, and darker toned voiles printed in white or old blue foulard figures.

Smart Fashion Details Noted—

Crisp organdie vests, soft tucked voile vestees, black velvet cravats holding together Eton collars. Surpliced bodices, tunicked or tucked skirts. White pique pipings cleverly applied. Every variation of the rounded neckline, as well as "V" necks.

Organdie sashes, black satin girdles and patent leather belts are particularly noted. Often lace frills are used about rounded necklines and on the shorter sleeves.

New Hats in the French Room

A group certain to engage the immediate interest of women who are still undecided about the Easter hat. For it gives introduction to many a charming mode development.

For the First Time Are Presented the New Hats of Batavia Cloth

Often the top is of the Batavia cloth and the facing of crepe, and the shape may be a sailor wreathed about in tiny half-blown roses, as one sees pictured here at the left.

Or again it may be a large drooping brim hat in turquoise tones with crown of mull flowers.

Taffetas and Tulles and Transparencies

The "transparencies" are deep-brimmed hats—black with garlands of flowers or with soft satin-swathed crowns.

Street hats are entirely of taffeta or some with straws and most of them of the sailor sort, very simple and smart.

TOWN AND COUNTRY.

Wayne county, Michigan, containing Detroit, the largest industrial, commercial and social center of the state, voted wet. The state voted to remain dry. The larger the community, the more complicated its life, the greater the vote for wet; the simpler the community—not in intelligence, but in machinery—the greater the vote for dry.

A large number of small communities will carry an issue against a few great communities. The prohibition sentiment is found in the simple social organization of the smaller towns and the rural districts. Chicago voted wet. Detroit voted wet. Rural Illinois probably would vote—we are certain it would vote—just as rural Michigan has voted.

Farmers are notoriously against the demon rum—for several reasons. It is likely to put the help out of business at the time when the help is most needed. A farm hand who is sleeping in a chair in a small town saloon when the harvest needs him most is not a source of joy to the farmer who employs and needs him. One who can do only a half day's work when two days' work is needed in twenty-four hours is not a profitable advertisement of the demon.

The farmer ordinarily can have his home made tipple, if he wants it. His place abounds in the berries and fruits, the juice of which can and will ferment. So long as God makes little green apples and so long as men make cider there will be something which has a kick in it, after a certain length of time—if the owner of the apples and the maker of the cider wants something with a kick.

Where people begin to wind the clock, put out the cat, and lock the doors anywhere between 8:30 and 9:30 p. m. there is not a good deal of social complex. They have not put alcohol into their stomachs and have not brought it into their lives.

There is an industrial, commercial and social gap between the great centers and the smaller communities. It is a gap between habits and necessities and modes of life.

The country is setting the pace for the cities. The cities will adopt the mode of life preferred in the country. Physically it may be a good thing. As a matter of principle we should prefer to have each select the way which seems good to it, or natural to its desires and habits.

But the fact is that the country can outvote the city any time, and whether the city likes it or not the social usage and the habits of the country will dominate if city habits and country habits come into conflict.

The city dweller likes the daylight saving law. We doubt that he will keep it because the rural communities do not want it. It is a good law, in spite of the country aversion to it—or probably that is a city judgment. Anyway, it is a good thing for cities.

LABOR AND BOLSHEVISM.

Of interest to American wage earners is the following remark of Alpari and Sevresi, two of the new bolshevist rulers in Budapest:

"Capitalism, they maintain, is unable to cope with the threat of bankruptcy, high wages, and the unwillingness of laborers to work. They point out that under communism workmen cannot strike and are obliged to accept a reasonable wage."

For months Lenine and Trotzky have been carrying on these principles as a "dictatorship of the proletariat," and we are quite confident that if the Cook county convention of the new Labor party had investigated that dictatorship, its methods, and its results as thoroughly and honestly as the late Socialist congress at Berne, it would not have passed the resolution on behalf of the bolsheviki.

American labor is on the high road of progress. If it wants to turn back to communism because Russia, after centuries of ignorance and stagnation, finds no better way forward, it will commit the greatest folly in the records of human progress. But we do not think American labor is in danger of making such a blunder, even though lack of information and mistaken sentiment tempt it into resolutions contrary to its own interest and inconsistent with its own intelligence.

CLEMENCY FOR DEBS.

Clemency for Eugene V. Debs is opposed by the attorney general on grounds that every real American approves. The advocates of clemency assert that Debs was convicted not for breaking the law but for holding Socialist opinions. They assert this without evidence. The truth is that though Debs and his attorneys tried to divert and confuse the issues, the trial was carefully and scrupulously confined to the legal issues, and on them Debs was convicted by a jury representative of no class, but drawn from the general body of citizenship. The trial was as fair as could be given. But Debs had broken the law, for which he has no respect, and attempted to embarrass the government at a moment of national peril. For this he was convicted and deserved conviction. If law is to be respected in this country, if we are not to revert to anarchy, this penalty should stand.

We do not see how organized labor influence can consistently or intelligently sustain a plea to let Debs off. Organized labor patriotically supported the war. Debs tried to interfere with its support. Organized labor helped to overthrow the kaiser. Debs was one of his many pacifist allies. If Debs was right, organized labor was wrong. If organized labor was right, Debs was knowingly and stubbornly wrong. He is impenitent even today, so far as we know, and there is no excuse for permitting him to escape the lawful consequence of his deliberate acts.

If any one who professes socialism is to be free to defy the law on the theory that his Socialist opinions prejudice juries, the Socialist party will have an addition from the underworld which will do it no good. A black sheep in the ministry might be convicted of crime, but that would not be an attack upon religion. Debs' conviction was that of any other lawbreaker and his offense was grave. There is no ground for clemency in his case so far as we can see.

GETTING WHAT CHICAGO NEEDS.

One of the great obstacles in the way of obtaining adequate legislation for Chicago, whether it be at Washington or Springfield, is the disinclination on the part of our numerous county and municipal agencies to work in harmony to further the common interest. It is almost impossible to get them to present their schemes as part of a consistent program; each delegation wants to get its special legislation enacted without regard to any other consideration.

The result is that the delegation which gets to the legislature first or the one which wields the most political influence usually succeeds, while the others have to take their chances.

Just now the city council, the board of county commissioners, the trustees of the sanitary district, and a number of other public agencies are all making separate trips to Springfield to ask for legislation. The more conscientious legislators naturally complain. How are they to judge of the relative merits of the various proposals if each one is presented to a separate committee and on different days? The needs of a given community ought logically to be considered as a whole; otherwise there is no assurance that nonessential proposals will not be considered at the expense of urgent legislation, or that the various bills if enacted will not overlap one another.

It is suggested that we should have a sort of legislative field day when all Chicago bills, especially those relating to taxation, might be presented and discussed at a designated place and upon a predetermined date. Perhaps two or three days might be required, but the aggregate saving of time both for the legislature and the Chicago delegations would in any event be considerable. The greatest advantage, however, would lie in the opportunity for getting a more consistent and well rounded legislative program for Chicago. We should not wake up at the last moment to find that something essential had been overlooked.

PASS THE GLACKIN BILL.

A measure to validate a supplemental assessment of approximately $2,650,000 to meet the increased cost of the boulevard link is now before the legislature, and in our opinion should be passed. If it fails, the additional cost will have to be met by the city, and this does not square with just principles of special assessment. The improvement paid for will profit abutting property owners fully as much or more than the assessments made against them, and it is just that they should meet their share of its actual cost. That the cost is greater than was expected does not alter the principles which should govern the proportion of payment and the bill introduced by Senator Glackin is based on these principles. It works no hardship on the property owners, whose holdings are to be so greatly benefited.

SOCIAL INSURANCE.

Any legislation designed to establish social insurance would undoubtedly meet with serious opposition. It has never been the policy of the United States to provide insurance against sickness, old age, or possible unemployment, and probably such legislation would be sharply criticized because of its supposed German origin.

The American Association for Labor Legislation, however, is strongly advocating the adoption of some form of social insurance. At the last annual meeting the chairman, Samuel McCune Lindsay of Columbia university, asserted that social insurance was "fundamental and vital to the aims and to the very existence of this association."

Mr. Lindsay outlined the "next practical steps" as follows: First, provision for the most liberal conversion of war risk insurance in order to make certain that the soldiers and sailors are given permanent protection against death and total disability; second, the extension of similar insurance protection to all civilian employés of the government; third, the development of health insurance for all governmental employés and its extension as rapidly as possible to all citizens; and, fourth, the establishment of state administered insurance against accident, invalidity, old age, and death for industrial workers.

This program does not contemplate the abolition of private life insurance companies, though it is obvious that the competition of the state might prove ruinous unless some arrangement were made to protect their interests. Mr. Lindsay suggests that the private companies should be admitted to participation with the government in the new forms of social insurance. In any event the field occupied by the government would necessarily be limited, and the opportunities for the private companies would not be too greatly curtailed.

The establishment of social insurance in the United States might not prove feasible or advisable, but we should recognize that the advocates of humanitarian legislation are insisting some form of public insurance must be adopted if we are to give adequate security and protection to the great mass of industrial workers.

Editorial of the Day

BUSINESS MEN LACK CONFIDENCE.

[New York Commercial.]

American business men are addicted to the vice of canceling orders. Manufacturers book orders for more than they can deliver and their trade customers order more than they can distribute. When the market advances jobbers and retailers demand full deliveries because they have a speculative profit in sight. When the market breaks the buyers cancel orders and then turn round and offer to take what they actually need on a lower basis. The cure for this is simple, but both sides seem to prefer the loose method that has been in vogue for half a century. Had everybody in the dry goods trade known that he would have to deliver or accept goods as ordered, the retailers would have distributed the merchandise without difficulty provided they had not bought for speculation instead of for regular merchandising.

Do business on the basis of the real prosperity that exists. Its foundation is the wealth of the farmers. Agricultural products are firm, with an advancing tendency, and nothing but a general crop failure can shake the stability of the farming business this year.

THE ONLY REAL EQUALITY.

(Pierre Corrard, "La Boheme S'Amuse.")

Philodore. Equality is the most imbecile of ideas. One day I was present at a political meeting. I found myself there because admission was free and outdoors it was bitterly cold. A demagogue was declaiming as follows: "Fellow-citizens, let us divide among ourselves the wealth of the rich; let each one of us take a share and let it be the same for each of us. That will be the dawn of the era of equality." At this I arose and said to him (for it had been announced that discussion was open to all): "Citizen, there is no doubt, after what you have just said, that you are more stupid than I am. Now is it not quite as revolting that one man should be stupid and another intelligent as that one man should have an income of a hundred thousand and another nothing?"

Sainfol. And what did he answer you?

Philorode. He never had a chance. I had scarcely finished speaking when the audience, filled with indignation, began to rain blows upon me and ended by throwing me out. Whereupon I concluded that I was wrong, that there really is something in which all men are equal: Stupidity.

He does not explain, however, what minimum of pilfering is permitted under government control. F. D.

COCA COLA AND COFFEE.

FROM the mail basket I take a letter from an editor asking for an article on coca cola and other caffein containing beverages. The reason for this letter is that he sees nearly every one in his town drinking coca cola, children as well as adults, and he does not think it best for his people. He is the editor of a southern paper.

I have called for coca cola in many towns in different parts of the country. I have never failed to find it on sale except in two towns—Bourbon, Ind., and Rochester, Minn.—and had I searched long enough I might have found it in one or both. It is easy to find it in any southern town that I have ever been in, and in some sections wagons run through the country and sell it on the turnrows in the cotton fields.

Whatever be said against it, the advertising and distribution of the product commands admiration.

I drink a glass of coca cola not infrequently. I do not drink coffee, but whenever I want a dose of caffein I get a glass of coca cola. I take it deliberately as a drug for its effect, and that is the wise way to use it or coffee. It is just because coca cola is unwisely used that I am against it.

It is admitted that coca cola contains about as much caffein as does a cup of coffee. It has not been proven nor is it contended that it contains any other drug.

Let us accept it as proven that most people can stand a daily dose of caffein such as is contained in two cups of coffee for a long time without harm. Then what is the harm in coca cola? The person who drinks coca cola seldom stops with two glasses a day. Many take five and some a good deal more than five. That is indictment No. 1.

Coffee is taken on a full stomach. The dinner coffee is taken at the end of the meal. When so taken it does a minimum amount of harm and after dinner coffee helps the stomach to move an overmeal. When you see a man or woman taking coffee on an empty stomach—for instance, a cup of coffee served before breakfast—look out for nerves and semi-invalidism.

Coca cola is taken on an empty stomach and regardless of meals. Indictment No. 2.

Children are not allowed coffee until they have reached a certain age. It would be better still if the prohibition ran to even maturer years. Children drink coca cola without let or hindrance, without regard to meals, and ofttimes several times a day. Indictment No. 3.

The southern people especially should keep away from drugs. They are the largest users of coca cola. Indictment No. 5.

What is written of coca cola holds just as true of all the caffein containing soda fountain drinks. The best beverage is water. If one wishes to drink soda fountain drinks let him choose the simplest on tap.

SHOULD NOT POULTICE.

C. J. writes: "I am just recovering from a carbuncle that kept me in bed for five weeks, with a nurse poulticing it all the time. I asked my doctor what the cause was, but did not get much satisfaction, only that the poison was in my system and if it had not come out that way might have gone through my system as blood poisoning and have been very serious.

"On Monday, Jan. 20, I drove to St. Andrews, our shore town, twenty miles away. I wore an old fur coat that had been on the job for years. The snow got inside of the collar, so I tied my handkerchief tight outside of the coat collar. The following Wednesday afternoon I felt a small, sharp pointed pimple on the back of my neck. That was the start of the carbuncle. It looks to me as if the bacteria got into my neck by the air shaft route.

"I would like to ask if there is anything that can be applied to the spot when first noticed that will kill the bacteria and keep the carbuncle from forming. Since I had it an old lady sent me word that if I had cut a lemon in two and bound one-half over the spot it would have put it back."

REPLY.

I do not think applying lemon juice would have helped. Some think it advisable to break the skin over the pimple and apply carbolic acid undiluted or tincture of iodine. I hope you will never poultice a carbuncle or boil again.

NECK GLANDS SWELL.

E. H. writes: "(1) What causes the lymphatic glands of the neck to enlarge and become sore, causing choking? (2) Does this condition often go into tuberculosis? (3) What other than the removal of bad tonsils and teeth would help this condition? (4) Would you suggest the removal of the glands, providing treatments did not help? (5) Would the use of iodine be harmful?"

REPLY.

1. Infection. Enlargement of these glands rarely causes choking.
2. In most cases the infection is tubercular from the beginning. Other bacteria, however, infect these glands.
3. Exposure to sunlight, good food, open air, tuberculin.
4. In some cases the glands need to be removed.
5. Iodine locally will do no good. It might do harm. If tried, its use should not be persisted in.

CURED HERSELF.

R. B. writes that she cured an exceptionally obstinate and trying case of hives, the worst she ever saw or heard about, by the following method: No midday meal. In place of eating she drank a half glass of water. For breakfast and supper she ate lightly of easily digested food. This treatment was persisted in for one month before the hives disappeared, but then they went away for good. One day soon after she got excited, mad, and hot, but the symptom did not return.

ANSWERS.

Belle Murray.—The Seventy-second coast artillery has been coming back in small detachments. Companies A, B, C, D, E, and F arrived on the Santa Ana, March 29, in New York.

Carol MacBurney, Evanston—The Sixth United States cavalry is at present in Bordeaux, which is a port of embarkation, but no orders have been given them for sailing.

Mrs. C. M. Johnson—The Eighty-second transportation company landed in New York March 18 on the Giuseppe Verdi.

K. L. Perry—The Five Hundred and Fifth engineers are not with a division, but are attached to the Second army. The latest reported location of this unit is Nancy, France. It has not been cited for return.

M. J. F.—The Fifty-fourth pioneer infantry is in the army of occupation and will not return for some time. It is not attached to a division and is part of the Third army. The Third army is not slated to return in May, but the Thirty-third division, which has been with the Third army, will start for home in May.

Isadore Klockzinsky—None of the Third division, which includes the Thirty-eighth infantry, will come home very soon. The regular army divisions are to remain in the army of occupation.

Charles Carlson, Reynolds, Ind.—The adjutant general of the army, Washington, D. C., can give you the latest report on your son and the reason for his being in the hospital. Base Hospital 85 is in Angers, France. If he has not completely recovered he will very probably return with a convalescent detachment.

The term "Annex" forces is not correct and has no meaning. The soldiers abbreviated the term American expeditionary forces to read "Amex forces," which is sometimes used on the address.

F. R. Parker, Westfield, Ill., and Mrs. Cameron—The Thirty-ninth infantry, Third division, is to remain in the army of occupation. Your nephew's unit, the Twenty-second engineers, is engaged in railway construction work, near Gondrecourt, France. They have not been ordered home.

Miss Bessie Blim—The First army artillery park, less the Third battalion, is to be home in a short time.

Miss G. H.—It is probable that the reason the soldier is not receiving your letters is because you have been sending them to the Luxemburg address but attached only domestic postage. It has been announced to relatives and friends of the expeditionary forces that where the foreign address is used foreign postage must be added or the letters will not be delivered. If the address is written "American E. F., via New York" only domestic postage rates are necessary.

R. Seaton—There have been no plans made for the return of the Twenty-seventh infantry now in Siberia. The adjutant general of the army, Washington, D. C., would be able to give you any report on a member of this unit.

Mrs. J. E. Taylor—No information available regarding the sailing of tank corps, casual Company B.

D. M. Loring—A. P. O. 762 is stationed at Le Mans, which is the location of the army forwarding camp. If your brother has been sent to that camp you may expect to hear that he is to leave for home soon.

P. S. Hollenbeck, Forest Park, Ill.—There has been no date set for the return of the Six Hundred and Forty-second aero squadron. The present location is Issoudon, France.

Mrs. Kate Geraldson, Gladstone, Mich.—The Thirteenth railway engineers have not started for home yet, but have been placed on priority.

M. E. Young, Plymouth, Ill.—The reason that the regular divisions are being held in the army of occupation is because men in the regular army are enlisted for a longer period of time than the men in other divisions.

John Mahon—The adjutant general, U. S. army, Washington, D. C., can give you the names of captured prisoners from any of our units.

Mrs. Ella Davis, Champaign, Ill.—The One Hundred and Sixth ammunition train has been demobilized. It was a part of the Thirty-first division.

WOULD BECOME A CITIZEN.

Chicago, April 2.—[To the Friend of the People.)—I wish to become a citizen. My husband is still living in Europe (he is not a citizen). I came here a few years ago. I am not divorced, but I'm told that I cannot become a citizen as long as my husband lives. Please let me know what I am to do. A. C.

A married woman takes the citizenship status of her husband and may not be naturalized. The only way you can become a citizen is through either a divorce from your husband or his death after which it will be necessary for you to take out naturalization papers. However, should you after securing a divorce or following your husband's death, marry an American citizen you would become a citizen through such a marriage and no naturalization papers would be necessary.

LEASE SHOULD HAVE RENEWAL CLAUSE.

Chicago, April 2.—[To the Legal Friend of the People.]—If a party rents a flat from year to year and is notified March 1 of a raise in rent, sixty days ahead gives his word to stay, then thirty days later is notified the house is sold and is notified to move, is last year's lease binding for the coming year?

2. Won't the verbal consent hold good for same? G. W.

1. Not unless it contains a renewal clause.

TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

Gen. Crowder and Military Justice

New York, April 5.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—On March 21 last Senator Chamberlain of Oregon addressed a public letter to the secretary of war which contained severe criticisms in respect to the administration of military justice, directed not only against the secretary of war but also against certain army officers, including Gen. E. H. Crowder, judge advocate general. On April 2 Senator Chamberlain repeated these criticisms in an address at Natchez, Miss.

A secretary of war can defend himself against such attacks; an army officer, particularly when he is absent from the country on a government mission, as Gen. Crowder now is, cannot. I wish to record my earnest protest against Senator Chamberlain's characterization of Gen. Crowder. There is no man in the American army who less deserves the epithet of "reactionary" than Enoch H. Crowder, and I feel sure that Senator Chamberlain in a calmer moment would admit this.

Ever since he became judge advocate general, in 1911, Gen. Crowder's record has been that of a sincere and effective reformer of the administration of military justice. Within a few months after his appointment he brought to my attention, as secretary of war, the evil conditions which at that time existed in the punishment of military offenders, particularly deserters, in the United States army. These evils existed under and were fortified by acts of congress which made it compulsory for the military courts to treat deserters, even in time of peace, with the utmost severity. By these statutes the deserter was incapacitated for further military service and was disfranchised as a citizen. Gen. Crowder undertook the reform of this system, and by untiring efforts he finally succeeded.

Senator Chamberlain was at that time a member of the military affairs committee of the senate, and should be entirely familiar with the steps by which this great reform was accomplished and know to whom the credit is due.

Simultaneously with this reform Gen. Crowder undertook the revision of our articles of war. I remember well the personal, earnest effort which he gave to that monumental work, and I remember also the repeated discouragements which he met, after he had completed the revision, in getting it to be acted upon by the military committees of congress.

I happen to know also that Col. Ansell, whose present criticisms upon the administration of military justice during the war are so ardently supported by Senator Chamberlain, was during all those years a trusted subordinate in Gen. Crowder's office.

His appointment to that office was made on my order, acting on the earnest recommendation of Gen. Crowder, and I know, from the trust and confidence which Gen. Crowder reposed in him, that had he, during those years, brought forward any of the suggested changes in the law, or the absence of which he now so severely criticizes the judge advocate's department, they would have had the most careful consideration of his chief. Gen. Crowder, in his letter to the secretary of war of March 8, says that during that critical time "none of these new views were advanced by Col. Ansell."

The two reforms accomplished by Gen. Crowder before the war constitute the longest steps forward which have been taken in our system of military justice during at least the last half century. They codified our military criminal law; they standardized the procedure under which our military courts administered that law, and tended to make it uniform and equitable, and, finally, they greatly ameliorated the condition of the military offender, lifted him out of the class of ordinary criminals, and gave him a new chance to regain his manhood and his status as a soldier of the nation.

They were initiated and carried through by the almost unassisted efforts of the judge advocate general, Gen. Crowder, in the face of constant discouragement.

During the present war there have been imposed upon a few military offenders certain sentences of apparently excessive severity, in the shape of long terms of imprisonment. If these sentences were fair examples and typical of the service, and if they were likely to be actually carried into effect, I think there would be no doubt in any one's mind that the administration of military justice during that time had been overharsh and in need of drastic reform. But I believe that neither of these assumptions is correct. Senator Chamberlain first voiced these criticisms in a speech in the senate on Jan. 3 last, in which he took certain cases of alleged great severity as a test and upon them based general charges against our system of military justice. On Feb. 13, in response to a direction of the secretary of war, Gen. Crowder drew up a statement or memorandum containing the statistics of our courts martial during the war, a comparison of their sentences with sentences of civil courts in similar cases, and a careful answer to each one of Senator Chamberlain's specific charges against the system of the military courts. This document has been published in the United States Official Bulletin of March 1, 1919. It is a comprehensive, judicial, and most painstaking paper.

In his recent criticisms of Gen. Crowder Senator Chamberlain nowhere alludes to this document, or attempts to answer any of its statements. I do not think that they can be answered.

In the second place Gen. Crowder points out that even in the few cases of extreme severity and excessive sentences there has been as yet no irreparable harm done. For in our system of military justice we have had, for the last seven years, a system of indeterminate sentences and probation which is in advance of that of almost any state in the union, and under that system these long sentences can be at any time reduced and remitted. Senator Chamberlain has declaimed against the injustice of a twenty-five year sentence for an apparently trivial offense; Gen. Crowder points out that even the twenty-five year sentence is really indeterminate and can be set aside at any time on the offender's good behavior.

He points out, furthermore, that this is actually now being done. There is a clemency board now engaged in reviewing all of these cases of alleged hardship during the war. During the period of the war itself the attention of the war department was quite properly concentrated upon the task of reviewing these sentences, the execution of which, like a sentence of death, would be irreparable. And it has not, so far as I am aware, yet been charged that there has been undue severity in the imposition of the death sentence, even in offenses occurring in the face of the enemy. On the contrary, the number of death sentences imposed during the whole course of the war has been much smaller than in other wars and other armies.

Under these circumstances the uproar about excessive jail sentences really vanishes away into thin air. No offender yet during this war has been confined as much as two years, and the machinery is now in effective operation to review and reduce all cases of excessive severity.

I can only add that my own observation during the war within the rather narrow limits to which it has extended entirely corroborates Gen. Crowder's statement that there has been no real or substantial injustice in the actual administration of military courts martial. I have served in two of our divisions, the Seventy-seventh, under Gens. Bell, Johnson, and Duncan, and the Eleventh division, under Gen. Jesse M. Carter. In each of these divisions it was the earnest effort of the commanding general, enforced by frequent injunction upon all of his officers, that every precaution should be taken against undue severity upon men whose entrance into military life had been recent and whose acquaintance with the necessity of discipline was, therefore, slight.

There has recently been published on April 3 a long letter of Col. Ansell, dated March 11, and addressed to the secretary of war. This letter, while full of animus against and abuse of Gen. Crowder, does not contribute a single new fact as to the actual workings of our judicial system during the war, and makes no answer whatever to the statistics published by Gen. Crowder in his statement of Feb. 13.

A committee has recently been appointed by the American Bar association to investigate this subject. Another investigation is already being conducted by the inspector general's department of the army. Possibly further investigations may be ordered by congress. By one or the other of these channels it is certain that a fair idea of the actual administration of justice during this war can be obtained and reported to the people of the United States in such a way that if evils are discovered they can be remedied by new legislation. But these investigations will not be aided—on the contrary, they will be hindered and thwarted—by intemperate criticisms of individuals and the introduction of partisan controversy into the subject beforehand.

In the case of Gen. Crowder the criticism has been more than regrettable; it has been unworthy. His record as judge advocate general and his later record in this war as provost marshal general have constituted a page in the history of our army upon which we can all look with deep satisfaction and admiration. The faithful army officer gets little reward other than his good name, and when that good name is unjustly assailed the blow really falls upon the credit and honor of the army. HENRY L. STIMSON.

[Mr. Stimson was formerly secretary of war.]

JACKIE LEAPS OR FALLS FOUR FLOORS TO DEATH

Mystery Shrouds Fatal Plunge of Youth After Illness.

Leslie Davis Bonham, an apprentice seaman at the Great Lakes Naval Training station, 19 years old, either fell or jumped from a fourth floor stair railing to the basement landing at the home of his uncle, H. W. Davis, 5445 Drexel avenue, yesterday, and was killed.

The young man left Great Lakes Saturday noon on a thirty-six hour furlough. He went fishing with his uncle on Sunday. He was to have been at the station at 8:30 o'clock Monday morning.

"But Monday morning he complained of a severe headache and shooting pains in his back," said Miss Mattie Weaver, a trained nurse, who rooms with Mr. and Mrs. Davis. "I gave him some medicine and phoned Great Lakes. They said they'd send a doctor, but he didn't come.

Didn't Want to Return.

"Every little while the boy moaned, and he kept repeating, 'I don't want to go back there—I won't go back—I won't.'

"Tuesday he felt better and got ready to go downtown with Mrs. Davis and me. I had called up the training station and they offered to send an ambulance, but Bonham wouldn't have it. He didn't want to go back. He said several times, 'I've just got to go back.'

"He was sitting on the railing, smoking a cigaret, outside the door, as Mrs. Davis and I started. I told him he looked too weak to go back, but he said he would go anyway, that he had to go. First, however, he wanted to say good-by to Mrs. Reedy, Mr. Davis' mother. He seemed to think a great deal of her. Mrs. Davis and I went on, telling him we'd wait for him on the corner."

It was five minutes later that the janitor found the sailor lying on the basement floor, his skull fractured.

Doctor Suggests Accident.

Dr. William Storch, 5414 Drexel avenue, who was called, said it was his opinion the young man had suffered an attack of vertigo, and that he had toppled over the railing and fell through the space between the staircases.

Bonham enlisted Dec. 31, 1918, and arrived at Great Lakes about ten days later. He lived with his mother in Ashley, O. He had enlisted in the army, but his mother had secured his release on the ground that he was too young.

Mr. Davis said the boy joined the navy because he didn't want to go to high school.

The body will be taken to Great Lakes, where a naval court of inquiry will be held.

DR. HYDE SUES NEWSPAPERS ON OLD MURDER CASE

Kansas City, Mo., April 8.—Suit for $1,500,000 against the Kansas City Star today was filed by Dr. B. Clark Hyde, three times tried on the charge of murdering Col. Thomas H. Swope, millionaire, uncle of Mrs. Hyde.

Dr. Hyde also has sued the Kansas City Journal for $750,000 for an editorial which appeared July 8, 1910.

The suit against the Star is based on publication May 11, 1910, of an alleged conversation between nurses and Dr. G. T. Twyman, Col. Swope's physician, following the death of Col. Swope. Dr. Twyman died while a jury to try Dr. Hyde was being impaneled, and efforts of the state to have the alleged conversation entered in the records of the case failed.

The charges against Dr. Hyde were dismissed after his third trial, which resulted in a disagreement by the jury.

U. S. MAY COPY CHICAGO PLAN OF PLACING JOBLESS

Federal Body Will Study the System in Use Here.

The first national step toward solving the problem of reëmployment of fighting men will be taken in Chicago on Friday under the direction of Col. Arthur Woods, former New York police commissioner and chairman of the war department commission appointed to coördinate the country's service to returning soldiers.

Col. Woods and his staff, which includes senior and junior officers, who will be sent to all parts of the United States to aid in placing fighters in proper civilian jobs, will make a detailed study of the Chicago coöperative service plan carried out in the "bureau of justice" headquarters, 120 West Adams street.

Will Proceed to Coast.

After inspection Friday afternoon, conferences with Gen. Leonard Wood and his central department officers, lectures by employment and vocational training experts, and a study of the employment situation in Chicago and the middle west, the war department representatives will proceed to the coast.

Then the "job students" will be assigned to cities and towns to aid existing organizations in bringing the warriors back into industry.

New Record Set.

"We set a new job record for Chicago today," declared Maj. John Bonner last night. "Seventy-two of the first 100 returned fighters who registered for jobs during the day are at work in jobs they are best fitted for. Ten who were referred to jobs failed to report back after going to see the employers, and only four men found the positions we sent them to filled. Seven were not qualified for the jobs they were sent to. Seventy-one per cent placements is a record that few employment experts in the country equal."

Job for Wounded Man.

"THE TRIBUNE told a story this morning about Sidney Novotny, a wounded soldier who took out his final citizenship papers but couldn't find a job," remarked Dudley Walker, bureau manager. "We went out and found him today and he'll have a job tomorrow. We have already written a letter to the Dauchy Iron works, where he formerly was employed, asking them to take care of him."

COURT REFUSES TO AID FIGHT ON SCIENCE CHURCH

Boston, Mass., April 8.—Judge Loring in the Supreme court today refused an injunction that would require the directors of the Christian Science church of Boston and the trustees of the Christian Science Publishing society to restore to the authorized list the First Church of Christ, Scientist, of Nashville, Tenn., and Henry M. Mason and Annie Q. Mason, practitioners. The list of recognized churches and practitioners is published in the Christian Science Journal.

Some time ago the directors of the mother church in Boston decided that the Masons and the Nashville church were not in harmony with the tenets of Christian Science, and they were dropped. The plaintiffs claimed violation of contract.

The court said that it appeared to be a question of doctrine, rather than one of contract, and that an injunction would not be issued, at least until there had been a hearing on the facts.

$700 CHURCH CANDLESTICKS STOLEN.

With the arrest of John Dombrowski, janitor of St. Almanea's Polish Roman Catholic church, One Hundred and Eighteenth street and Indiana avenue, yesterday, it became known that Sunday night after the vesper services some person entered the church and stole gold candlesticks valued at $700. Dombrowski denied he was implicated.

HOPE SPRINGS IN VAIN IN BREAST OF FLAT SEEKER

But Cheer Up, All Ye of Slender Purse; There'll Be Relief in 1920!

Where, O where, has the "For Rent" sign gone? Why has it vanished? What is the solution to the problem presented by the dearth of flats and houses? Will conditions grow better or worse this year?

A reporter tackled the situation. No need to get the prospective renter's viewpoint. He had acquired that already after spending many fruitless hours flat seeking. He had found a scattering of vacant places he did not want. And yesteryear's $35 flat was now a $40 apartment and so on up.

So he visited the renting agents in their lairs. He found them smoking big black cigars where formerly flourished stogies. One by one they answered his questions, varying in opinion here and there, but agreeing on the big issues.

Where has the "For Rent" sign gone? It's down in the basement with the high priced janitor, near the precious coal pile.

Flats Scarce as Robins.

It may occasionally be seen on the west side. It is more or less frequently visible in nearer sections of the south side. It may be found on the lower north side—in short, the only flats for rent are old fashioned or more or less out-of-date ones.

Far north and far south and in the better built and more modern districts of the great west side, "For Rent" signs are as scarce as that other harbinger of spring—the robin in the city. The house situation is the same.

Why has it vanished? It has gone because there has been practically no building of apartment houses since 1916, when material and labor were kited skyward in cost. During the war building restrictions added to the difficulties. A year ago thousands of families had broken up housekeeping because male members had gone to war. This left an easy situation for the flat hunter.

More Building Is Solution.

But the men are back again. With them, perching high on a uniformed shoulder, is D. Cupid, urging them to carry out that promise of a cozy flat made to the girl he left behind. On their return the pendulum swung back, and with a vengeance.

What is the solution? Well—the renting agents scratched puzzled heads here—more building is the only solution. How get more building? Lower the price of materials and labor!

There was a difference of opinion on this point. One classe of agents wanted things put to the public in a serious light so that builders would get busy and put up new dwellings. Another class was afraid of this very thing—afraid that such a rush of building would come that real estate prices would be knocked down in a panic.

Predicts Remodeling.

A third viewpoint was that of L. M. Smith, former president of the Renting Agents' association.

"Don't get the people excited," he warned. "Nobody will have to sleep out of doors. What will happen is this: We are going to see the renovation and remodeling of thousands of old houses and flats.

"Because agents were giving new apartments at concessions and cheap rents people moved from the old flats and houses. The servant and coal problems figured in the house situation. Hundreds of these places, good habitable dwellings, have been vacant for years simply because people could get modern flats at low rentals.

"Now there is going to be a move back toward these older flats and houses. The owners are assured of better rents. They can afford to redecorate. The people, unable to get new flats and houses, are going to be forced to take the old ones. It will iron itself out gradually and real estate values will become fair and stable."

Will conditions grow better or worse this year? There is only one answer—worse, decidedly worse. Every agent shook his head dolefully when he said it. Worse, worse, worse! Why? Because there can be no building done between the May and October renting seasons. Few or none are started now.

"If the people think they are up against it, let them wait until October" said Adolph Kramer, a vice president of the Chicago real estate board. "There will be practically nothing for them then.

"The expansion which has caused the present situation will have continued throughout the summer. Thousands of young couples will want to go to housekeeping. Buildings, if started now, will not be ready then. I can see no relief before next spring."

The canvass of real estate men brought out a few additional opinions. Among older houses and flat buildings the vacancy percentage is about 10. In the better neighborhoods it ranged downward from two to nil. Real estate values are going up. Rents are going up. Building operations next year will be extremely heavy.

MODEL MYSTERY PROVES SIMPLE WITH ALL KNOWN

Here's the end of that model mystery:

Yesterday THE TRIBUNE printed two pictures. One of them had been in the files, labeled "Sophia Chlavin, model." The other was of Sophia Chlavin, 3600 Douglas boulevard, bride-to-be. Sophia's mother said her daughter was not a model; that there was another Sophia Chlavin, a cousin, who was a model. Mrs. Irving Chlavin, Sophia's aunt, 2636 Potomac avenue, asserted there was but one Sophia.

The picture of the bride—she married Ross E. Wright of Minneapolis yesterday at Temple Judea—was printed alongside the picture of the model.

Attorney Philip R. Davis, with offices at 69 West Washington street, now writes to say the picture of the model was that of Miss Fay Zucker, 4554 South State street, a young woman acquaintance of Miss Chlavin—or rather, Mrs. Wright—who had been mistaken many times for Sophia.

And Dr. David Chlavin, son of Mrs. Irving Chlavin came into THE TRIBUNE office to say that there is but one Sophia Chlavin, that his sister Bernice is her only cousin, and she's not a model.

Well, there's no Sophia Chlavin in Chicago at all now; the girl who used that name is going to be a model wife.

He'll Probably Linger Around a While Now

This time Frank Hanson probably will serve out his full sentence at the Joliet penitentiary. He was arrested yesterday while trying to cash a worthless check at the Woodlawn Trust and Savings bank. It was found that he was sentenced six years ago for burglary, and that he had been three times released on parole and had violated the conditions each time, by passing worthless checks. He will be sent back again. His sentence was for six years.

GARRITY OFFERS HONOR SQUAD FOR SOLDIER DEAD

Chief of Police Garrity will do all in his power to see that Chicago military heroes have proper burials if he is notified of deaths in Chicago of army men.

"I read where a complaint had been made that a hero was buried without a firing squad," said Chief Garrity. "If I am notified of such deaths I will provide a firing squad of policemen, all ex-soldiers. There need be no more complaints from any one on this score. Just let me know, that's all."

Col. Le Roy T. Steward of the reserve militia favors employing ten soldiers, a sergeant, and bugler to serve at military funerals, to be attached to some bureau where bereaved relatives could apply.

Gen. James E. Stuart stated that several organizations indicated to him yesterday they were ready to cooperate in any feasible plan.

An exceptional value is the tricotine Coat at the left of the group at the right, with cape—collar and cuffs inlaid with tricolette, special at $57.50.

Crystal-cord Wraps—Exceptional—$67.50

Capes of Irish Hand-loom-Woven Tweeds, $25

Ideal for travel and motoring wear, trimmed with very good buttons, amply pocketed, with long belted coat fronts to make them practical for country and "knock-about" wear.—No more of this fabric is to be had.

Capes in Charming Styles—$30 to $295

Satin Wraps—$50

Exclusive Novelties

"One-of-a-style" Wraps—so delightful women who are planning over-Easter sojourns at fashionable resorts will surely wish to include them in their Spring wardrobes.

A Novel Cape—$67.50

Originality Dominates a Wrap—$80

Beautiful Soft Evora Wool Wraps—Special $87.50

Sketched and described are only a few examples of the abundance of new modes now here. The prices are very attractive. You will say so, too, when you have seen the Wraps.

Smart Frocks for Spring Street Wear

APRIL sunshine has already proved itself warm enough to encourage the appearance of smart one-piece Frocks on the boulevards. Those sketched at the right and the left of the group are especially good. Either would be smart with a little "choker" fur scarf.

Tricotine—$60

Tricolette—$75

A panel breaks the line at the front and gives a slimness which most women will like. Cross-braiding is much favored, so that this long front panel is very much braided. A tailored little bow with long tab ends makes the back view equally interesting.

Women's Frocks, Sixth Floor, South Room

A Tuxedo Trimness Pervades the Suit

ONE of the articles of dress quite indispensable to Spring and Summer wardrobes is the Suit. One is illustrated at the center, made of fine tricotine, with a white silk vest for Spring charm. $85.

Silk Braid Is Admirably Employed to outline the graceful, flattering line of the long roll collar, which is retained beneath linked buttons. The silk braid again appears on the pockets and to outline the plaits at the back.

There Are Many Other Suits $47.50 and Up

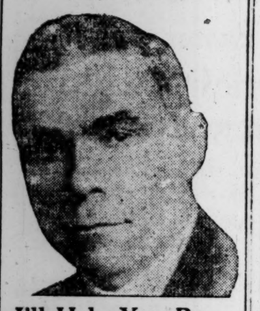

Selected and admitted to this stock primarily for their good tailoring and excellent materials. For "knock-about" wear there are many trim wool jerseys. Tricolette Suits are delightful for Summer wear.

Women's Suits, Sixth Floor, South Room

Clearing Leather Gloves at $1.35 This is a much lower than common price on leather Gloves, made to effect the immediate clearance of odds and ends. All white Gloves, and white embroidered with black, are to be had. Included, too, are many light mastic and other Eastertide tints.

$425,000,000 PLAN URGED BY HIGHWAY COUNCIL

National Body, Meeting Here, to Pull Country Out of the Mud.

The whole country is going to be pulled out of the mud during the reconstruction days if plans laid down yesterday by the federal highway council, launched at the Congress hotel, are carried to fruition.

The new organization, which is to act in an advisory capacity to civic and governmental bodies in all states of the union, starts with the indorsement of representatives of 340 agencies which have been urging the building of hard roads.

The first concerted drive to arouse the country to the proper pitch will be the backing of the Townsend bill, now pending in congress. It provides for an appropriation of $425,000,000 for national highways. This sum, if set aside by the national lawmakers, is to supplement the state and local bodies which have been working on a scheme of coördination that will link the whole nation in a big highway building drive.

Plan World's Best System.

The Townsend bill appropriation alone would build two sets of highways in every state in the union, in addition to the construction work now in progress under state and municipal supervision. By hooking up all these efforts and working to a general plan the backers of the new council believe that the United States, in a very few years, would have the best highways system in the world.

Of almost as great importance as the highways themselves just at this period would be the opportunity afforded by more than 30,000 workers on the national plan alone. The scope of the undertaking would afford positions for the many employés for a period of several years, and would add that much to the general scheme of supplying employment to returning soldiers and sailors, and thus help to relieve the pressure on the labor market.

A nation-wide propaganda will be launched at once and then the council will ask all boosters to train their guns on the national capital and demand that congress take this step contemplated by the Townsend bill.

Officers Elected.

President, S. M. Williams, Lima, O.; secretary-treasurer, H. G. Shirley, Baltimore, Md.; vice presidents, Gen. T. Coleman Du Pont, Wilmington, Del.; David Jamison, president American Automobile association; Col. C. Clifton, president National Automobile Chamber of Commerce, Cleveland, O.; Louis J. Hill, Great Northern railway, St. Paul, Minn.; A. H. Blanchard, president American Road Builders' association, New York.; C. F. Adams, president Associated Highways, Chillicothe, Mo.

M. O. LEAGUE MAKES PROTEST

The Chicago Municipal Ownership league has sent a communication to Sen. Lowden and members of the legislature protesting against the development of water power along the Desplaines and Illinois rivers by private interests.

It suggests that if the state and local municipalities are not in a position to carry out the development, then it should be turned over to the sanitary district. In the event that that body cannot undertake the work then any lease made to private corporations should provide short term leases and include a provision whereby the state could take over the property on a public ownership plan by giving notice one year in advance of the time set for acquiring the properties.

Faherty Figures City's Annual Bill at $8,000,000.

M. J. Faherty, president of the board, explained that the paving bill will average about $8,000,000 a year. He said this was not reached last year because of war conditions. He said he hoped now to get all possible work under way.

STANDARD OIL'S GOOD BEHAVIOR MAY END INQUIRY

Many business practice abuses alleged against the Standard Oil Company of Indiana in charges filed by the federal trade commission a year ago and held in abeyance until the end of the war have been corrected, according to Col. William T. Chantland, counsel for the commission. As a result the planned hearing before an examiner may be done away with.

Col. Chantland made the assertion yesterday after the hearing had been postponed until Friday. He said the company, like many others, had benefited from its war experience and that there was now a stricter adherence to the government rules.

In the charges which were called up for hearing yesterday, the Standard Oil company was accused of having forced jobbers and other handlers of petroleum products to use Standard goods exclusively. The methods alleged to have been used included refusal to sell in carload lots at tank wagon prices to jobbers who did not handle their products exclusively; refusal to sell to independent jobbers and wholesalers in certain localities.

Another practice complained of was the maintenance of high prices in some localities and low prices in others.

"The company has corrected the greater part of the abuses complained of in the charges," Col. Chantland said. "I have asked the company to plead guilty to the charges so that we may be spared the enormous expense of bringing witnesses here from western points. The company has not shown a disposition to do so, but this will come up Friday when the hearing is again taken up."

Captain, Devotee of Khaki, Is Sued for Divorce

Franklin M. Cobb, once arrested because he wore the khaki too long after he had been discharged, was sued for divorce yesterday by Mrs. Isabel Flannigan Cobb, who asserts that her husband has another wife some place. Cobb was a captain in the army and before he went into service made a name as a star Liberty bond salesman.

NEAR DEATH, SHE FEARS TO TELL OF BROKEN VASE

A big steel vase, mounted on a stone pedestal in the yard of the McCormick seminary, fractured the skull of Ethel Andus, 10 years old, foster daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Breidt, 811 Belden avenue. That was learned yesterday after the child had been taken to the Children's Memorial hospital.

She was climbing up the pedestal when the vase tottered and fell. She did not tell her parents because the vase was cracked and she was afraid she might be punished.

Her companions, Goldie and Eugene Bain, also kept silent about the vase for the same reason. They told the story yesterday. Ethel is in a serious condition and the doctors do not believe she will recover.

DELANEY DEAD WHEN PLACED IN WATER, BELIEF

Coroner's Physician Finds No Indication He Was Drowned.

Coroner's Physician Joseph P. Simonds, making a microscopic examination of the body of Michael Delaney, former "king of newsboys' alley," yesterday found the lungs were moist, but did not contain much water.

If Delaney had drown his lungs would have been filled with water. Members of his family, therefore, are more positive than ever he was murdered, and thrown into the water.

The body was found in the lake Monday night by members of the coast guard at the mouth of the river. It was identified through a retired policeman's star. This was the first news of Delaney the family had received in more than two months.

They last saw him Feb. 1, when, with about $200 in his possession, he was going to make a payment on a home. The pocketbook which contained the money was found two days later, empty. With it was a bank book.

Sons Hold Murder Theory.

At the inquest yesterday, Delaney's sons, Edward, Joseph, and William, testified they believed he was slain by robbers. He was deeply religious, they pointed out, and would not have committed suicide. It could not have been an accident, they said, because of the empty pocketbook.

They declared that for seven months he had been living apart from their mother.

He was not estranged from her, quite the opposite, they said. But he didn't like to be idle. He had retired from the police force nine years ago, his wife having inherited a fortune, had traveled, and enjoyed the luxuries of wealth.

Missed Fighting Sons.

Then came the war; his three sons went into the service. The old man missed them. There was nothing for him to do. Wealth meant little, after all. He got a job as night watchman, and went to live at 159 East Ohio street.

His wife and daughter, Mary, lived at the Plymouth hotel, but Delaney didn't want to live there. One couldn't go into a fashionable hotel every day in working clothes—too many busybodies—too much talk, the sons pointed out.

With the war over and the boys coming back, things would be different, the family would be reunited, and would need a new house, as they had sold the place in Winthrop avenue.

Was Planning for Boys.

"Suicide," said William, "was the farthest from dad's thoughts. You see how he was planning for us. He was to meet Joe on Feb. 2 and take him to lunch. Mother wasn't much worried over his disappearance for a few days. He frequently had taken little trips without saying anything to us. But when she had no word of him in five days she notified the police."

The body had been in the water about two months.

Dr. Simonds found no bruises upon the face and scalp, nor any lacerations or fractures. The mark on the forehead which had been taken for a possible wound, turned out under the microscope to be a crease in the discolored flesh.

There had been no hemmorhage inside the skull. Two ribs on the left side had been fractured near the spine, but there was no bruise on the skin. It was regarded possible Delaney had fractured his ribs some time ago and was unaware of it.

The stomach has been turned over to Coroner's Chemist W. D. McNally, and until chemical analysis is made there can be no definite conclusion as to the cause of death.

The funeral will be held tomorrow from the residence of Mr. Delaney's sister, Mrs. James Cuttle, 4041 West Congress street. Services will be held in St. Thoma of Canterbury's church with burial in Calvary.

ALDERMEN WANT $10,000,000 GAS SUIT PRESSED

Richberg Tells Them It Will Take Three to Five Years.

Chicago's city council will continue vigorously to prosecute the suit against the Peoples Gas Light and Coke company to recover upward of $10,000,000 in alleged overcharges.

This was indicated yesterday when the city council committee on gas litigation met to receive a report from the council's special gas counsel, Donald R. Richberg, on the action of Circuit Court Judge Torrison in ruling that the suit could proceed, instead of being thrown out of court, as attorneys for the gas company asked.

Mr. Richberg did not hold out any hope to the aldermen for speedy final adjudication of the case. He said it would take from three to five years to carry the case to a conclusion. This provides for carrying the suit through the Circuit, Appellate, and Supreme courts. The suit was started in 1911.

Asks for Coöperation.

Mr. Richberg asked for coöperation between the council, Mayor Thompson, and the city law department in carrying out the suit. He intimated that Corporation Counsel Ettelson, who opposed his views on the gas litigation, might resign, but offered nothing to substantiate this opinion.

The committee directed its chairman, Ald. H. D. Capitain, to bring all the facts before the mayor and the corporation counsel and get their opinions as to continuing the suit. The aldermen want the suit prosecuted, but desire to have the administration cooperate.

Before Utilities Board.

While the aldermen were in session A. S. B. Little, gas engineer for the state public utilities commission, was a witness before the commission in its second day's session on reopening the 7½ per cent increase in rates allowed the company last summer. The indications are that the commission may revoke the increase.

Mr. Little again scored the gas company's method of accounting. He cited several instances showing that monthly bills had been marked "no adjustment, all bills paid," which, he said, showed that the company made it a policy not to bother about verifying accounts of customers who paid their bills without complaint.

Mr. Little also cited several instances of where the company had shut gas off in places where bills were disputed. He said that was in direct violation of the company's agreement not to do this. He said the commission had to order the gas turned on in several instances.

Several parts of Mr. Little's testimony were favorable to the company. He declared the company had not failed to adjust any bill brought to its attention by the commission. He said these were promptly dealt with. Mr. Little also admitted that the method now used by the commission's men in figuring adjustmnets was suggested by the company, and that it was an improvement on the commission's own method. Mr. Little said the volume of complaints against the company was daily decreasing.

Mr. Little admitted that several of the complaints he outlined had not yet been investigated. He said a complete inquiry might change the complexion of these complaints.

Gas of Good Quality.

Most of the complaints against the company, Mr. Little said, were because of excessive bills. He said there were hundreds of complaints about poor quality of gas, but that these had to be thrown aside as untrue.

Mr. Little read dozens of complaints during his testimony. The company's representatives indicated that all these would not reflect against the company when they had an opportunity to explain the complaints from the company's standpoint.

"The mere fact that complaints are made," said Timothy Mullin, of counsel for the gas company, "is no evidence that everything the gas company does is wrong. We ask that with the reading of the complaints by Mr. Little something be offered by him to show that the complaints are well founded.

"The company is in the habit of sending out its bills promptly. To stop this suddenly would throw the company's accounting system into a hopeless tangle."

Commissioner Walter A. Shaw questions Mr. Mullin's logic. He said he did not see how holding out a few old bills would interfere with the bookkeeping methods.

Mr. Richberg also took a shot at some of the company's accounting methods.

Mr. Shaw also commented on the company's threats to shut off gas for nonpayment of merchandise accounts.

LEMONS

Wife Ate 'Em "in Company" and Threw 'Em at Him, Too, Says Husband.

WHEN Louis Manilow, a young dentist, recently discharged from the army, was arraigned before Judge Sheridan E. Fry in the Court of Domestic Relations yesterday on a charge of nonsupport, he declared his wife, Marie, "humiliated him by eating lemons in the presence of company."

"She always was eating lemons when we had company, and one night when I told her to stop, her answer was to throw one of the lemons at me. Also she called me a lemon," he told the judge.

Mrs. Manilow explained she was eating a lemon to cure a sore throat. She denied being "addicted to eating lemons."

"You don't look to have a sour disposition," said Judge Fry.

"I haven't, but he has," retorted Mrs. Manilow.

"Pay her $8 a week," the court told Manilow.

RUMOR OF COUP AGAINST M. V. L. KNOCKED IN HEAD

"A special meeting of the city council will be called in a few days.

"The meeting will be held before the new council slate is submitted, so there is a chance of knocking out the Municipal Voters' league's recommendations on nonpartisan organization of the council."

This rumor spread throughout the city hall yesterday. It looked like a serious piece of news. The special meeting was to be called prior to April 28, the inaugural night for the new council, so the newly elected aldermen could legally qualify under a state law which compels them to qualify within ten days of their official notice of election.

The rumor was knocked in the head, however, by the simple statement from the city clerk's office that all a newly elected alderman had to do to qualify was to come to the city clerk's office and be sworn in. There is an almost forgotten state law which requires the ten day qualification, but County Judge Scully said he did not believe any one would revive the law.

IF HIS NAME EVER GETS OUT HE'LL GET RICH

It concerns a recipe for making whisky and a man who neglects to support his wife. Officers of the court yesterday refused to reveal the identity of the man, whose wife says he makes five gallons of whisky every two weeks and then stays drunk for a similar period of time.

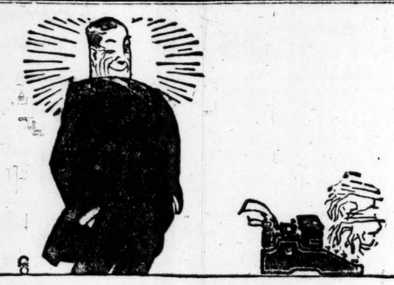

"He has been running a still ever since there was talk of the nation going dry," the wife told an attaché of the court.

"He has a recipe which he says is better than the whisky made in the distilleries. He says the whisky he makes is 100 per cent straight.

"Ever since he started making his own whisky about three months ago he has seldom drawn a sober breath and he won't work. I don't know whether he sells some of the whisky he makes."

ACCIDENT VICTIM DIES.

Mrs. Mary Dillon, 56 years old, 3435 Franklin street, died in St. Anthony's hospital yesterday of injuries suffered Sunday night, when she was struck by a street car.

Poor tired feet -

POUNDING nail-studded leather heels on hard pavements all day robs you of energy you need. Every step is a shock not only to your feet, but also to your entire system. Every shock consumes your energy and produces fatigue. It adds just that much more to the strain of your daily life.

You can protect yourself from these useless shocks. You can cushion your feet against these daily jolts and jars. O'Sullivan's Heels absorb the shocks that tire you out. They relieve the jolts and jars that make a burden of walking.

Rubber, as you know, can be made hard and brittle as in fountain pens, or soft and crumbly as in pencil erasers. To secure the resiliency and durability of O'Sullivan's Heels, the highest grades of rubber are "compounded" with the best toughening agents known. The "compound" is then "cured" or baked under high pressure.

By this special process the greatest resiliency is combined with the utmost durability.

It is this special process that has, since the making of the first rubber heel, established O'Sullivan's Heels as the standard of rubber heel quality.

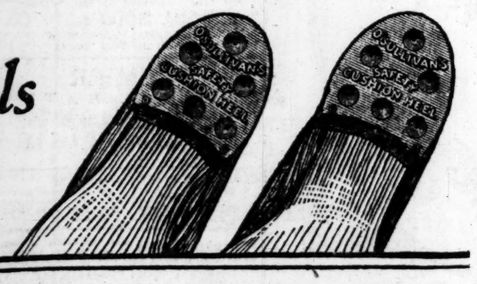

O'Sullivan's Heels are guaranteed to wear twice as long as ordinary rubber heels; and will outlast three pairs of leather heels.

Go to your shoe repairer today and have O'Sullivan's Heels put on your shoes.

O'Sullivan's Heels are furnished in black, white or tan; for men, women and children. Specify O'Sullivan's Heels, and be sure that you get O'Sullivan's—avoid the disappointment of substitutes.

FAIL TO REDUCE PRICE OF SAND, GRAVEL, STONE

Industrial Body Asserts Competition Bars Standard Costs.

[BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.]

Washington, D. C., April 8.—[Special.]—Attempts to stabilize or reduce prices of sand, gravel and crushed stone were abandoned today by the industrial board of commerce. A formal statement was issued, following a number of conferences held during the last few weeks.

"In relation to sand, gravel, and crushed stone," the statement says, "the industrial board announces that owing to the large number of firms and individuals engaged in the business, and the local character of their operations, competitive conditions within the industry are so definite and so persistent that nothing more can be done by the board than to recommend a continuation of the practice of competitive bidding in governmental purchases."

Peek Meets Hines.

George N. Peek, chairman of the industrial board, conferred today with Walker D. Hines, director general of railroads. Conclusions reached by Robert S. Lovett and Henry Walters, Mr. Hines' advisers, who met with the industrial board on Saturday, were under discussion.

Mr. Peek and Mr. Hines failed to reach an agreement in the controversy involving the price of steel rails, as approved by the industrial board. They will meet again on Thursday.

Unable to Agree.

While the conferees would not discuss what took place, all indications were that neither was willing to abandon his view, Mr. Hines holding that the prices are too high, but failing to convince Mr. Peek.

The opinions of Mr. Hines and Mr. Peek are so far apart that there seems little likelihood of any settlement of the difficulty.

The above injunction to Mr. Motorist by the conservative, unselfish, far-seeing business men is of the same spirit that inspires the advertisements of Weed Tire Chains which prevent thousands of accidents and save thousands of lives.

For a number of years we have advertised the fact that the chief cause of automobile accidents is skidding and that Tire Chains are the only mechanical device that is absolutely dependable to make slippery roads safe. But printers' ink does not seem to make any impression on some drivers.

Only two things can reach and weed out the driver who persists in driving with chainless tires on wet-slippery-skiddy-roads—fear of the law and the mighty power of public opinion. Help us chain him to safety.

HOW do thousands of women make such rich, light cake and pastry—the kind that melts in your mouth? They use Mazola—the wholesome shortening oil from corn.

Mazola is not only better than solid fats for shortening—it is more economical. It is 100 per cent pure fat while some shortenings have 20 per cent water. Use ¼ to ⅓ less Mazola than of butter or lard. Being an oil it can be measured exactly.

Try it for deep frying, sautéing and salad dressings too. Better food value at less cost. Your grocer has Mazola in pint, quart and gallon cans. Get a can today.

ILLINOIS TRUST, MERCHANTS LOAN BANKS MAY UNITE

Consolidation Would Make $192,000,000 Total in Deposits.

BY EUGENE HECTOR.

Several informal conferences have been held between some of the officials of the Illinois Trust and Savings bank and the Merchants Loan and Trust company, at which there was a recognition of tentative consideration of the suggestion to merge the two institutions. While the result of these preliminary talks cannot be reported as a fact, still nothing has been decided, though there appears to be a possibility later on, of something final.

E. D. Hulbert, president of the Merchants Loan and Trust company said yesterday:

"This matter has been talked of at times for three or four years. It is now in a very indefinite state. I trust that none of our stockholders will be influenced by the present rumors to begin buying or selling the shares. It is about an even chance so far as I can see, that something will or will not be done."

Hold Joint Option.

The conferences took place just before John J. Mitchell, president of the Illinois Trust and Savings bank left for California last February. About that time consideration was given of the fact that the option which the present lessees have on the Grand Pacific hotel property, which adjoins the Illinois Trust, will shortly expire and that the property was about to be released for a period of fifteen years. In order to be able to provide adequate room for the two banks should they be merged, they jointly took an option on the property, which option will expire on July 1.

Chauncey Keep and John G. Shedd are directors in both the Merchants' Loan and Illinois Trust. It was their mutual interest in the two institutions that, it is understood, brought about the revival of the merger suggestion. So far as could be learned an amalgamation of the banks would mean that Mr. Hulbert would be president of the institution and Mr. Mitchell chairman of the board.

Joint Deposits $192,000,000.

The combined figures of the two banks would, according to their latest reports, March 4, result in total deposits of around $192,000,000; an ultimate capital of about $10,000,000 and surplus of $20,000,000, making an exceedingly strong institution. Each bank enjoys the highest rank and both are large money earners.

A consolidation of the institutions would in a number of respects, work out a fine combination. The Illinois Trust has a large volume of savings deposits—$49,000,000, while the Merchants Loan has a smaller volume—$30,000,000.

On the other hand the Merchants Loan has a large commercial business, while the Illinois Trust has but recently inaugurated that department.

Under Mr. Hulbert the Merchants Loan has had a steady growth and the Illinois Trust has the largest volume of savings deposits in the west.

Summary of Standing.

Following is a summary of the capital, surplus, undivided profits, loans, and deposits of the two institutions as reported on March 4:

	Illinois Trust.	Merchants' Loan.	Both.
Capital—	$ 5,000,000	$ 3,000,000	$ 8,000,000
Surplus—	11,000,000	9,000,000	20,000,000
Undivided profits—	502,853	1,053,000	1,555,000
Deposits—	102,328,000	88,888,000	191,121,000
Loans—	89,198,000	84,952,000	134,146,000

For the purpose of further comparison of the position which the consolidated bank would occupy, the following accounts of the Continental and Commercial National and the First National are presented:

	Capital.	Surplus and profits.	Deposits.
Continental—	$21,500,000	$15,738,000	$306,292,000
First—	10,000,000	14,337,000	206,351,000

Huge Building Proposed.

The building plans, so far as they have been given consideration, involve the construction of an office building as high as the city ordinance will permit, on the ground now occupied by the Grand Pacific hotel. The alley between the hotel and the Illinois Trust is a private one and can be vacated.

It is proposed not to alter the Illinois Trust building but to join to it the new office building, so as to give a banking room one block long, fronting on La Salle street, Jackson boulevard, and Clark street.

The combined figures of the two institutions would rank second to the Continental and Commercial National in capital, surplus, and undivided profits, but according to the figures just quoted the deposits would be $15,000,000 smaller than those of the First National, now $206,351,628.

It is expected further conferences will follow the return of John J. Mitchell from California.

METHODISTS TO USE $25,000,000 HELPING EUROPE

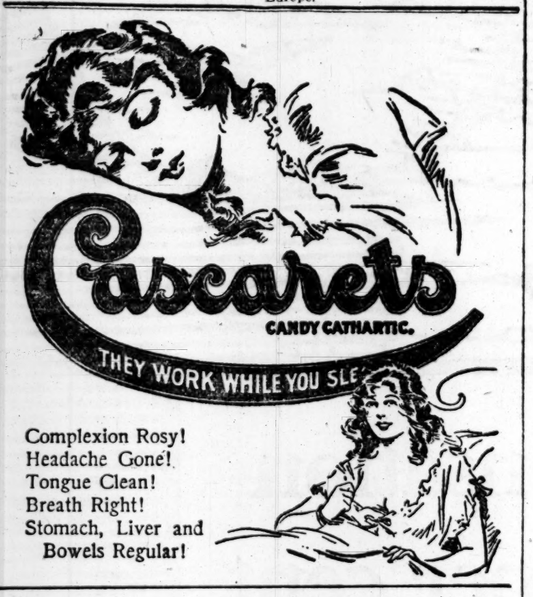

Some of the ways in which $25,000,000 will be spent by the Methodist Episcopal church in its centenary program for post bellum reconstruction in Europe were outlined in a cablegram received yesterday at the centenary headquarters in Chicago. The cablegram was sent by Bishop T. S. Henderson of Detroit of the commission sent to Europe by the centenary movement to decide on the needs of the various countries. The fund of $25,000,000 will be raised in addition to the original estimate of $80,000,000, making the total centenary offering $105,000,000.

"Immediate work will be begun in France in Chateau Thierry," said Bishop Henderson. "We expect to spend $7,000,000 in France. Community houses after the manner of the foyer du soldat of the French army will be maintained and administered without respect to race or creed. A farm of 200 acres has been purchased for the care of orphans.

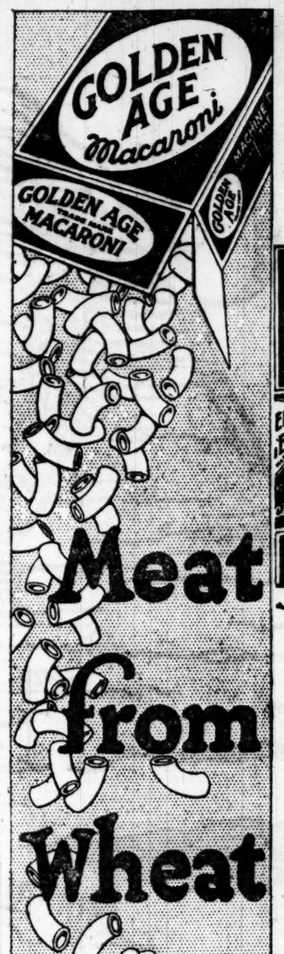

"A total of $7,000,000 will be spent in Italy. One million dollars of this will be spent in connection with the Monte Morio college, Rome. The Cranden institute, where the daughter of Peace Commissioner Orlando was educated, will also receive help.

"Three million dollars will be spent in Russia. Schools will be founded in Seville and Alinate, Spain.

"A relief ship will soon be sent to Europe.

THREE ARRESTED IN MOVE TO SOLVE PRAIRIE MURDER

Echo of Stillwell Case Appears in Woeifel Slaying.

Detectives from the office of State's Attorney Maclay Hoyne stepped last night into the investigation of the murder of Fred Woeifel, St. Louis man, whose body was found in an Irving Park ditch Saturday morning. They arrested three men and expect to make other arrests and clean up the case.

Albert Brown, owner of the Blatz buffet, 1438 West Madison street.

Leo Lorenzo, paroled automobile thief, waiter in the buffet, said to have been a roommate of Woeifel.

A woman and another man are also in custody, it is said. They were questioned at the state's attorney's office, but it is understood these two are being held only as witnesses.

The woman is said to be Brown's wife. The other man is Harry Griffith, bartender in Brown's saloon.

Learn of Gun Fight.

The state's attorney's office learned that Lorenzo and Woeifel had a gun fight in the Blatz place about three weeks ago. When Lorenzo was arrested he was found in possession of a revolver—a weapon issued by the police department, apparently.

The detectives who made the arrest entered the rooming house where Griffith, Lorenzo, and Davis lived—2238 South Ashland avenue—was owned by a policeman.

They also assert that they have information that Woeifel sat at a table in the hall where Barney Grogan's Regular Eighteenth Ward Democratic club held its dance at the time that Charles Stillwell, burglar, was killed.

St. Louis Angle.

Another mysterious angle in the case is the long distance telephone message received by Undertaker Mee yesterday. It came from Detective J. Donnelly of St. Louis, Twenty-first and Wash streets, asking that the body of Woeifel be shipped to him.

He was known in St. Louis under his right name and as "Toss" and "Tim" Woelfeld, also as Peter Tully. He had been convicted of picking pockets, highway robbery, and the murder of his wife, Minnie, whom he shot June 17, 1913. He was paroled in 1917 by the Rev. Father Timothy Dempsey. Recently his parole was revoked by the parole board at Jefferson City, Mo., and it was then he fled to Chicago.

SUSPECT KILLED BY POLICEMAN IN REVOLVER DUEL

Patrolmen Bruno Poch of Cicero killed a supposed robber yesterday morning at Fifty-second avenue and West Thirtieth place. He ordered him to halt and the man opened fire on him. Poch shot him twice through the heart. Patrolman James Pekarek found the dead man's companion and fired a number of shots at him. He escaped, but is believed to have been hit.

A few hours after three men held up Fred Kossland, 5632 Dover street, and John J. Thornton, 1007 Ellsworth building, the police arrested Charles Perkman, 3414 Parnell avenue; Frank McGrath, 3218 Normal avenue, and Carl Leanin, 551 West Twenty-ninth street.

Albert Szcygiel died yesterday at the county hospital of wounds received six weeks ago when two men held up the saloon of Vincent Pacyga, 124 Winchester avenue, Burr Oak, and opened fire on the proprietor and customers. Pacyga was killed.

SHOEMAKER IS VICTIM OF OUR NIGHTLY BOMB

Good morning! Our nightly bomb was thrown this morning at 1 o'clock at 2317½ Wentworth avenue, and Peter Canella, a shoemaker, was the victim. The bomb was set off by the side of his shop, which is in the two story brick at the above address. It broke windows all around. Nobody was hurt. Canella lives a block or so away.

Peter said he had received Black Hand letters, but he was loath to talk about them. The Black Hand experts of the detective bureau are handling the case.

Fire Attorney Allays Incendiarism Suspicion

A report yesterday by Fire Attorney John R. McCabe stated there were no suspicious circumstances surrounding the 4:11 fire last Saturday at the Bachman Paper Box company, 1011-25 South California. The loss was $20,000. It had been rumored at first the fire might have been of incendiary origin.

Boy Runs in Front of Auto Truck; Is Killed

Seven year old John Koska of 2616 West Twenty-fifth street ran from behind an automobile into the path of a truck driven by Stanley Yatiz of 2417 South Turner avenue yesterday afternoon. He was killed. Yatiz was not held, witnesses saying the accident was unavoidable.

CONVERTED

In the Bridewell, He Decided to Become Minister and Serve Those in Prison.

ALEXANDER G. PATTERSON.

IN BRIDEWELL, HE DECIDES TO ASCEND PULPIT

Sermon Fixes Aim of Man Jailed on Wife's Charge.

From bridewell to pulpit!

This is the step planned by Alexander G. Patterson, 22 years old, formerly of 6358 South Peoria street. Patterson, serving a term in the bridewell on a charge of nonsupport made by his wife, Mrs. Beatrice Patterson, was released yesterday. Brought before Judge Sheridan E. Fry in the Court of Domestic Relations on a second nonsupport charge, he announced he will enter Moody institute to study for the ministry.

"The 115 days I served in the bridewell decided me upon this course," Patterson declared. "I resolved that when released I would study for the ministry and specialize in prison reform work. My heart and soul goes out to the man or woman who must linger in a jail cell. Next Monday I shall begin my studies at the Moody institute and as soon as I graduate, I will ask to be assigned to prison work."

Touched by Sermon.

"Just how and when did you come to want to become a minister?" Judge Fry asked.

"Two months ago," replied Patterson. "Lucky Baldwin came to the bridewell to read us a sermon. Then and there I resolved to enter the ministry.

"Baldwin heard of my aspirations and about a month ago told me he would work for my release and aid me in securing a theological education."

Wife Seeks Divorce.

Patterson's wife, as soon as he was released from the bridewell, had her husband brought into court on a charge of failing to support their 14 months old baby. It was brought out during the hearing that while Patterson was in the bridewell his wife filed suit for divorce. Patterson said he was unable to fight the suit as he could not secure counsel while in jail.

SECOND CALL ON LAVILLA FINDS HER BLUSHING

Mr. Robert Henri,
New York City.
My Dear Bob:

Say, Bob, you've sure got 'em cuckoo over at the Art institute. All on account of that "Lavilla" painting. THE TRIBUNE got ahold of that letter I wrote you last Sunday and printed it Monday morning and, Bob, the entrance to the old Art institute yesterday and Monday loked like a Madison street movie! The litle brown haired girl that sells tickets was raking in two bit pieces like a cafeteria cashier when I dropped over to take another slant myself.

The guard tells me that room 255 is jammed all day long. There was a mob rushing up for a peek during the noon hour.

"Guess Diana has come to life," says the boulevard cop at Adams street.

He Envies the Guard.

I went up and had a little chat with guard No. 13. He's there to see that no one steals Lavilla, and say, Bob, I'd trade jobs with him in a minute. Then they say that 13 is unlucky, Bob!

Lavilla was right there on the canvas, Bob. She didn't mind the crowd at all. A couple of workmen were fixing the skylight and the sunshine was streaming across her red hair, Bob. Gosh! I wish you could seen her. She was kinda blushin' from cheeks to knees, Robert. That open skylight let in some cool air, too, and made it more comfortable. The place was awfully crowded, you see.

Say, Bob, if Lavilla would only go in the movies, you'd be rich. I figured out today that if she's worth $2,000 standin' still she ought to get a million a week for just quiverin'. If they fire the censors, Bob, speak to her about it.

A Business Suggestion.

I'll bet a lot of fellows call and write and want to know what her real name is, and her phone number, and does she like orchids or violets. Why don't you put all that on the back of the picture, Bob, and double the price?

There was a big blonde dame with a lorgnette and a skinny old maid findin' fault with Lavilla yesterday, Bob. One said you had gone into unnecessary detail. You just put down everything you saw, didn't you, Bob?

And you sure wiggle a wicked brush, Robert!

Yours Lavillingly,
Chester Foust.

Six Union Labor Agents Taken to Penitentiary

Six union labor business agents convicted in 1916 for conspiracy in connection with strikes, started yesterday to serve their terms in Joliet penitentiary. The men surrendered to Jailer Will T. Davies at the Union station, after agreeing with Sheriff Peters to do so, and the jailer took them to prison. The men are:

Fred Mader and Charles Crowley, Fixture Hangers' union, three years each; Walter Staley and Hugo Hahn, Glaziers' union, two years each; Ray C. Stewart, Woodfinishers' union, two years, and Frank Curran, Painters' union, one year. Eight other defendants were fined and have been notified they must come into court and pay.

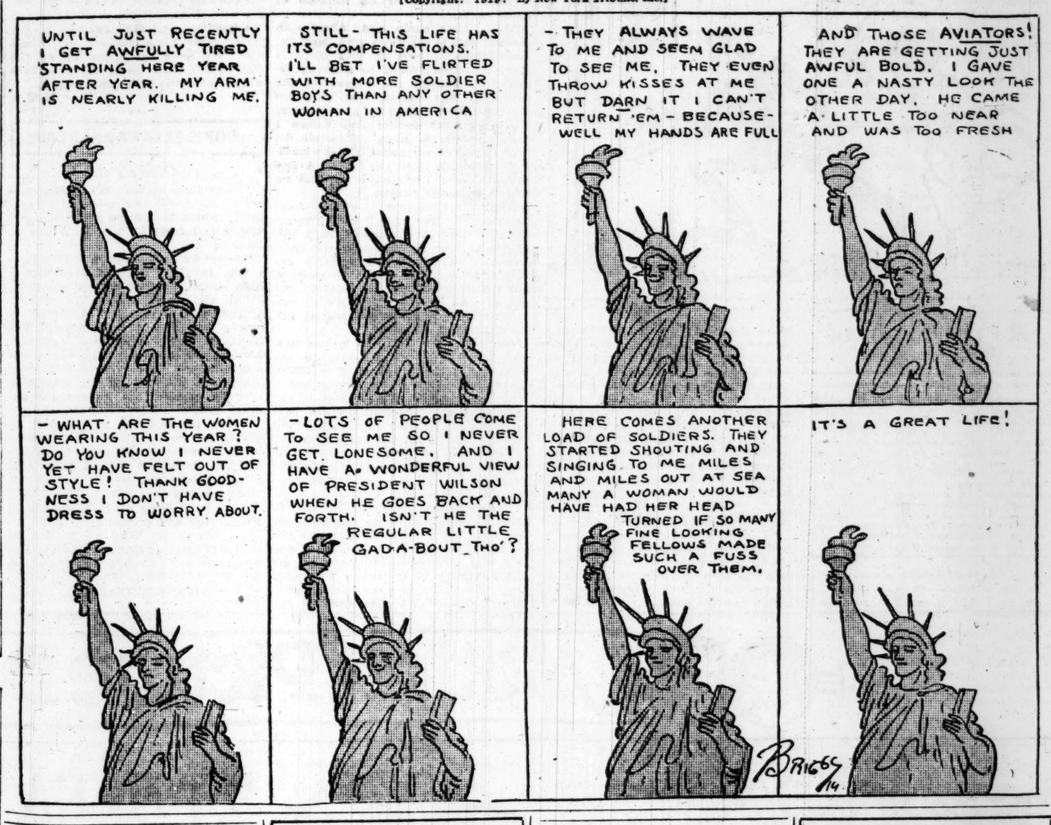

It was charged the union men conspired to extort money from business men to prevent strikes and settle strikes. An appeal is pending.

$15,000 Damages Asked for "Insulting Remarks"

T. C. Gleason, head of T. C. Gleason & Co., 173 West Madison street, was made defendant in a suit for $15,000 damages filed in the Superior court yesterday by Attorney Raymond Keliner in behalf of Attorney Clarence A. Samuel. Attorney Keiner asserted the suit was the result of "insulting remarks made by Gleason about the character of Samuel."

WONDER WHAT THE STATUE OF LIBERTY THINKS ABOUT

[Copyright: 1919: By New York Tribune, Inc.]

CHICAGO WOMAN KILLS GRIZZLY IN HIGH ROCKIES

Mrs. J. L. Mead Bags Only Giant Bear of Season.

An official report just issued by the Canadian government discloses the fact that Mrs. J. L. Mead of Chicago, wife of the president of the Mead Cycle company, shot the only grizzly bear taken in the Canadian Rockies last season by visiting hunters. She brought down the huge man killer with one shot.

Besides being the only grizzly bagged by a visitor the bear was one of the largest ever shot in the northwest, measuring eight feet eight inches from tip to tip, with paws twelve inches in daimeter and claws the size of a man's middle finger.

Mrs. Mead is now in California, where the pelt, transformed into a magnificent rug, adorns the Meads' winter home, near Los Angeles. She will return shortly to Chicago, where she will join Mr. Mead and prepare for a motor trip through Colorado this summer.

Two Couples in Party.

The bear was killed on a hunting trip in the Cassiar district of British Columbia, declared the finest big game region on the continent. The party included Mr. and Mrs. Mead and Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Miller of Salt Lake City. They have taken many hunting trips together.

Approached via Prince Rupert, they went by boat to Wrangell, at the mouth of the Stikine river, and thence by a gasoline boat to Telegraph creek, more than 100 miles back in the wilds. They then outfitted and struck out on horseback with Indian guides into the wilderness.

Dangerous Experience.

"Our experience with the grizzly was the most dangerous in the life of any of us, Mrs. Mead, myself, or the guide who accompanied us," said Mr. Mead last night at the Congress hotel, where he is stopping.

"We were in the Rocky mountain sheep country, above timber line. Mr. and Mrs. Miller and a guide were out after some prize big horns and so were we when Indian Joe first sighted the grizzly. He was more than a mile away, across a deep valley. Being typical sheep country, the region was simply one precipitous slope after another.

"For three miles or more we had laboriously to creep and crawl, slip, slide, and climb to come up with him.

"Mrs. Mead is a crack shot and we had agreed that she should have the honor of the first shot at the first grizzly we had ever seen in the wilds. Indian Joe was ahead, followed closely by Mrs. Mead, and I came next. It was arranged that if she failed to kill him she and Joe should spring to one side and get out of my range.

"As we suddenly rounded the bend of a little cleft of rock there stood the grizzly, thirty paces away. He had scented danger and was sniffing the air. Standing on his hind legs, he bulked something enormous.

"Mrs. Mead was drawing a bead on him, and as he bent his head forward, eyes blazing and fangs threatening, she fired and back he tumbled. Mrs. Mead had broken his neck with one shot."

Further amendments of the Roll of Honor printed in THE TRIBUNE of March 30 are:

WILLIAM H. PLATT JR. was listed as having died of wounds, as a private, and not as a Marine. He was a Marine, a sergeant of headquarters company of the Sixth regiment, and, his father explains, was bulletined for promotion on July 25, 1918, but was killed in action on July 19. His residence was 936 Lakeside place.

JOHN A. EATON was listed among those killed in action, whereas he died on Nov. 5, 1918, of wounds received in battle as a member of Battery D, One Hundred and Twenty-second field artillery. His Chicago address was printed as 119 East Fifty-Seventh street; it was 2509 North Clark street.

LIEUT. HARRY D. PRESTON, British aviation forces, was killed in an accident on May 14, 1918, at Salisbury, England. His name was on the Michigan avenue memorial. His residence was at Surf and Pine Grove avenues.

Assistant Prosecutor's Automobile Stolen

Assistant City Prosecutor Harry W. Menaley of the Desplaines street court reported last night that his automobile was stolen while he and his family were attending a theatrical performance at Madison street and Ashland avenue.

Find Truck, but the $2,000 Worth of Liquor Is Gone

A truck which when it was stolen yesterday morning had $2,000 worth of liquor aboard was found last night. The liquor was gone. The truck and liquor belonged to Philip Bloom & Co., 1116 South Halsted street.

"HOPE OF WORLD LIES IN BOND OF U.S. AND BRITAIN"

Must Defend 'Let Live' Philosophy, Says Galsworthy.

"If the spirit of democracy is to continue and if the world is to advance along democratic lines, Britain and America must keep their general welfare uppermost. They must stand together with a common bond of friendship in defense of the self-governing, live and let live, philosophy of life."

Speaking last night at Orchestra hall John Galsworthy, the author, thus outlined the parts the two countries must play and the policies that must be followed, if the world is to continue on a democratic basis. His subject was "The Briton and America."

"The earth is still on the up grade of its existence," he said. "There are centuries of growth in front of it and on the future rests the ability of the two nations to ascend to the mountain top with a spirit of love, loyalty, wisdom, and adventure. Our comradeship cannot fail. It will endure to the end."

According to the author, autocracy has been banished from the western world. The rising tide of democracy has taken its place and its progress cannot be impeded. Only in such a world, he said, can a league of nations endure to enforce peace.

Returns Home to Find Wife a Suicide by Gas

Isadore Warfshky of 1538 South Lawndale avenue last night reported to the Fillmore police that his wife had committed suicide by asphyxiation. He arrived home to find she had locked herself in her bedroom, stuffed newspapers in the windows, and under the door, and then turned on the gas. She had been in ill health. Police are investigating.

Woman, 67 Years Old, Attacked Entering Home

Mrs. Rose Brye, 206 West Superior street, 67 years old, told the police last night that as she was entering her home she was struck over the right eye and knocked down. She was unable to say who hit her or why, or what weapon was used.

THE DAY'S QUESTION

AND SOME ANSWERS

Leo Speck, 930 East Sixty-fifth street—Every soldier, sailor, or marine and his family should support a military candidate for president. There are men in khaki perfectly capable of handling the job.

William Nolan, 6500 Bosworth street—If it's Pershing or Wood for president, hurray! Let's have a man for our next president who is in sympathy with those who have worn khaki or blue.

John D. Peterson, 1542 First National bank building—I don't think that there is in the army or navy any man of presidential caliber. The best choices are men whose lives have been devoted to the service. They are not trained along lines which make material for the White House.

Eugene Murphy, Illinois Tool company—The men who have upheld the honor and glory of the United States should have an opportunity to perpetuate the success and victory. Let's have Wood or Pershing for our next president.

G. W. Jenkins, 5511 Kenmore avenue—The A. E. F. will support Wood for president. He's the best bet. Keep the army in France six months longer, and Pershing won't have any more chance than Wilson.

John R. Mitchells, 1367 Cornelia avenue—I don't think a soldier has got a chance to be the next president. But, then, you never can tell. Big Bill put it over in Chicago, didn't he?

Sidney R. Pope, 5566 Glenwood avenue—Pershing can be the next president if he wants it. Let's hope he doesn't; in six months the knockers will have forgotten his record in Europe and would be yelling, "Get Villa!"

D. R. Forsythe, Oak Park—Let's make a real man our next president. Above all, let's insist that the next man we vote for will be president of the United States and not adviser at large to the world.

Runaway Boy Charges Father Kept Him Prisoner

ARREST KOEBEL FOR PART IN ROW OF CLUB WOMEN

Lawyer Says Mrs. Severin Must Quit or He'll Seek Receiver.

The law reached into the somewhat tangled affairs of the Illinois Woman's Athletic club yesterday. In the person of two detective sergeants it placed its hand on the shoulder of Martin C. Koebel, the attorney; whose attempt to charge irregularities in the organization split its meeting into two sessions in the Stevens building Monday night.

The minority, represented by Mr. Koebel, adjourned to the nineteenth floor, and heard him through; while the majority, headed by Mrs. William Severin, remained in possession of the original field, on floor 17—a separation which was accomplished by Mounted Policeman George Baier, whom some one summoned in the excitement.

Mrs. Severin Gets Warrant.

Yesterday Mrs. Severin and Mrs. Della Spencer, one of her supporters, appeared before Judge Sheridan E. Fry in the Court of Domestic Relations, and demanded a warrant. Disorderly conduct was the charge.

An hour later Mr. Koebel was found by telephone and appeared at the Harrison street police station to give bond.

"This action gives me no alternative," he said. "Either Mrs. Severin and her entire coterie resign, leaving the administration of the club in other hands, or I shall apply to the courts to take over the institution under a receivership.

"From 450 to 500 women have subscribed, roughly, $75,000 for memberships. Mrs. Severin stated at the meeting last night that twenty-two subscriptions of $200 each had been received that day. Thus under a contract which once she repudiated she received in commissions $1,760 for the preceding twenty-four hours.

Denies Disorderly Conduct.

"I appeared at the clubrooms, representing from twenty-five to thirty of the members. My conduct was not disorderly, so this charge is absurd.

"Mrs. Severin resigned as fiscal agent of the club on March 12 and gave up voluntarily the contract which gave her the first 40 per cent of the money received from membership sales. This contract also made her president of the organization and provided that no by-law should be passed which would deprive her of that distinction until two years after a clubhouse had been formally opened.

"The present by-laws empower her, furthermore, to appoint and remove directors at will; and these directors elect her to office. It was when these obvious improprieties were brought to her attention that she decided to resign her fiscal agent's post.

Says Meeting Was Packed.

"A week ago last Saturday, however, she secretly called a meeting of the directors, summoning only those known to be her friends, and had the minutes of the previous meeting, at which her resignation had been accepted, expunged from the record.

"This secret meeting was held at 2 o'clock. A regular meeting of the directors had been called at 4:30 o'clock, at which she was to have been voted $10,000 in settlement of all her claims. This meeting was never held, because the responsible members of the board realized the futility of their efforts and withdrew from the club.

"Mrs. Severin stated last night that there was no deficit, and then she stated that in part the deficit would be made up from the proceeds of the club's ball given in the Congress hotel on Washington's birthday. Miss Kate Raclin, her close friend, who supervised the affair, received 36 per cent of the money, and is to receive 35 per cent of the advertising revenue from the year book, which shortly is to be published.

Hot Springs Trip.

"Mrs. Severin stated further that it was necessary for her to go to Hot Springs at the club's expense, and added: 'Of course, I was obliged to dress more elaborately there than otherwise would have been the case."

"I am unable, moreover, to find Mrs. Severin or any of the other officers in the list of members."

Mr. Koebel's case will be heard in the Sheffield avenue police court this morning.

MOTHER'S VIGIL ENDS GIRL'S PLAN OF TEXAS FLIGHT

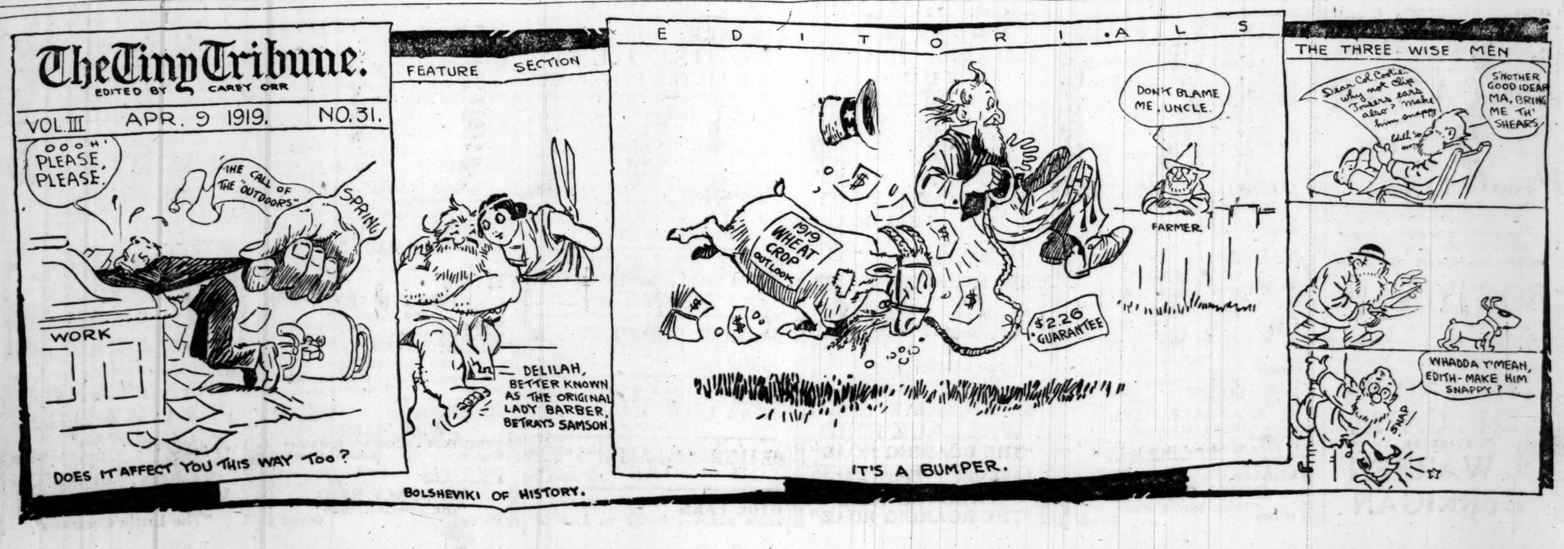

Rosie Novak, pretty and very young, is home today after spending $2 to find that $4 would not take her to Texas. She is going to stay there. "But I won't, just won't, go to school," she adds with the spunk of a 15-year-old.

It took many conferences with a girl in the neighborhood to build up Rosie's plan of escaping the hated lessons at the Farragut school. And it took a third girl she had seen but once to bring them to a climax.

With all of the rest of the family at a neighborhood movie, she packed her things and left. The two others took her to a downtown hotel, where she obtained a room for $1.25. They were to join her in a day or two and the three were to leave for Texas, obtaining their transportation by waiting table.

Rosie obtained a place as maid in a Prairie avenue family. Then she went back to her hotel. She was finally found in the Atlantic hotel as Mrs. Page.

Mrs. Novak waited in the lobby all night until her daughter awakened and could be quietly taken to her home.

Queer Deeds in Pastures New, and Thomas Holding

"ONE WEEK OF LIFE"
Produced by Goldwyn.
Directed by Hobart Henley.

THE CAST.

Marion Roche .....Pauline Frederick
Mrs Sherwood .....Pauline Frederick
Mr. Sherwood .....Thomas Holding
Le Roy Scott .....Sydney Ainsworth
Lola Canby .....Corinne Barker

By Mae Tinée.

Look with kindly eyes upon yon drunken wreck, for maybe some woman made him what he is today!

Take the case of the Sherwoods. There were Mr. and Mrs. Sherwood, living under the same roof, but in a state of such entire separation that to be seen together was to cause back stairs gossip. In her gorgeous and slinky gowns Mrs. Sherwood came and went, under escort of a Mr. Le Roy Scott, while Mr. Sherwood sat around and waited for her return, drinking earnestly to pass the time away. His voice would detain her as she frou-froued to her room.

"As long as you bear my name, don't disgrace it!" he would adjure.

"No—you are quite able to do that for yourself," would be her reply.

But one day the butler had the surprise of his life. Mrs. Sherwood appeared at the breakfast table with her husband—something unheard of. No less nonplused than the butler was Mr. Sherwood. His eyes resting on her white arm noted something strange.

"Had the mole taken off your arm, didn't you?" he said with a sneer. And Mrs. Sherwood, looking a bit perturbed, nodded.

That evening, on her return from the theater, when accosted by the reeling head of the house, she reached out an impulsive hand toward the full glass being dizzily waved by her husband.

"I wish you wouldn't——" she said, and then bit her lip and went on her way. While Mr. Sherwood—didn't. All the poor man needed was a kind word, you see.

I wonder if you've as yet any idea what it's all about? Have you guessed that the real wife was taking a vacation—"one week of life"—with the aforementioned Mr. Le Roy Scott? Or that the lady without the mole had been lured there by this same Mr. Scott, who, seeing the resemblance between herself and his love, had told a masterly yarn that would have brought any real woman to the rescue of another in double quick time? Well, that's how it was.

Miss Frederick does good work in the dual rôle, but the surprise of the picture is Thomas Holding. From one of those sweet things he so often impersonates he turns to give a masterly characterization of a good man gone wrong. It's taken the pictures a long time to place Thomas Holding where he belongs.

"One Week of Life" is a bit yellow—but it's essentially well done.

Tribune Cook Book

BY JANE EDDINGTON.

Cottage Cheese.

In the latest number of the weekly of the department of agriculture there is a half column article, "Keep Cottage Cheese at the Bat; as Good in Peace as in War." Not only is it as good but as thrifty.

The item says in part:

"When it was necessary to save meat last year the American people, both in town and country, rediscovered an old dish—cottage cheese. Its food value being nearly equal, pound for pound, with meat, it was an invaluable aid in the conservation of meat. The continued use of this dairy product will be of permanent value for benefiting the health, and it is hoped it will not again drop into obscurity.

"The following publications of the department of agriculture on the manufacture and use of cottage cheese may be obtained on application: 'Cottage Cheese Dishes,' office of the secretary, circular 109; 'How to Make Cottage Cheese on the Farm,' farmers' bulletin 850; 'Manufacture of Cottage Cheese in Creameries and Milk Plants,' department circular 576; 'Ways to Use Cottage Cheese,' bureau of animal industry leaflet 18; 'Cottage Cheese, an Inexpensive Meat Substitute,' bureau of animal industry leaflet 24.'"

Taking a pound of cottage cheese, we may say that, in general, one-fifth of it is protein. A great many of the meats have a lower fraction or percentage of protein than this, and, bulk for bulk, cottage cheese has the advantage.

Sally Joy Brown

I want to be the medium through which the friend in deed and the friend in need may be brought together. It may be you have some discarded article which has not outgrown its usefulness that will make some less fortunate one happy, and you would gladly give it if you knew how to go about it. Write to me and I shall be only too happy to be of service to you. Please write on one side of the paper.

When information is wanted by mail a stamped, addressed envelope should accompany the request. Please do not send parcels to "The Tribune," but write for the address of the applicant and send direct.

Gives of Spare Time.

"I am a nurse, on duty from 7:30 a. m. until 5:15 p. m. I have lots of spare time and would enjoy writing to some unfortunate shut-in. I also have several interesting books I will loan to some book lover. As I spend most of my evenings at my rooms, I would only be too glad to try to cheer up some friend in need. L. M."

That's a thoroughly nice letter, isn't it? It is good to know there is a such blessed unselfishness in the world, and I know some lonely shut-in will be made happier by coming in touch with the writer.

Pictures for Color Book.

"I have had such a time trying to find colored pictures for a color book we have to make at school. Is there any one who will part with some old magazines for this purpose? I will gladly pay the postage. U. M. W."

REAL LOVE STORIES

Do you know a real love story—one that is stranger than fiction? It is the idea that is wanted. No attention will be paid to literary style. "The Tribune" will pay $5 for every story published. No manuscripts returned. Address Doris Blake, "The Tribune," Chicago.

The Silver Spoon.

I had been with my employer for twelve years and my period of long service had won for me a close personal friendship with the "big boss," as the others in the office called him, and so it happened that he invited me to his house one night to participate in a party that he was giving in honor of his daughter Alice's homecoming from a girls' school after an absence of some years.

Well, Alice came and Alice conquered, and to all those who deny the possibilities of love at first sight, I want to go on record as a living argument. During the course of the dinner (I was seated next to Alice) I had occasion to take my handkerchief from my coat pocket and before I could replace it Alice distracted me with some remark and I laid the handkerchief down upon the table. A few minutes later I picked it up and replaced it in my pocket.

Almost immediately after Alice "changed." Her eyes I had wonderingly noticed had widened with dismay and her conversation therefore consisted of blunt monosyllable answers to my many endeavors to draw out the vivacity she had hitherto displayed. As the evening wore on she became positively icy and almost cut me dead when I left.

Some nights later I was invited to a club banquet and while donning the Tuxedo I had worn the night to Alice's what dropped out of the pocket but a silver spoon—an initialed piece of my boss' silverware; evidently I had covered the spoon with my handkerchief when I laid it on the table and had replaced it in my pocket unawares. In a flash the reason for Alice's frigidity came to me. In her eyes I was nothing less than a petty thief.

The machine that whirled me to Alice's house, although undoubtedly breaking every speed limit, could not go too fast for me. At the door I was told that Miss Alice could not see me But I was not to be denied. I brushed past the girl and encountered Alice coming downstairs. She stiffened disdainfully as she saw me, but I also detected a glow of pleasure. My fervent apology and explanation erased all her doubt and we laughingly spent the evening together in the parlor—together and alone! No, I did not go to the banquet, but that evening in the parlor with Alice changed my whole life. We have the spoon up on the wall of our home now, and once in a while we let the baby play with it.

DORIS BLAKE'S ANSWERS

Once a Pal.

"Dear Miss Blake: Will you please act as umpire over a question of propriety which has arisen between a girl friend and myself. The facts are as follows:

"About four years ago, at which time I was 15 years old and attending a high school, I had for a pal a boy of about the same age. We talked, studied and went about together to such places as 15 year olds can go. We were, in short, very good friends. About three years ago I moved to another part of the city and directly after that the boy moved, and it is only by chance that we see one another now.

"Now the question is, would it be proper for me to write this boy a note in an effort to renew our friendship? He has developed into a very nice young chap and would, as before, make a lovely chum. TILLIE."

I think so—why not? These school friendships are precious things after all, aren't they? Why not have a little party at your home some time and write him a note requesting the pleasure of his company. That would open up a renewal of the friendship, I think. I hope so.

Bright Sayings of Children

It had been raining, and when Betty asked to go out her mother replied, "Yes, but stay upon the sidewalk."

On looking out of the window a few moments later she was surprised to see Betty walking on the grass, on her heels. She called to her, and Betty replied, "It's all right, mother, I'm walking on my hind legs." K. P.

"Aw," scoffed the neighbor's boy, "what does he know about it? He ain't got his brains yet." I. G.

I had related to them the story of the bears and little Goldenhair. After the story had been discussed I told them we would dramatize it, and different children were called upon to represent the parts. When characters had been chosen to represent the big bear, middle sized bear, baby bear, little Goldenhair's mother, and Goldenhair, I looked around and there stood Lawrence, eyes cast down, no part left for him.

I turned to the little ones and said: "What part can Lawrence take? Can some one tell me where we can put him so that he, too, can take part in the story?"

Freddie raised his hand. I said: "Well, Freddie, have you thought of a part he can take?"

"O, yes," he said. "He kin be the porridge in the bowl that little Goldenhair ate up." F. B. D.

"The Tribune" will pay $1 in thrift stamps for each childish saying printed. The story told must never have been printed in any magazine or paper. It is not possible to acknowledge or return unavailable contributions. Please write on one side of the paper. Address bright sayings to Aunty Bee, "Tribune," Chicago.

BEAUTY ANSWERS

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

MRS. R. M. P.: A HAT WITH A brim isn't softening unless it is becoming. This is especially true of some of the hard straw brims. I imagine a turban trimmed in flowers, corn flowers or dahlias—of a purplish tone would be especially nice on your gray hair. White next to the face is invariably becoming. A neutral tint on the face of the hat, too, would be good—that soft delft blue or beige or a silver gray. Bright pinks, bright blues, or bright purples—in fact, any distinctly bright color—were better not worn by one with a high color in her face. There are grays—silver and taupe—that are particularly becoming to your type and wistaria purples—not florid tones of purple.

JESSE: IT IS THE REGULAR baker's yeast that is used for the face eruptions. A half cake three times a day, taken in either water, beef tea, or orange juice, with meals or between meals, is recommended. Yes, it has a laxative effect. If this effect is too pronounced, reduce the dosage.

Keep Looking Young

It's Easy—If You Know Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets

The secret of keeping young is to feel young—to do this you must watch your liver and bowels—there's no need of having a sallow complexion—dark rings under your eyes, pimples—a bilious look in your face—dull eyes with no sparkle. Your doctor will tell you ninety per cent of all sickness comes from inactive bowels and liver.

Dr. Edwards, a well-known physician in Ohio, perfected a vegetable compound mixed with olive oil to act on the liver and bowels, which he gave to his patients for years.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel, are gentle in their action yet always effective. They bring about that exuberance of spirit, that natural buoyancy which should be enjoyed by everyone, by toning up the liver and clearing the system of impurities.

You will know Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets by their olive color. 10c and 25c per box. All druggists.

Mrs. McKinlock of Red Cross to Sail for France the 16th

Mrs. George McKinlock, commandant of the Red Cross canteen, will leave for New York Friday to sail for France on the 16th.

Yesterday in the cottage on the lake front a distinguished group of soldiers, including Gen. Leonard Wood, Col. Evan Humphry, Gen. Chauncy Baker, Lieut. Col. J. M. Petty, Col. Halstead Dorey, and Capt. Landan Thomas met with Mrs. McKinlock and some of her workers for luncheon at the canteen, where she said good-by to the young women who have so ably assisted her in her work of cheer for the American army and navy.

She will have a two months' furlough on the other side, but her work will go on here under the direction of Mrs. Morris L. Johnston and Mrs. Joseph Ryerson.

The canteen army now numbers more than 700 workers. It started with a team of twelve, who used to run out with baskets when they heard that a troop train was coming. Now there are as many as 60,000 soldiers met at the trains during a month by well drilled young women, and more than 500 hot meals are served to the soldiers and sailors every day in the Red Cross cottage.

The United States railroad administration has intrusted the secrets of the troops' movements to these women all during the war and never once has a secret leaked out.

The canteen has been enlarged. There is a new clubroom with an excellent fireplace, a piano, a Victrola, and games, and nothing is too much trouble for the canteen girls to do for Uncle Sam's boys. They get up early in the morning, too, it being no unusual thing for a team of workers to start from the lake front cottage at 6 a. m. to meet perhaps a hospital train of wounded men who would otherwise have to go many hours without food and care. There will be no letup, the women say, during Mrs. McKinlock's absence, as all of them wish to show by their devotion to the job intrusted to them their loyalty to their popular leader.

And so, Mrs. McKinlock, the soldiers and sailors, the Red Cross, and the people of Chicago wish you bon voyage!

Men Have Nothing On Them, by Gum!

Men? Pooh! They're not so much. Hear the defiant strains of the Fellowship House Woman's club song, which resounded at a massmeeting of social settlement clubs at Hull house yesterday:

Rickety, rackety, Russ,
The men have nothing on us;
We can cook and we can sew;
That's not all, we'd have you know.
If we vote, we still can scrub;
We belong to the Fellowship club.

The social settlement clubs, of which there were more than forty represented in the crowded meeting, were formed as the result of informal gatherings of the mothers of the settlement neighborhoods whose children are taught in the kindergartens. Yesterday's meeting was a get-together affair to induce the women to join the State Federation of Women's Clubs.

Miss Jessie Spafford, president of the federation, urged them to work for the housing bill, sponsored by the club women; good motion pictures, and an eight hour law for working women.

Lured 1,000 Miles by "Naughty Nighties"

This was the greeting of Hamilton Coleman, author and producer, to the manager of the University of Chicago Blackfriars' play, "Naughty Nineties," called "Naughty Nighties" by the students.

Mr. Coleman landed on the Midway campus yesterday—all the way from Florida—to put the "Nighties" into shape by May 16.

The chorus manager of the play is advertising far and wide for plastic young men to be "chorus girls." The candidates are tuning up daily at the Reynolds club, third floor, at 2:30 o'clock.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

Kappa alumnæ will meet for luncheon Saturday at 12:30 o'clock in Carson Pirie's "pink room." Miss Frances Wetmore will tell about the Americanization work being conducted by the board of education and the Association of Commerce.

The annual meeting of the West End Woman's club will be held Friday at the West Side Y. W. C. A. building.

Chi Sigma of Delta Gamma sorority will hold its regular monthly meeting and luncheon at 12:30 o'clock Saturday at Marshall Field's tearoom. All Delta Gammas are urged to be present.

The Young People's aid will give their first musical review and dance Saturday evening at the Hyde Park Masonic temple. The proceeds will go toward charitable activities in which the aid is interested.

The Olivet Institute woman's auxiliary will meet next Monday at 10:30 o'clock in the educational building, 1452 Hudson avenue. All women interested in Olivet Institute are invited to attend the meeting.

MATTERS OF MUSIC

Mr. Neumann intimates that, if an accommodation can be arranged, he will bring Serge Prokofieff to Chicago for a recital to make up for the one bulletined for last Sunday and canceled. He adds that the interesting young Russian would have played to a sell-out.

London is to have opera this summer in Covent Garden for the first time since the world blew up in 1914. Nothing in German, of course; and the makeup of the roster indicates that nothing from Germany will be sung. Melba and Destinn are to be in the company; and there is talk that Toscanini will be one of the conductors.

Will Marion Cook's zippy troupe of Negro performers, scheduled for a second Chicago performance a week from next Sunday, is to go to London, where, it is believed, important money may be obtained. If all who have expressed regret for having missed these minstrel-men when here in February buy seats for the impending return, Orchestra hall will hold a Heifetz crowd.

The Apollo Club, in the interests of next Sunday's memorial concert in the Auditorium, is getting into touch with Chicago's gold-star mothers through Mrs. Oscar J. Vogl, who, however, knows that her list is not complete. Mothers whose sons died in the nation's service, whether overseas or in camp at home, may communicate with her in care of the club's office in Lyon & Healy's store. The same address will serve for those who desire to add to donations so far made to buy seats for the mothers of Chicago's dead fighters.

Lindsborg, Kas., is said by credible statisticians to contain more musicians to the square foot than any other city in the world; and its population is less than 2,500. A resident chorus and orchestra have been giving "The Messiah" there annually ever since 1881; and they are to sing it three times next week, as part of a festival. Frieda Hempel and Mischa Elman are imported celebrities of the week. Galli-Curci, Schumann-Heink, Sembrich, and Gadski have sung there; and Schumann-Heink has called the chorus the best in the United States. F. D.

DANDRUFF MAKES HAIR FALL OUT

Within ten minutes after an application of Danderine you can not find a single trace of dandruff or falling hair and your scalp will not itch, but what will please you most will be after a few weeks' use, when you see new hair, fine and downy at first—yes—but really new hair—growing all over the scalp.

A little Danderine immediately doubles the beauty of your hair. No difference how dull, faded, brittle and scraggy, just moisten a cloth with Danderine and carefully draw it through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. The effect is amazing—your hair will be light, fluffy and wavy, and have an appearance of abundance; an incomparable lustre, softness and luxuriance.

Get a small bottle of Knowlton's Danderine for a few cents at any drug store or toilet counter, and prove that your hair is as pretty and soft as any—that it has been neglected or injured by careless treatment—that's all—you surely can have beautiful hair and lots of it if you will just try a little Danderine.

Knowlton's Danderine, Wheeling, W. Va.

FASHION'S BLUE BOOK

Trade Mark Reg. U. S. Pat. Off.

BY CORINNE LOWE.

NEW YORK.—[Special Correspondence.]—So many of the evening frocks this year are a parade all to themselves. Silver and gold laces, brocades of silver and rose, silver salambo cloth combined with jade—the last a gorgeous combination—sheath skirts crusted with jet or gold beads or mother of pearl, laces and jet—the description of these gowns from Paris reads like the Arabian Nights.

Not all of us, however, feel equal to being dressy as a gold mine. And fortunately some of the newest evening frocks are just as simple as any girl who is making ready for the commencement dance could possibly ask.

Here, for example, is an orchid georgette made up over light blue satin and trimmed with nothing but plaited folds of the georgette and one nosegay of pastel tinted flowers.

The Successful Home Garden

BY J. F. H. HEIDE.

No. 28.

THE NURSERY BED.

Many have decided only this week to "go in" for gardening without the preparations necessary for the earliest possible harvest. They are too late to gain time by the use of a hotbed, for there is now no frost in the ground and the young seedling plants require only protection from unseasonable frosts, from sharp winds and raw night air.

Plants started during the first half of April for transplanting require merely a cold frame, which is a frame and sash like a hotbed, but without the fermenting manure or other heating medium. The sun alone is sufficient for warmth, and during cold nights any sash covering and a banking of manure or straw around the frame will amply protect them.

The frame need not be more than four inches high at the southern end and six inches at the northern, for it rests directly on the seed bed, preferably a sandy loam, six or eight inches deep and not manured. The sowing is identical with that in the hotbed.

The window box, too, is profitable only till the middle of April. After that the plants may be started outdoors in a nursery bed. Tomatoes, peppers, eggplant, okra, and similar subtropical plants, however, would not have time enough to mature during our comparatively short growing season, and sturdy seedling plants of those would need to be bought if not started in March.

The nursery bed is simply a small bed set aside for starting such plants as much be transplanted, for best results, and to prepare plants to replace the first crop as soon as the beds or rows are cleared. Thus much time is gained to enable us to use the ground twice and even three times in one growing season. The nursery bed is an essential part of intensive gardening and provision was made for it in the garden plans published March 19 and 22.

For the small back yard garden a square yard is sufficient; in the unit of 100 feet square about thirty-two square feet is needed. No special treatment of the soil is required, though no effort should be spared to render it loose, friable, and well drained.

Sowing on the nursery bed is identical with that of the hotbed—that is, in drills about four inches apart. It is not advisable to sow before the middle of April. The seedling plants will then be ready from June 10 on, or after the first true leaves have formed, about a month later than those started in a cold frame and about six or seven weeks later than those started in hotbeds or window boxes.

When the first nursery bed rows have been cleared the same space, perhaps with a light dusting of bonemeal, can be used again to start later crops.

BY HUGH S. FULLERTON.

The left fielders, as an average, are below, far below, the standard of the major leagues of former years, in spite of the fact that in the list there are stars.

In the American league two of the first three ranking left gardeners owe their figures almost entirely to long distance swatting. In the National, of course, George Burns holds the lead rather handily, as he should do, being one of the greatest of all ball players.

The two outstanding features of the dope must be explained: First, the low rating of the Chicago White Sox, who for several years have rated near the top in the left field dope. The incumbent of that post is in a peculiar position. He was openly branded by the owner of the team as a slacker who ran away from his club to escape doing duty to his country. The owner never has publicly withdrawn the charge, although he has taken the man back into his team.

Crowds Will Affect Work.

It is certain this man is in for a hard summer. The question of whether he deserves the punishment the crowds of his own and other cities will mete out to him is unimportant. What we are interested in is whether it will affect his ball playing. Of course, every one should know he did the same thing that a score of other ball players did, but he was the most advertised and the dislike of all the paint and putty patriots is liable to be vented upon him. My opinion is that if he is brave enough to stand the gaff he will prove that he did not dodge army service through cowardice.

However, it is certain that the constant abuse of the crowd will affect his work to some degree. How much is the big problem of the White Sox. In fact, the crowd either will forget the incident entirely or drive him out of baseball.

The other feature is the low rating of the New York Yankees. Huggins has two outfielders, neither of whom can play as well in either other field. He has Ping Bodie, who is a fair sort of a plugging, hard working and occasionally hard hitting man, but Ping never could play as well in any other field as he has done in left. Duffy Lewis is a really great ball player, but he, too, has spent most of his life in left field and is not as good anywhere else.

Bodie in Left Field.

I have figured Bodie to play the field and will figure Lewis elsewhere, reserving the right to change in the final figures if Huggins switches the two.

Some may argue that Cleveland's leadership in the left field division is undeserved, but it is not. Figure it yourself, as I did, that Joe Wood will play two-thirds of the games in left and Jack Graney the others, and the result is inevitable. Wood has developed into a remarkable outfielder and is improving all the time. Coached by Speaker, he has grown out of the filler in stage and become almost as great as an outfielder as he was as a pitcher. The idea that he is in only to hit is a mistake. He can field and throw far above the average of outfielders, and he plays batters with the knowledge gained by long experience as a pitcher.

Another freak of the dope is to fined the left fielder of a championship team ranking next to last in his circuit. Yet after examining all the statistical evidence, that is where Les Mann belongs. In fact, Barber's figures are only a few points lower. I could not give Mann credit for all he did last season, and after examining the hitting records, found that his additional average was largely due to bunching wallops off weak pitching and in lopsided games.

Barber a Problem.

Whether Barber can hit up close to outfield requirements is a problem. He never has had a trial over a long extended period and he has been hitting this spring harder than almost any one on the squad, according to coast reports, which, however, must be shaded somewhat because they may have been colored to scare Mann into signing a contract.

The return of George Whitted will give the Phils a much steadier outfield than they showed last fall. Whitted is rather an underrated ball player. He is smart, a capable leader and a valuable man beyond his individual performances, helping others and getting into the team work. The veteran Zack Wheat still remains high in the lists because he can hit. He showed more life last season after he finally joined his team than he usually does, and hustled more.

Stallings has a terrible problem in the outfield. As usual, when any one tries to dope a Stallings outfield he is compelled to figure a composite of at least three men. In this case I have figured Wickland, Powell, and Kelly, and neither as individuals nor as a composite do they rank up well.

THE GUMPS—ANDY IN HOT WATER AGAIN.

In the Wake of the News
By RING W. LARDNER

TO CONGRESS.

Chi, April 8.

Dear Cong:-

You know the name of my column means behind the news and once in awhile I get way behind it and have a tough time catching up and it wasn't till yesterday that I found out that you had plastered a tax onto sporting goods and if I had known it before I would of congratulated you all the sooner.

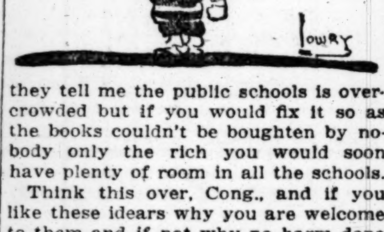

It's a great move, Cong., and a step in the right direction as it will put a stop to a lot of brats playing ball in the park and tramping down the grass and it will keep them at home where they belong out of the open air. Children of all kinds is getting too much encouragement, Cong., and having too good a time and by slapping a tax onto baseball bats and gloves and etc. and make them too dear for the boys to buy them you have certainly gone a long ways towards checking such evils like outdoor exercise.

But I do think you have overlooked a lot of bets that would improve the situation still more yet and I am going to make a few suggestions for some more taxes and you can take them or leave them and no harm done. For one thing the children that's too young to play ball and etc. is still old enough to drink milk and some of them has actually got the habit so bad that they cry if they can't have their bottle. Well, Cong., if you would stick a tax of about ten to fifteen cents on a pt. of milk a bunch of kids that their parents hasn't much jack would just simply have to break themself of the habit and maybe they might cry a little for a few days but after that they wouldn't mind.

And another good one would be to levy a heavy vehicle tax on go carts as the way it is now a person can't hardly walk a block in the day time without he has to pretty near get off the walk to keep from being ran over.

And also it would be a great idear to plaster a stiff tax onto school books and school supplies of all kinds as they tell me the public schools is overcrowded but if you would fix it so as the books couldn't be boughten by nobody only the rich you would soon have plenty of room in all the schools.

Think this over, Cong., and if you like these idears why you are welcome to them and if not why no harm done but anyway congratulations on the moves you have already made.

Respy,

SOX II., WITH COREY, SKIN PANTHERS, 10-1

BY I. E. SANBORN.

Cleburne, Tex., April 8.—[Special.]—Playing in the teeth of a gale of wind today the White Sox No. 2 trounced the Fort Worth Panthers, 10 to 1. The wind, which at times threatened to blow the lid off the fair ground grandstand, was directly in the face of the batsmen, but the Goofs mauled two Panther pitchers for seventeen hits.

Bruno Haas compiled five hits in five chances, one of them being a clean two bagger. He was batting left handed against two right handed pitchers and this is his first year at swinging from that side of the plate. Manager Collins and Conroy made three hits apiece and two of Shauno's swats were doubles. Mostil bagged a couple.

Swat Two Hurlers.

The Sox were slow getting started and found Pressley hard to gauge, with the wind adding speed to his fast ball. But they garnered three runs off him in six innings and that would have been plenty. Wachtel, who worked the last three innings, was an easy mark for the Goofs, who counted seven times off him.

Corey pitched all the way for the Sox and permitted only six hits. Half of them were made in the last two rounds, after the game was in the icebox. The Chicago boy was wild in the first inning and gave four bases on balls, otherwise the Panthers would not have counted.

Another Trolley Sortie.

The Goofs returned to Dallas by interurban late tonight and will make another sortie to Cooper, Tex., tomorrow. Score:

Final Testimony Taken in Baltimore Feds' Suit

Washington, D. C., April 8.—Motions for directed verdicts in their behalf were made respectively by counsel for the Baltimore Federal league club and for the National and American leagues at the conclusion today of testimony in the District of Columbia Supreme court in the $900,000 damage suit of the Baltimore club against organized baseball. The jury hearing the case had been dismissed for the day when the motions were filed. Arguments on the proceedings were interrupted by the adjournment of court until tomorrow, when Justice Stafford is expected to hand down a ruling.

John A. Heydler, president of the National league, was the last witness for the defense. He presented testimony regarding the practice of holding players through reserve clauses.

SUNMAIDS OF FRESNO AND DUTCH LEONARD DAZZLE OUR CUBS, 6-1

BY JAMES CRUSINBERRY.

Fresno, Cal., April 8.—[Special.]—The Fresno Sunmaids and all the citizens of Fresno are claiming a part of the baseball championship of the world tonight. Their nine, with Dutch Leonard, former Red Sox star, on the slab, trimmed the Cubs neatly and precisely, 6 to 1, and the whole city is celebrating. They are ready now for the Red Sox or any old thing that thinks it can play ball.

Leonard was a large part of the show, even though he retired after six innings and allowed a San Joaquin valley southpaw to finish. The Cubs got their lone tally off the latter. In six innings they got three hits off Leonard and weren't near a score.

All Three Hits Flukes.

All three hits were flukey. One was a two bagger on a high fly behind second because the fielders got mixed up on it. One was a bounce to the first baseman and turned into a hit because Leonard didn't cover the bag, and the other was a bunt which Pick beat out.

The Cubs didn't seem to relish any of that Red Sox stuff. Off the youngster they poled a couple of hits in the seventh, one a double by Merkle, and the lone tally was produced when Deal followed with a single. No one seemed able to play in big league stride, and after half the game was played, some of them even made a farce of it.

Shuffling Phil Douglas was the victim for much of the jollity of the crowd, and there was another throng of about 3,500 present. Phil pitched the entire game and had an awful tim. The band kidded him with slow music and rolling of drums until he just didn't know where he was at.

Giant Recruit Gets Four Hits.

The star of the Sunmaids was Joe Kelly, lengthy first baseman, who belongs to the New York Giants, but seems to think it more fun to play here. Kelly, who is a nephew of the famous Bill Lang of olden times, lammed out four hits in four times up, two singles, one double, and one triple. He drove in five of the six runs, and now owns the entire town. Score:

NEW SCHEDULES

Major League Charts to Be Rearranged if New York Permits Sunday Ball.

WASHINGTON, D. C., April 8.—Entire rearrangement of the schedules of both the National and American leagues will probably result if Gov. Smith of New York signs the Walker Sunday baseball bill, already passed by the senate and assembly. President Heydler of the National league announced this today.

* *

Providence, R. I., April 8.—The senate today by a vote of 26 to 11 passed in concurrence with the house the bill legalizing the playing of professional baseball on Sunday. The measure provoked strong opposition from the religious societies of the state.

SOX BOMBARD COLLEGE NINE IN 11-3 FARCE

Georgetown, Tex., April 8.—[Special.]—Those White Sox literally toyed with the collegians representing Southwestern university and romped to a one-sided victory behind Dave Danforth's pitching, 11 to 3. It was a travesty on the national pastime after the third inning, when the Sox assembled seven blows of assorted proportion for five runs. Seventeen hits were registered by Gleason's fence busters, one a homer by Joe Jackson.

Death Takes Lew Shaw, Veteran Billiard Player

Lew Shaw, forty years prominent in billiards, died yesterday at Hahnemann hospital. He had been confined three weeks following a breakdown after a severe attack of influenza contracted while on a tour of the Pacific coast.

In recent years Shaw had been famed for his skill as an exhibition player. Years ago he competed in matches, one of the most notable being his defeat of Jake Schaefer, 600 to 547, at Ford's Opera house, Washington, in 1876. It was at the regular three ball game for a purse of $1,500. He gave an exhibition before King Edward.

Shaw was born at Elgin sixty-three years ago, but made Chicago his home for many years. Funeral services will be held from Carroll's undertaking rooms, Clark and Division streets, Friday at 10 o'clock. Burial will be at Elgin.

COLLEGE BASEBALL.

OVERRUNNING FIRST

BY BILLY EVANS.

YEARS ago when a base runner crossed first base it was necessary that he turn to the right after so doing. Otherwise he made himself liable to be put out. Many baseball fans are still confused on this rule. They cling to the old version. That is why you often hear some one yell. "He turned wrong," when a base runner after crossing first base turns to his left. A base runner after overrunning first base has the right to turn to the right or left to return to that base.

He is subject to being retired only when he makes an attempt to advance in the direction of second. The moment he does, a play can be made on him.

Some people know the runner has the right to turn either way, provided he makes no attempt to advance toward second, but who believe such a turn on the part of the base runner must be made in foul territory. They are in error in that respect. Umpires pay no attention as to the position of the runner when he turns, whether in foul or fair territory, provided no move is made by him in the direction of second.

Despite the fact that most baseball fans have a fairly good idea of the game, few can offhand give the specification of the paraphernalia used in the game. The ball must weigh not less than five, nor more than five and one-quarter ounces, and measure not less than nine, nor more than nine and one-quarter inches in circumference.

The bat, of course, must be round. Every year umpires in the majors are called upon to examine bats, which the opposing side believe have been slightly flattened to make the point of contact with the ball more certain. The bat must not be over two and three-quarter inches in diameter in its thickest part, nor more than forty-two inches in length.

Frank Kochanski, freshman runner at the University of Chicago, and George Hankel, Logan Square A. C., have been placed on scratch in the five mile handicap run, one of the feature events of the Central A. A. U. indoor junior and senior track and field championships, which open tomorrow night at the Coliseum. Unlike other long distance races, the allowances have been given in time instead of yards. The limit men will receive three minutes and thirty seconds' handicap over the scratch men. Following are the handicaps:

George Hankel, Logan Square A. C.; Frank Kochanski, Chicago, scratch; Al Parker, Logan Square A. C.; Joe Mendes, Un., 1:30; Carl Kvist, Swedish Am. A. A., 1:45; E. Carlson, Swedish Am. A. A.; L. J. Doering, I. A. C.; E. Palm, Swedish Am. A. A., 2:00; H. Hoglund, Swedish Am. A. A.; T. Chakinis, Greek Olympic A. C.; L. A. Rowe, Norwegian Am. A. C.; H. Dobler, Com. Edison A. C., 2:15; R. M. Reed, F. S. A. C.; G. K. Nesbitt, Olympic Spts. club; R. Schoenneman, F. S. A. C.; A. Azala, Great Lakes; W. Byrne, Un., 2:30; J. Kowalski, Logan Square A C.; G. Clariziz, I. A. Officials yesterday announced spiked shoes will be permitted on the running track only. Sprinters, hurdlers, and field event athletes will not be permitted to use spikes.

President Dean of the Central A. A. U., who will referee, has named the officials as follows:

RIVAL PREP TOSSERS BATTLE TONIGHT FOR COOK COUNTY TITLE

BY GEORGE SHAFFER.

Two schools totally new to Cook county championship competition will battle for the heavyweight basketball title of the county tonight in a post-season interleague clash. Riverside, champion of the Suburban league, and Schurz, winner in the Chicago High school circuit, are the teams. The game is scheduled for 7:45 o'clock at Bartlett gymnasium, University avenue and Fifty-seventh street.

All Riverside Will Be There.

Riverside has a five man defense which baffled scoring efforts of all Suburban league opponents. Almost the whole town will travel from Riverside to the University of Chicago gym, a fleet of sixty automobiles carrying most of them. Riverside's rooting will be aided by delegations from the other Suburban league schools of La Grange, Proviso, and Oak Park.

Schurz probably will bring a delegation of 1,800 or more from the northwest side. Schurz, like Riverside, is on its toes for the first chance to annex an undisputed title.

Both Teams on Edge.

Both teams polished off in final practice yesterday. Coach Wyatt was well satisfied with the precision with which his charges ran the floor at Riverside, while Coach Myles Havlicek smiled with satisfaction after his final peek at the Schurz machine.

Oak Park and Bowen, respective lightweight basketball champions of the Suburban and City leagues, will play for the county title Friday night, also at Bartlett gymnasium.

125 Pound Fives to Play A.A.F. Semi-Finals Tonight

Semi-finals in the 125 pound basketball tournament for the Amateur Athletic federation championship will be played tonight at Sinai Social center. Alpha Independents meeting Palmer Park at 8 o'clock and St. Andrews Clovers opposing Fuller Lorraines at 9. The Clovers qualified by defeating West Side Y. M. C. A., 17 to 10, last Saturday. The Fuller team, one of the favorites, conquered Sinai, 28 to 15.

Tennis Leaders Reach Semi-Finals at Pinehurst

Pinehurst, N. C., April 8.—Play in the men's and women's singles in the north and south tennis tournament at Pinehurst today brought all of the expected leaders to the semi-finals. Vincent Richards and Ichiya Kumagae came through in the upper brackets of the men's singles, while W. T. Tilden Jr. and H. S. Voshell survived in the lower. All four men won easily, the only contest of interest being that of Richards against C. F. Watson Jr. of the Westchester Country club, which was decided 6-3, 6-3.

Miss Marion Zinderstein of Longwood, favorite for the women's singles trophy, won her way through without difficulty. Mrs. Harry Franklin Morse of the West Side club met Miss Florence Ballin in the feature match of the day and won, 4-6, 6-2, 6-4. Mrs. Morse and Miss Zinderstein probably will meet in the finals.

VOX POP ON WEATHER SIGNS.

KALAMAZOO, Mich. — [To the Editor.]—After reading Vox Pop on weather signs in a recent TRIBUNE wherein muskrats are credited with foretelling the winter as to whether it is to be mild or severe by building their houses small or large accordingly, kindly let me say that this is another one of the myths that has passed down to us in the traditions and folk lore of the ignorant. To foretell the weather for any period of time is merely a guess.

Muskrats build their houses as a place wherein to feed. Their homes are in burrows in the banks, which they enter by well defined paths or lanes beneath the water's surface. In these burrows they rear their young.

Now, as to their houses. They build according to the stage of the water. If indications to them are that the water will rise they build big houses in order that they can eat their food above its level. If indications are for low water they build their houses small and low. The muskrats are often mistaken. They often build high when the water recedes and sometimes they build where the water never reaches, thus showing their miscalculation.

The severity of the weather has nothing to do with their plans. Muskrats cannot foretell as to the severity of an approaching winter, and it is highly absurd to attribute to them the credit for so doing. Yours truly,

BEN O. BUCK.

[Editor's Note: All of which is good logic, but just the same some of us who have seen the rats hit it right so often are somewhat inclined to let logic slide and give the rats credit for being a whole lot more accurate in doping the weather than our weather bureau.]

PURYEAR DRAWS WITH WOLFE IN 10 FAST ROUNDS

Peoria, Ill., April 8.—[Special.]—Earl Puryear of Denver and Jack Wolfe of Cleveland traveled ten fast rounds to a draw tonight. It was anybody's fight from first to last. Each boy rocked the other in almost every session, but there were no knockdowns.

Puryear did a good part of the leading in the early rounds, but Wolfe rallied and was carrying it to Puryear's corner when the bout ended.

Red Gardner of Gary, Ind., knocked out Chuck Baker of Peoria in the fifth round.

The show was staged by the Peoria Baseball Fans' association and attracted close to 1,800 fans.

PARIS, April 8.—The greatest boxing and wrestling carnival in the history of the world opened last night in the Cirque de Paris. It will determine the championships of the A. E. F. in seven classes from bantam to heavyweight.

For the next eighteen nights, excepting Sundays, the pick of 2,000,000 men in the A. E. F. who in turn were the pick of 110,000,000 Americans at home, will battle for the honor of representing the United States in the June Olympic games at Paris.

Find Pay in Glory.

Beans, bacon, and a trip to Paris were "taken down" for each contestant. While Willard, Dempsey, and other stay-at-homes talk of purses of $100,000, the winners in the greatest of all sport jousts for fighting men will collect their army ration allowance while in Paris and the winners will get a nice little button or perhaps a belt to commemorate their prowess in the manly art.

It is expected the man to whip Willard will be found. The most magnificent amphitheater in Europe houses the carnival. Red Cross girls, Y. M. C. A. girls, ministers in all degrees and grades of war relief work rubbed elbows with doughboys and generals who flocked to the free show.

Army in Charge.

The army is in full charge of everything. Maj. J. A. McDermott is master of ceremonies. The referees include Jimmy Bronson of Joplin, Harry Sharpe of St. Louis, and Jim Carey of Rochester. B. F. Steinnel, Milwaukee sport writer and promoter, is the matchmaker. Lieut. Col. J. W. Frew of Milwaukee is one of the three judges.

All bouts are ten rounds of two minutes each. The demand for seats was so great they had to be drawn by lottery.

Wisconsin Ring Chairman O.K.'s Moore-Herman Bout

Walter Liginger, chairman of the Wisconsin boxing commission, has placed his official O. K. on Pal Moore and Pekin Kid Herman, bantams, who meet in the ring at Racine tomorrow night. Liginger and Promoter Wagner came here yesterday and watched the bantams work out at the Arcade gymnasium.

ALL DELIVERIES OF CORN REACH NEW HIGH LEVEL

July Strongest and May Weakest Under Heavy Trading.

BY CHARLES D. MICHAELS.

Heavy trading and higher prices were [the rule] for corn and oats futures yesterday, corn as of late setting a new high [price] record and with oats finishing [at the] top, showing gains of 2¾@4⅛c, [July] being the strongest and May the [weakest]. Oats gained friends and closed [1¼@]1½c higher in Chicago.

[Cor]n in the southwestern markets closed [with] gains of 2¼@3⅝c. Oats were 1⅛@ [1½c] higher in St. Louis, 1½@1⅝c up in [Kansas] City, 1⅛c in Minneapolis, and [1½c] better in Winnipeg, where 102 [cars] arrived.

New Season's High for Corn.

All deliveries of corn sold at new high [levels] on the crop due to buying by commission houses and local traders at a [time] when offerings were light. This [started] shorts to covering and ran into [buying] and stop loss orders which caused [the] bulge from $1.50 up for July. Lowest [prices] were made at the opening, and the [highest] at the close, with May at $1.59¼, [July] at $1.53⅛, and September at $1.47.

[The] belief that the government report on [wheat] would finally show an immense total led to some pressure early, but those [who] sold on this were forced to cover [later]. There was little in the news that [affected] the market's action. In fact, news [has] been ignored for some time past. [Country] offerings were rather light early, [but] when May started upward there were [several] hedging sales, although the advance came so near the close that the [country] in many instances did not have [a chance] to sell much cash grain.

[The] May-July difference at one time [was] 6⅝c on the blackboard, against 11⅜c [the] outside figures last week. No improvement was shown in the domestic [shipping] demand, sales being 10,000 bu. [Sample] values were unchanged to 1c [higher], with receipts 80 cars.

[The] trade anticipates that a big run [will] be on in cash grain inside of a week. [It] is estimated that around 1,000,000 [bu] had been bought to arrive by that [date]. Some of the recent best buyers [came] to this market were willing to [take] country offerings only on a full delivery basis as compared with the May.

Oats Gaining Friends.

[Se]ntiment in oats is becoming more [bulli]sh, and there was an excellent class [of co]mmission house and local buying at [times]. The market showed independent [stren]gth early, and while the close was [at] a slight reaction from the top, May [close]d at 69⅛c, July at 67⅝c, and Sep[tem]ber at 63⅞c.

[P]rospects for a decreased acreage and [the] low price, as compared with other [grains], were the main strengthening in[flu]ences. Offerings were light at times, [al]though profit taking was noticeable on [the] bulges. Domestic demand improved [wi]th sales of 55,000 bu. Sample values [were] higher, with receipts 33 cars.

Exporters Raise Barley Bids.

[Sea]board exporters advanced their basis [on] barley 1c per bu, but no business [wa]s reported, bids being about 2c out of [line]. Demand for the top grades was [active], and prices were up 1@2c, while [other] kinds were unchanged. Maltsters [were] the best buyers, and 1,000,000 bu of [barley] was said to have been sold. Spot [sales] were at $1.02@1.18. Receipts, 83 [cars]. Milwaukee and Minneapolis advanced 1@2c. The northwest had 209 [cars].

[Rye] prices were affected by the bearish [gov]ernment report, and spot closed 1@1½c [lower], with sales at $1.72½@1.73. Re[ceipts], 17 cars. Milwaukee was off 1½c, [and] Minneapolis ¼c higher. The northwest had 116 cars.

[Flax]seed at Duluth closed unchanged; [May], $3.87; July, $3.80; October, $3.46. [Winnipeg], 3½@4⅛c higher; May, $3.64; [July], $3.58¾. Receipts, 34 cars.

[Timothy] seed firm; country lots sold at [$10].00, per 100 lbs. Toledo, 10c [higher]; October, $17.50, per bu of 60 lbs. [Clover] seed firm; country lots sold at [$....].00, per 100 lbs. Toledo, un[changed] to 2½c higher; September, $5.70; [October], $5.50, per bu of 45 lbs.

Lard Leads in Activity.

[L]ard received the most attention of the [prov]ision list, and while there was good [buy]ing by shorts and presumably against [cash] sales, there was no selling pressure, [and] prices advanced and closed at the [top], with gains of 35@47½c, May leading. [The] latter delivery was bought largest [by] Logan & Bryan, and some of the [pack]ers were credited with taking hold. [Ribs] and pork were rather neglected, with [scat]tered trading on both sides. At the [close] pork was 75@90c and ribs 25@42½c [high]er, May leading in both articles.

[C]ash trade on export account was re[port]ed better. Fresh meat trade was [mod]erate, and pork loins at 30@32c.

[Ho]g packing in the west last week, [as] given by the Daily Drovers' Journal, [w]as 573,000 hogs, against 658,000 last [year]. Loss in packing since March 1 is [e]qual to 44,000,000 lbs of product. Prices [fo]llow:

Mississippi Valley Bankers to Meet Here April 23

[E.] D. Hulbert, chairman of the committee on banking of the Mississippi Valley [asso]ciation, sent out a call yesterday for [a con]ference of bankers of the valley, to [take] place at 9 a. m. April 23 at the Con[gress] hotel.

[Among] the subjects to be discussed will [be]: Foreign credits, dollar exchange, [pref]erential financing of valley projects, [forei]gn banking, facilities for the valley, [trad]e acceptances and redistribution privileges, foreign investments in the path of [valley] export trade, education in buying, [sell]ing, and handling of foreign commer[cial] bills of exchange.

[The] bankers are to take up the question of practical coöperation with mer[chant]s and manufacturers and to give [expo]rters and importers of the valley [bank]ing facilities second to none.

WORLD'S GRAIN MARKET NEWS

Corn has disappeared so readily of late and prices have continued to rise so steadily that it has caused many of the closest observers to study the situation with more than the usual care. It is evident to them that there is a ready response to fair concentrated buying which develops from time to time. Where it comes from is the mystery, but it appears at the psychological moment, and is most effective in sending values up. How long the market is to continue to act independent of all ordinary influences remains to be seen.

Large buying of July corn at $1.50 by local and Omaha houses ran prices up to where stop orders were caught at $1.50 to $1.51, the rise being so sudden that many were impossible to execute within ½c to 1c of the limits. It is an unusually fast market, and the trade outside should take this into consideration.

High prices for hogs are a big factor in corn, and so long as they continue in comparative light supply, as considered with the demand, a nervous corn market, with high prices is expected. A few local traders who turned bearish last week on the increased sales of corn by the country, were over on the bull side and buying again yesterday. Although a considerable reduction has been made in the difference between May and the deferred futures in corn, the short sellers are at a disadvantage. It is said that much cash corn is held unhedged by the country dealers.

Oats are regarded as much safer to trade in than corn, and business in them has increased the past few days. Lack of decided selling pressure was apparent yesterday, while a greater buying power was strikingly in evidence. Those friendly to the buying side say oats are relatively the cheapest grain on the list. The country is not selling freely, although there was some increase in the northwest yesterday, and Minneapolis was weaker than Chicago. Arrivals here were only 33 cars. Stocks of standards are only 400,000 bu. and No. 3 whites 200,000 bu, the latter deliverable at 1½c discount, while they sold in the sample market yesterday at May price to ⅝c over, and standards were 1⅜c to 1c over. It requires less margin to trade in oats than in corn, as commission houses want 7c to 10c margin for corn, while oat business is taken at about one-half that figure.

The Minnesota legislature yesterday knocked out an anti-future bill by a vote of 39 to 22. Trading in grains for future delivery has been commended on very highly by Herbert C. Hoover, and the wheat guarantee act recently passed by congress contained the highest indorsement ever given any line of business, the president being directed to re-establish an open market after June 1, 1920. Had it not been for the action of the grain exchanges in remaining open when the world's war broke out, the outcome might have been materially different from what it was. There has always been a saying that when the west is prosperous the rest of the country is forced to follow. Grains are the basis of the west's prosperity, and an open market for grain and provisions is the foundation upon which it is built.

Why it is necessary for this country to raise an immense corn crop this year was shown by the government report on brood sows. The number of farms April 1 was 9,970,000, an increase of 53,000 over last year, or 3 per cent. It is estimated that last year's total production of hogs from April 1, 1918, to April 1, 1919, was around 130,000,000.

Imports of corn into the United Kingdom last week, as given by Broomhall's International review, were 784,000 bu. There is about 5,000,000 bu Argentine corn on ocean passage to that country. He believes that the discount of 5c of old under new corn in Argentina will result in pressing offers when tonnage is available. Substantial amounts have been bought by the United States and he predicts liberal shipments shortly, with some estimates that as much as 3,000,000 bu will be on passage. The first of the Argentine corn purchases are expected to arrive next week. Argentine corn was offered at $1.42, shipment by steamer, May 10 to gulf, Baltimore, and Philadelphia.

Estimates as to the amounts of cash corn sold by the country of late are increasing. A Peoria message to J. E. Bennett & Co. said there was at least 1,000,000 bu corn bought to arrive there within the next thirty days, with some estimates higher.

F. W. Donaldson was elected to membership in the Board of Trade yesterday. Benjamin H. Ettelson applied for membership and the estate of J. A. C. Lehman posted its membership for transfer.

Increased calls for cars to move corn are reported from numerous points in Illinois and Iowa, especially in this state. A temporary shortage exists which is expected to be remedied within a short time, as the railroads are making efforts for a proper distribution, as they have more idle cars than usual at this time of the year.

Restrictions on the daily fluctuations for all deliveries of pork, lard, and short ribs have been removed. They were placed by the Board of Trade directors Dec. 6, 1918, at the request of the food administration, and have been taken off upon the latter's giving its written consent to the action. They are to become effective at once.

FLOUR MARKET FIRM

A fair business is on in flour. In some quarters buying is not as sharp as a week ago, while in others it keeps up well. High prices for wheat makes it necessary for mills to keep stiff on prices. Offerings are not heavy. Special Minneapolis patents to the retail trade, $12.60@12.65, and car lots at $12.05. Bakers' spring patents, $11.55@11.80. Hard winters, $10.75@11.25. Soft winters are higher at $11.00@11.30.

Rye flour in moderate request at $8.65@9.25 in car lots and $9.65 to the retail trade. Some dark rye has sold of late at very low prices. Rice flour moving slowly and offered at $3.50 per 100 lbs. Corn flour, $3.50. Cornmeal, $3.92½@4.07½, the latter for yellow granulated. Pearl hominy, $4.15 per 100 lbs from warehouse.

CANADIAN PEAT ACREAGE LARGE.

WINTER WHEAT IN NEW RECORD; NEARLY PERFECT

A winter wheat crop of 837,000,000 bu and rye of 101,000,000 bu is forecast by the department of agriculture in its April report issued yesterday.

New records are set for both crops. Present indications are that a high condition will be maintained throughout the season. Estimate in April last year was 560,000,000 bu, and final returns 558,000,000 bu wheat and 89,103,000 bu rye, the latter being the largest on record up to this year.

The largest winter wheat crop ever harvested was 684,000,000 bu, in 1914, when the April condition was 95.6 and at the harvest 94.1, givin ga yield of 19 bu an acre, a record figure. The same yield, applied to this year's acreage, would ive 935,959,000 bu. Estimating the spring wheat crop at 400,000,000 bu, there would be a total wheat crop of 1,335,000,000 bu, against 917,000,000 bu last year and a record of 1,025,000,000 bu in 1915.

Improved in Winter.

In the present estimate on winter wheat allowance is made for average deterioration from April 1 until harvest. It is on 49,261,000 acres seeded last fall, the largest ever put in. The lowest loss in the last twenty years was 923,000 acres, or 2.8 per cent of the total seeded. The smallest percentage of loss was 2.1 per cent, or 1,149,000 acres, in 1915, while in 1914, the previous big crop, it was 2.3 per cent, or 1,119,000 acres. Allowing a similar loss this year, which seems high at present, as winter killing has been unusually light, with a yield of 19 bu an acre, there would be a crop of 914,698,000 bu of winter wheat.

Condition of winter wheat April 1 was 99.6, the highest since 1882, when it was 100. Only three times in the history of crop reporting has the April showing been as high as this year. Last year it was 78.6, and the ten year average is 82.3. Improvement from the December showing was 1.2 points, while the average loss for the last ten years from December to April was 5.9 points.

Many States at 100.

The big winter wheat states which raise the bulk of the crop have an unusual showing in condition. Twelve states have a condition of 100 or over. Ohio is the highest with 104, while last year it was 80. Kansas, Iowa, Texas, and Illinois have 101. Indiana, Oklahoma, Pennsylvania, and Colorado have 100. West Virginia has 103, or 12 points better than last year, while Kansas' condition last year was only 67. On the government basis, the crop of Kansas suggests 168,000,000 bu, which is low, while on the slate's it is 188,000,000 bu. Its record is 176,300,000 bu, in 1914, the largest of any state.

Condition of rye April 1 was 90.6, compared with 85.8 last year and a ten year average of 88.6. The crop of 101,000,000 bu exceeds last year's by almost 12,000,000 bu, and compares with a five year average of 44,547,000 bu.

The sale of an important fee in Milwaukee avenue figures in yesterday's real estate news. It covered the property at the northwest corner of Ashland avenue, 82 feet front by 100 to 149 feet deep, and was acquired by Louis Sigman and Louis Greenblatt, the owners of the leasehold interest, from Peter S. Theurer of the Schoenhofen Brewing company, for a stated consideration of $200,000.

As the ground rental under the lease is $10,000 a year, the sale is on a 5 per cent basis. The improvements comprise a five story store, office, and hall building. The land originally was leased in 1910 to Alexander W. Hannah, and the leasehold interest was conveyed by him a few months later to Isador Ferguson. Benjamin Rosenberg & Co. represented all the parties.

George S. Lurie, now a member of the firm, sold the building and leasehold interest for Ferguson to Sigman & Greenblatt in 1915. Butz, Von Ammon & Johnston represented the seller in a legal way, and Isaac S. Rothschild the purchasers.

Woodlawn Flats Sold.

The twenty-four apartment building with a gross annual rental of about $11,000 on 73x175 feet of ground at the southwest corner of Stony Island avenue and Seventy-second street has been sold by Charles M. and Emma S. Pusey of Fresno, Cal., to Thomas J. Walsh, for a reported consideration of $70,000, subject to an incumbrance of $20,000. It was a cash transaction, no trade being involved. F. E. Niles of H. O. Stone & Co. was the broker.

In a noteworthy South Wabash avenue building lease Oliver & Co. have leased for H. T. Davenport and John C. Shank, to Allenbach & Gloss, owners of the Café Lafayette, the two story building at 619-21, 40x160 feet, for ten years, at a term rental of $130,000. It is on the east side of the street, between Harrison and Seventh streets. The lease contains an option to purchase the building and existing ninety-nine year leasehold, which calls for an annual rental of $6,000. The café is at present located in Michigan avenue, just north of Twelfth street, in the Studio building, owned by the Chapin estate.

Sheridan Road Transfer.

Record was made of the transfer by Mrs. Mabel L. Thrasher to Beach T. Van Housen of the residence property in Sheridan road 250 feet north of Bryn Mawr avenue, lot 140x150 feet, east front, improved with a twenty-two room brick dwelling, for an indicated cash consideration of $50,000, according to the revenue stamps on the deed. The purchaser gave a trust deed to the Chicago Title and Trust company securing a purchase money mortgage of $25,000, five years, at 6 per cent.

The Auto Car company of Ardmore, Pa., has leased to the Republic Truck company the three story building at 753-55 West Jackson boulevard for a term at an annual rental of $8,400. The building contains 20,000 square feet of space, to be used as a salesroom and service station for trucks. Sprague Moore was the broker.

The same broker has leased to Henry and Albert May the one story building, 100x150 feet at 343-45 East aGrfield boulevard, for ten years at a term rental of $60,000, to be used as a garage and salesroom.

A. W. Norman has conveyed to William Zeutell the southwest corner of Linden avenue and Division street, 554x124 feet, and the northeast corner of Thomas and Division streets, 654x124 feet, for a stated consideration of $35,000. It is the purpose of the purchaser to improve with about twenty-five bungalows, costing from $7,500 to $9,000 each.

County Realty Board Dinner.

William H. Malone, chairman of the railroad committee of the state board of equalization, in an address at the weekly luncheon of the Cook county real estate board at the Morrison hotel yesterday, as to whether the board should be abolished, said that while not disposed to say whether it should be abolished, he earnestly opposed its being succeeded by the proposed commission of three. He declared the big public corporations wanted the board done away with, largely because their assessments had been increased $200,000,000 by the board.

INSURANCE NEWS IN ALL BRANCHES EAST AND WEST

Metropolitan and Hibernian Companies Are Merged.

BY THOMAS R. WEDDELL.

The Metropolitan and the Hibernia Fire Insurance companies of Chicago, both of which were under the management of John Naghten & Co., have been merged as the Metropolitan-Hibernia Fire Insurance company. The new company will have $200,000 capital and assets of $427,000. The directors decided to increase the capital by $50,000, selling the new stock at a premium so as to further increase the surplus.

At the meeting of stockholders a new board of seventeen directors was elected, which selected the following officers: President, Thomas F. Keeley; vice presidents, James Naghten and Richard W. Wolfe; secretary, George Essig; treasurer and asssistant secretary, Robert G. Devlin.

The merger will make possible numerous economies, the larger capital and surplus will make the company more desirable to agents and will enable the writing of larger lines, while the capital is now large enough to admit the company to New York, which will make better reinsurance facilities possible.

SURCHARGE HEARING.

Insurance Commissioner Ellsworth of Michigan will give a hearing at Lansing April 19 on the removal of the 10 per cent surcharge on fire insurance rates. In his call for the meeting he states that the loss ratio for 1918 was 55.23 per cent, but ignores the fact that in 1917 the loss ratio was 71.48 per cent, making a total loss ratio for the last two years of 62.73 per cent, which, with the expenses involves a large loss. The companies claim that the increased expenses and cost of replacement, which justifies the surcharge, have not yet been reduced.

MARCH FIRE LOSSES.

The fire losses in the United States and Canada for March were $22,201,900, as compared with $20,273,980 for March of last year, and $17,523,000 for March of 1917. The losses for the first quarter of the year were $78,477,235, which are practically the same as those for the previous year.

ATTEND HEGEMAN FUNERAL.

Several of the superintendents of the Metropolitan Life in Chicago have gone to New York to attend the funeral of John R. Hegeman, the president of the company. Mr. Hegeman became secretary of the company in 1870, and has been president since 1891. He has developed the Metropolitan into the largest life insurance company in the world.

Sinclair Oil and Refining.

H. B.: As the Sinclair Oil and Refining company is supposed to be earning at the rate of $8,000,000 or $10,000,000 a year, its $20,000,000 of three year notes are in a fair way of being taken care of easily at their maturity next year. The notes without warrants attached yield a high income return. Those with warrants cost more and the extra cost is pure speculation. It may yield a profit or it may not. These notes are a "business man's investment" and not one for savings. If the company should resume dividends soon their position would be weakened seriously.

Joliet and Chicago.

P. C. A.—The Joliet and Chicago railroad extends from Joliet to Chicago, thirty-seven miles, and has about fifty miles of sidings. It has issued $1,500,000 of stock and no bonds. It was leased to the Alton in perpetuity Jan. 1, 1864, for 7 per cent on its stock, plus $1,800 for corporate expenses, the total rental being less than $3,000 a mile for a trunk line, part of which is in the city limits of Chicago. The Alton's credit is not high, but there would seem to be no question about the value of this line. The only two recorded sales in the last ten years were in June, 1910, at 172, and Dec. 23, 1916, at 77. The latter sale was of 100 shares.

Brief Answers.

H. F. C.—The Indiana Railways and Light company has outstanding $650,000 of underlying bonds and $1,254,000 refunding. Its net earnings declined somewhat during the war, but last year were $298,744, which is enough to cover bond interest three times. In view of this margin the bonds are well secured.

C. A. D.: The Industrial Loan company has been reviewed. Pan American Motor has never replied to requests for information about its finances.

W. H.: Most of the oil companies formed in Alberta five or six years ago are dead. We have no data about the Nakamine.

COTTON TRADE NEWS

NEW YORK, April 8.—New style contracts made new high marks today after an early reaction. The close was steady with old style months 1 point lower to 100 points higher.

PUBLIC BUYING NEW FACTOR IN STOCK MARKET

Industrials Continue to Gain Headway on Trading.

The New York Times.

New York, April 8.—[Special.]—The forward movement of industrial stocks gained greater headway today, and the fact that dealings reached a total well in excess of 1,000,000 shares persuaded the speculative community that buying by the public had become a factor of considerable importance.

The general character of trading, however, was not changed and the greatest demonstration of strength was among those particular issues which have been bid upward rapidly for some time past. It looked as though a number of strong pools were active, more active than last week, although confidence in the whole price list, with the exception of the copper stocks, was evident throughout the day. Advances running from 1 to more than 3 points were well distributed at the close with a few stocks gaining considerably more than the maximum mentioned. Steel common was a laggard, perhaps because of talk of a further reduction of the extra dividend, but most of the other steel issues gained ground under a fair amount of purchases.

Winter Wheat Report.

Whatever the superficial factors may be which have lent courage to the constructive side of the securities market, one great influence of real and lasting import appeared today which was impressive. This was the forecast by the department of agriculture of the prospective winter wheat yield. A record breaking out turn of 837,000,000 bu, with a guaranteed selling value of close to $1,900,000,000, was predicted, and when one considers the probable condition of the world's supplies and world markets during the year this vast total supplies material to stir the imagination of those who calculate the increase of the country's wealth entailed in this drop.

Extraordinary as this estimate is the indications are that with favorable weather and soil conditions the yield will be even greater, inasmuch as the winter "kill and abandonment of acreage is likely to prove less than the average of a period of years. The condition percentage of 99.8 is the highest for April in more than a generation. An actual yield of the total predicted would exceed last year's winter crop by 278,000,000 bu, and would surpass the best previous crop by more than 150,000,000 bu.

As time goes on and additional news comes of conditions in the other great wheat producing regions of the earth, the impression grows that the taxpayers of the United States will have less of a burden to shoulder through the guaranteed price of $2.26 per bu than was considered probable a few monhs ago, with wheat going to outside consuming markets at high prices.

To Care for Railroads.

The meeting of railroad men and bankers yesterday may or may not have been of particular significance, but it showed at any rate that active measures are being carried out to meet pressing demands of the carriers until congress meets again. Large maturities have to be provided for on May 1, and it is reasonable to assume that plans are being shaped to take care of requirements as far ahead as July 1. The market for railroad stocks, while neither strong nor active, is showing confidence that whatever contingencies arise will be amply cared for.

COMPETITION AT CLOSE SENDS UP PRICE OF HOGS

Range Narrowest of Year, Few Selling Below $20.00.

Active competition between local and outside buyers was accountable for a good finish in the hog trade. Opening transactions were 10c below Monday's average, but part of the decline was regained. Receipts at 26,000 were about as expected, with quality poorer than previous day. Packers paid as high as $20.40, the top of the market. Armour's droves cost $20.16.

Range of hog prices was narrowest of the year with few sales below the $20.00 mark. General average price at $20.23 was 6c below Monday, 33c higher than a week ago, and $2.85 higher than corresponding Tuesday a year ago. Pigs sold actively with offerings unequal to trade requirements. Some averaging 130 pounds sold up to $19.25.

There was a decrease in combined receipts of hogs at all markets, notwithstanding the fact that Chicago's total showed little change compared with a week and a year ago. Eleven points for the day were credited with 93,000, against 101,000 a week ago and 112,000 corresponding Tuesday a year ago.

Cattle trade lacked action on all but the good to choice steers, the plain to medium classes selling weak at Monday's decline. Butcher stock was the reverse, where good grades weakened and lower priced oeffrings held steady. General quality of steers was not very good. Best offered averaged 1,411 lbs, and sold to Wilson & Co. at $20.00.

Calves Sharply Higher.

Buyers led a merry scramble for calves, advancing the market anywhere from 50c to $1.00, being the sharpest advance of the season. The top was boosted to $17.00, highest in two weeks. Demand was keen, due to the buying for eastern shipment to take care of the Easter trade.

Trade was slow again for most sheep house offerings. Aged and yearling lots were scarce and prices showed little change, but lamb prices declined 25@40c. Trade was very slow and it was near the closing hour before bulk changed hands.

Top lambs sold at $19.65, being 35c lower than previous day, 85c lower than the close or high time last week, $1.35 lower than high time of the year, and the lowest since March 11, when best lambs sold at $19.40.

Receipts for today are estimated at 8,000 cattle, 22,000 hogs, and 10,000 sheep, against 8,046 cattle, 26,330 hogs and 9,035 sheep corresponding Wednesday a year ago.

FINANCIAL NOTES

Stockholders of the Chicago and Northwestern Railway company, at their annual meeting yesterday, passed a resolution indorsing the action of the board of directors in accepting the agreement between the director general and the company. William H. Finley was elected a director for two years and Chauncey M. Depew, Henry C. Frick, David P. Kimball, Childs Frick, James A. Stillman, and Samuel A. Lynde directors for three years. It is expected that the annual report will be made public in about a month.

Cuban Cane Sugar was in demand yesterday and sold up 2 points. The basis for this was a report that Gen. Goethals had found the property in good condition and was favorably impressed with its possibilities. It will be a month before an official announcement of Gen. Goethals' opinion can be looked for.

Strength in Ajax Rubber brought out the statement yesterday that while the rise is justified, there is no concerted move to advance its price at this time. Practically all recent buying has come from Chicago.

Although there has been much agitation looking toward relaxing anti-trust laws, reports have been received in financial circles that there is little sentiment among congressmen in favor of the necessary legislation.

Officials of the American International company have thrown no light on developments responsible for the strength of the stock. Reports are being circulated that buying is under way for two groups in the corporation, one of which is said to be made up of affiliated Boston interests.

It is claimed in oil trade circles that the decision in the Dudley Oil company case in Wyoming is highly important, as it recognizes validations on public lands. If this interpretation of the decision is correct, it means that the United States government suits against operators in Wyoming will be withdrawn.

Pennsylvania Puts Credit at Government Disposal

To enable the railroad administration to pay 9,000 overdue bills owing to companies and individuals for materials and supplies furnished on orders of federal managers for use of the Pennsylvania railroad system, the railroad company, as a corporation, has put its credit to the command of the government director in the amount of $22,000,000.

The vouchers aggregate about $13,000,000 for the Pennsylvania system east of Pittsburgh and $9,000,000 west. The company borrows to loan to the United States, in effect.

12 Selected Bond Issues

If you now have funds to invest, or expect to have in the near future, we suggest that you send for our list of twelve carefully selected bond issues. The interest on some of the bonds is paid by the issuing companies without deduction for normal Federal Income Tax up to 2%, while the interest on others is wholly exempt from Federal Income Tax. Insurance companies and other institutions have included certain of the bonds among their investments. Please ask for List No. 687.

EVERYTHING RENTED

First, see that the surroundings of the property and transportation to it are satisfactory.

Second, insist that the seller furnish you an Abstract of Title or Title Guarantee Policy made by the Chicago Title and Trust Company.

Third, have the property conveyed to yourself and wife by a joint tenancy deed, then if either of you die the survivor will own the property without the trouble and expense of going through the Probate Court.

Go to any good lawyer and he will see to it that you receive the above.

AMERICAN STEEL FOUNDRIES

Notice of Special Meeting of April 22nd, 1919, as Authorized by the Board of Directors' Meeting of March 19, 1919.

Notice is hereby given that a special meeting of the Stockholders of the American Steel Foundries has been duly called and will be held at the principal office of the Company, 15 Exchange Place, Jersey City, New Jersey, on Tuesday, the 22nd day of April, 1919, at twelve o'clock noon, for the purpose of acting upon the following propositions:

(a) Change its present capital (common) stock and the par value thereof from Seventeen Million One Hundred and Eighty-four Thousand Dollars ($17,184,000), divided into one hundred seventy-one thousand eight hundred and forty (171,840) shares, of the par value of one hundred dollars ($100.00) each, to Seventeen Million One Hundred Eighty-four Thousand Dollars ($17,184,000), divided into five hundred fifteen thousand five hundred and twenty (515,520) shares, of the par value of thirty-three and one-third dollars ($33.33⅓) each.

(b) Increase its capital stock from Seventeen Million One Hundred and Eighty-four Thousand Dollars ($17,184,000), divided into one hundred and seventy-one thousand eight hundred and forty (171,840) shares of common stock, of the par value of one hundred dollars ($100.00) each, to Forty-two Million One Hundred and Eighty-four Thousand Dollars ($42,184,000), consisting of Twenty-five Million Dollars ($25,000,000) of preferred stock, divided into two hundred and fifty thousand (250,000) shares, of the par value of one hundred dollars ($100.00) each, and Seventeen Million One Hundred and Eighty-Four Thousand Dollars ($17,184,000) of common stock, divided into five hundred fifteen thousand five hundred and twenty (515,520) shares, of the par value of thirty-three and one-third dollars ($33.33⅓) each, and to that end create an issue of preferred stock of the character, amount and denomination herein set forth.

(c) To amend Article IV of the Amended Certificate of Incorporation so as to read as follows:

"IV. The total authorized capital stock of the corporation is forty-two million one hundred and eighty-four thousand dollars ($42,184,000), divided into two hundred and fifty thousand (250,000) shares of preferred stock, of the par value of one hundred dollars ($100.00) each, and five hundred fifteen thousand five hundred and twenty (515,520) shares of common stock, of the par value of thirty-three and one-third dollars ($33.33⅓) each.

"From time to time the preferred stock and the common stock may be increased or reduced according to law, and may be issued in such amounts and proportions as shall be determined by the Board of Directors and as may be permitted by law.

"The holders of the preferred stock shall be entitled to receive, when and as declared, from the surplus or net profits of the corporation, yearly dividends at the rate of seven per centum per annum, and no more, payable quarterly, on dates to be fixed by the by-laws. The dividends on the preferred stock shall be cumulative and shall be payable before any dividends on the common stock shall be paid or set apart, so that, if any year dividends amounting to seven per cent shall not have been paid thereon, the deficiency shall be payable before any dividends shall be paid upon or set apart for the common stock.

"Whenever all cumulative dividends on the preferred stock for all previous years shall have been declared and shall have become payable, and the accrued quarterly installments for the current year shall have been declared, and the Company shall have paid such cumulative dividends for previous years and such accrued quarterly installments, or shall set aside from its surplus or net profits a sum sufficient for the payment thereof, the Board of Directors may declare dividends on the common stock, payable then or thereafter out of any remaining surplus or net profits.

"In the event of any liquidation or dissolution or winding up (whether voluntary or involuntary) of the corporation, the holders of the preferred stock shall be entitled to be paid in full, both the par amount of their shares and the unpaid dividends accrued thereon, before any amount shall be paid to the holders of the common stock; and after the payment to the holders of the preferred stock of its par value, and the unpaid accrued dividends thereon, the remaining assets and funds shall be divided between and paid to the holders of the common stock, according to their respective shares.

"The holders of the preferred stock shall not be entitled to vote the same at any meeting of the stockholders of the corporation, nor shall they be entitled to notice of such meetings; Provided, that the authorized preferred capital stock of the corporation shall not be increased beyond its present authorized amount of Twenty-five Million Dollars ($25,000,000) and that no amendments shall be made to the Amended Certificate of Incorporation of the Company in any way diminishing the rights of the holders of such preferred stock, except with the assent of the holders of two-thirds in amount of the preferred stock of the corporation at the time outstanding, expressed in writing, or at a meeting of such preferred stockholders specially called for that purpose."

Interest on the Company's First Mortgage Bonds is being earned over 5½ times.

These bonds are in a stronger position today than they ever were before. Yet, today, by an unusual combination of conditions the first mortgage bonds of this company are selling at a price lower than is commensurate with their value. They are an unusual purchase—being safe, readily marketable, a sinking fund retires a good amount each year, they mature in eight years, and yield nearly 7%.

Full particulars will be gladly given—the facts presented—the investment qualities of the bonds accurately outlined—on request. We suggest that you call at our office or telephone.

FLURRY IN CALL MONEY MARKET QUICK TO PASS

Banks Feel Confident the Victory Loan Will Be Absorbed.

The flurry in call money which one day last week carried the rate to 7 per cent, appears to have passed, and the price ruled yesterday at 5½ on mixed collateral.

Close observation of the trend of sentiment in money does not suggest that the forthcoming Victory Liberty loan will be unwelcome to the banks. They are buying the latest offerings of $500,000,000 treasury certificates, and do not feel, regardless of apprehensive talk, that the loan will not be readily absorbed. While it is possible that announcement of the terms of the loan may alter this somewhat, the present situation suggests fairly easy conditions, and should in itself operate to create confidence throughout the country.

Commercial Paper Sought.

In the commercial paper market there is a full demand for all that is offered. Some of the larger houses are almost bare of bills. This results as much from limited offerings as from the readiness with which this paper is absorbed.

One reason for the smaller amount of borrowing may be found in the condition of large concerns following the signing of the armistice. Settlements with the government have left the companies employed on government work with large inventories financed prior to the armistice. There is, in consequence, no occasion to enter the money market at this time in order to build up inventories.

Want Ban on Imports.

As the time when peace shall be signed and international trade be resumed draws nearer there is evidence that France and Great Britain are desirous of restricting imports as much as possible, in order to counterbalance their smaller volume of exports. France, it appears, is particularly uneasy over any possible outward movement of money. According to the Paris correspondent of the London Financier, the following is the situation there:

"For a long time the government has been making every possible effort to prevent French money leaving the country, in order to counteract as far as possible the disadvantage under which France labors, owing to her being obliged to import heavily, while at the same time unable to export anything with which to pay for imports. Thus, travelers are forbidden to carry more than 1,000 francs in cash out of the country, and bankers may not cash foreign checks to more than that amount, the necessary payments being made between bankers in France, Great Britain, or America with the aid of credits placed at the disposal of the French government."

Big Tax on Capital.

Meanwhile the finance minister of France, M. Klotz, has announced that he intends to impose a tax of 20 to 25 per cent on capital. This has the unfavorable effect of not only discouraging the importation of new capital into France but is also an inducement for the French to make investments outside France. In the circumstances the situation is one that can hardly be appreciated in this country.

What Germany will do after the signing of peace is being discussed. What American merchants will undertake to do with German goods is undetermined. A great many New York shops are displaying cards to the effect that no German goods are handled by them.

With this evidence of uncertainty existing, exporters are in doubt about how successful they might be in offering German products.

On the other hand, according to a member of the copper committee which has just returned from abroad, Germany and Austria are in such urgent need of copper metal that they will enter the market immediately following the signing of the peace treaty.

CHICAGO STOCK TRANSACTIONS

Union Carbide and Carbon was again the leader in activity on the local exchange. The sales in the issue were almost as high as the transactions in all other stocks. The price worked up to 71½, but closed fractionally lower.

Lindsay Light, which has attracted considerable trade attention, was credited with having been rather openly manipulated. The price fell to 16¾ yesterday, but closed up 1¼ from the low price. The street is of the opinion that there are no developments of a character to warrant the recent upturn. The packing house shares were only moderately active and averaged steady. The ... buying has temporarily disappeared. Booth Fisheries dropped below 20 and showed small recovery. American Shipbuilding common advanced 4½ points on a small volume of trading. There was no news. Commonwealth Edison and Stewart-Warner were steady, while Sears-Roebuck common gained 2½ points.

CALL FOR BIDS ON PHILIPPINE ISLAND BONDS

New York, April 8.—[Special.]—Announcement was made today that the bureau of insular affairs of the war department had called for bids on $10,000,000 one year 4 per cent notes of the Philippine government. The bids, it was announced, will be opened April 10.

These bonds will be issued in denominations of $10,000 and the coupons will fall due July and October of 1919 and January and March of 1920.

In the market for notes there was a good tone today, although trading was quiet. Wilson & Co. 6s were the most active, around 95⅞@96.

Liberty bonds were steady. Foreign issues were unchanged. In the general market the price tendency was irregular. In investment circles the opinion was expressed today that the market would mark time until something was known about the next government loan. As the Victory loan drive begins April 21, one week from next Monday, details of the loans are expected now any day.

PICTORIAL REVIEW

Now America's First Woman's Magazine

A Message to the American Association of Advertising Agents

THERE are different opinions as to what constitutes Leadership in the Magazine field.

Some believe that Circulation is the principal test.

If that is your viewpoint—PICTORIAL REVIEW now has the largest circulation of any 20-cent magazine and the largest United States circulation of any monthly magazine.

Others contend that the price of the publication has a material bearing on prestige and leadership.

If they are right—PICTORIAL REVIEW sells for 20 cents a copy, whereas its nearest competitor, The Ladies' Home Journal, sells for 15 cents a copy.

Still others maintain that Editorial Policy, as expressed in a magazine's contents, is the strongest test of leadership.

PICTORIAL REVIEW years ago inaugurated a policy of directing its Editorial appeal to the progressive, alert, wide-awake woman in the home. The response was immediate and positive. PICTORIAL REVIEW'S circulation showed a steady and consistent increase, and this new following is composed of the women who lead the Local, State and National movements.

For ourselves, we feel that all of these are of the utmost importance in proving Leadership. But we also feel that there is one other important factor—GROWTH.

No publication has grown so steadily and consistently in circulation as has PICTORIAL REVIEW. Present circulation—1,800,000 copies monthly.

No magazine has ever made such consistent and large gains in advertising as has PICTORIAL REVIEW.

No magazine of its class has as many subscribers as has PICTORIAL REVIEW.

We believe that these facts definitely establish PICTORIAL REVIEW as America's Leading Woman's Magazine.

In attaining First position in the woman's field for PICTORIAL REVIEW, I wish to make public acknowledgment of the splendid co-operation and intense heart interest of my associates:

Messrs. Chas. W. Nelson,
Everett D. Trumbull,
Paul Block,
B. A. Mackinnon,
Arthur T. Vance.

WM. P. AHNELT,
PRESIDENT AND PUBLISHER.
